U. S. Expels Three Soviets In Spy Plot

4th Russian, U.S. Engineer Jailed In N.J.

American Accused Of Giving Moscow Secret Information

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States demanded on Wednesday that three men in the Soviet United Nations delegation leave the country by Friday afternoon on grounds they had taken part in a spy plot.

In a note sent to the Soviet delegation, the U.S. delegation called for their "immediate departure." A U.S. delegation spokesman said "immediate," in diplomatic language, usually meant 48 hours.

The men were Gleb A. Pavlov; Yuri A. Romashin, third secretary, and Vladimir I. Olenev, described merely as a member of the Soviet delegation, which is located in New York City.

U.S. Engineer Arrrested

The Federal Bureau of Investigation had linked all three with another Russian and an American electronics engineer arrested in Englewood, N.J., on Tuesday night on spy charges.

Those arrested were Igor A. Iranov of New York City, chauffeur for the Soviet trading agency Amtorg, and John William Butenko of Orange, N.J., control administrator for the International Electric Corp. of Paramus, N. J.

A spokesman for the corporation said its main work was to manage production of a worldwide electronic control system for the Strategic Air Command.

The three Soviet delegation members were named with Ivanov and Butenko in an FBI complaint, but Olenev was never in custody.

Diplomatic Immunity

Pavlov and Romashin were picked up with Ivanov and Butenko. They later were freed, however, because they have diplomatic immunity from arrest.

The U.S. delegation's note said Pavlov, Romashin and Olenev had taken part in an espionage conspiracy against the United States.

This, the note went on, was outside their official responsibilities as members of the Soviet permanent mission to the United Nations, and was a flagrant abuse of the privilege of residence in the United States.

Butenko, 38, and Ivanov, 33, went before U.S. Commissioner Theodore Kiscaras in Rutherford, N.J., early Wednesday.

They pleaded innocent to a formal charge of "delivering to a foreign government information relating to the national defense of the United States."

Kiscaras ordered both held in $100,000 bail but later revoked

Viet Nam Reds Capture Three U.S. Advisers

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Three U.S. military advisers are believed to have been captured by Communist guerrillas who whipped a South Vietnamese company Tuesday 140 miles southwest of Saigon.

Two American officers and an enlisted man disappeared in the skirmish, fought in a marshy area of rice paddies, canals and palm jungle on the peninsula south of the Mekong River delta.

Vietnamese survivors said both officers were wounded early in the fight, one in the head and the other in a leg.

Approaching a grove of trees near a canal, the company ran into a wall of fire. Screened by parapets, the guerrillas fired mortars, machine guns and small arms. They were estimated to number 500.

U.S. military authorities said Communist jammers knocked out both the main and alternate channels on all local military radios. That blocked signals that could have brought the company support from the government artillery and from the rest of the task force, which was operating farther south.

A relief company of rangers was flown in by helicopter. Ground patrols and reconnaissance planes sought to locate the Red hideout.

U.S. Tax "Take" World's Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States collected almost $106 billion in taxes in fiscal 1963—a world's record.

"This is the greatest amount ever collected by any country in history," said a spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service. "No country before ever had so many people with so much money."

Kennedys Rent Summer Home At $2,000 Month

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—President and Mrs. Kennedy have rented a Newport estate, Annandale Farm, for use next July and August as the summer White House, it was announced Wednesday.

Sen. Clairborne Pell, D-R.I., said the Kennedy's own home at Hyannis Port would be occupied during the summer by the President's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Sargent Shriver.

The first family was reported to have rented the farm for $2,000-a-month.

Castro Claims Seizure Of CIA "Infiltrators"

MIAMI (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro asserted Wednesday night that Cuban troops captured "several" members of a landing party sent by U.S. intelligence to infiltrate Cuba's south coast the night of Oct. 21.

Castro said during a nationwide radio and television address in Havana, monitored here, that the landing was attempted in two small boats from a "mother ship" at about the same time and in the same area where the American-owned freighter J. Louis reported it was attacked by Cuban planes.

Castro denounced what he called "the hypocritical policy of the United States." He charged the United States was trying to picture Cuba as an "aggressor" nation in the attack on the J. Louis when, he said, Cuban planes were actually trying to stop a landing party organized by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

He said the expeditionary force went toward the Pinar del Rio coast in two small boats from a 200-foot long "mother" ship bearing the name Rex.

The vessel, painted blue is docked in West Palm Beach, Fla., and has been used on some 10 previous CIA attacks or infiltration expeditions against Cuba, Castro said.

Apollo Orbital Flights Moved Back 9 Months

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States ordered a nine-month delay in the first orbital flights of its Apollo astronauts Wednesday in hopes of saving $50 million and easing the path to the moon.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration eliminated from the program four test orbital flights of two-man teams in stripped-down Apollo spacecraft. They had been scheduled to begin late in 1965.

Instead, full three-man Apollo teams will orbit the earth, in complete Apollo craft, for the first time in the latter part of 1966.

Dr. George E. Mueller, director of the man-in-space program for NASA, said the change would concentrate manpower and effort on the more advanced ventures, increasing the "confidence and insurance factor" for the later flights.

NASA said in a news release the step also would help it stay within the $5.35 billion authorized for the current fiscal year.

7 Escapees Still Sought

MAYS LANDING, N.J. (UPI) —Seven of the 14 prisoners who escaped from the 70-year-old Atlantic County Jail were back behind bars Wednesday, one of them surrendering because "I had no place to go and nothing to eat."

Five of them were captured on tips and clues and the others gave themselves up.

Haggard and hungry, Sanford Jarvis, 26, of Hunterdon, N.J. telephoned Atlantic City police and told Capt. James Dooney:

"I want to get back into jail. Come and get me."

Within an hour, another escapee, James Roary, 18, of Atlantic City, walked into the same police station with his parents. He also tipped off authorities that Frank Darrah, 20, of Philadelphia was holed up in an Atlantic City rooming house. Darrah was promptly seized and returned to jail.

New Frontier Gains Hailed By Kennedy

America Stronger Than Ever Before, President Asserts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—President Kennedy said Wednesday night his administration has taken steps that make America "stronger than ever before" and the prospects for peace "brighter than ever before."

Kennedy said the New Frontier has been able to increase by 100 per cent the number of nuclear weapons available to "our strategic alert forces, to increase by 45 per cent the number of combat-ready Army divisions, to increase by 175 per cent the number of combat-ready Army divisions, to increase by 175 per cent the procurement of troop-carrying aircraft, and to multiply by five the strength of special guerrilla and counterinsurgency forces."

America "On March"

In a speech prepared for a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Convention Hall, Kennedy said: "Today America is on the march, respected by friends and foes alike. America is stronger than ever before and the possibilities of peace are brighter than ever before."

Point by point, Kennedy recalled a 1960 campaign speech in Philadelphia in which he outlined his "principal aspirations" to strengthen national security and get the country "moving again."

On every point, he claimed at least partial success. Where success was spotty, he called for enactment of controversial legislation still pending in Congress — such measures as an $11 billion tax cut, medical insurance for the aged and broader federal aid to education.

Spotty Crowd Greets JFK

Kennedy, during the evening rush hour, was greeted by a spotty crowd despite the fact that his visit came only six days before Philadelphia elects a mayor.

The Democratic mayor, James H. J. Tate, is seeking a four-year term and is figured to face a tougher time of it than candidates from his party normally have encountered in recent years.

On the way into downtown Philadelphia, the only political banners Kennedy saw waved by spectators urged the election of Tate's Republican opponent, James T. McDermott.

Tremor Shakes Northeast Area

BOSTON (AP) — The second earth tremor in two weeks shook New England coastal areas Wednesday.

There were no reports of damage or injuries.

The Boston College seismograph station at suburban Weston described the tremor as "a slight earthquake lasting from 5 to 10 seconds at 5:38 p.m. (EST)."

Seismologists placed the center of the quake as 35 miles east of Weston—placing it in Boston harbor.

Residents as far as about 15 miles inland in northeastern Massachusetts and southeastern New Hampshire reported feeling the tremor.

Miners Disappointed As Rescue Delayed

PEINE, Germany (UPI) — Three miners, trapped 262-feet underground since last Thursday learned Wednesday they must spend at least another night in their subterranean prison.

"It's so we can get you out safe and well," rescue workers told the trapped men.

The miners spoke to rescuers on the surface from an air pocket at the end of the iron mine gallery where they were trapped by an underground flood. They spoke through a telephone line in a six-inch supply hole drilled Sunday.

Maine Reels Under 18 Inches Of Snow

Five Persons Lost In Near-Blizzard

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—A second major storm in two days left Maine reeling Wednesday under as much as a foot and a half of snow.

Five persons were lost in northern wilderness areas in near-blizzard conditions. Two others walked out of the woods safely after being missing overnight.

The coastal storm swept in on the heels of Hurricane Ginny, which had battered the state with rain, snow, and gale force winds Tuesday.

The sudden switch from the Indian summer of last weekend caught hunters and mountain climbers unprepared.

A Massachusetts woman and a forest ranger who went searching for her were both reported lost on mile-high Mt. Katahdin.

Two young airmen stationed at Loring Air Force Base in Limestone were missing after leaving on a hunting trip. Two other hunters from the base spent Tuesday night in the woods but found their way out. A Bangor hunter who became lost Monday before the storms struck also was being sought.

Lost on gale-swept Mt. Katahdin—in an area of steep bluffs now coated with snow—were Margaret Ivusic, about 50, of Boston; and ranger Ralph Heath, 37, of Sherman.

Mrs. Ivusic and Ellen Moore of Concord, Mass., had begun climbing the peak in balmy weather over the weekend.

Heath began a search for Mrs. Ivusic after Mrs. Moore came to his station on the mountain late Monday and said her friend was exhausted.

Thant Reports Yemen Failure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant reported failure of U.N. efforts to end outside intervention in Yemen's civil war and ordered withdrawal of the 200-man U.N. military observer mission by next Monday.

Thant informed the U.N. Security Council on Wednesday that he intends to maintain a U.N. civilian presence in Yemen with the hope that it might help achieve an early settlement.

He said the Yemen problem is primarily political and will require a political solution.

The council authorized dispatch of U.N. military observers to the restive Arab country in an effort to end intervention by both the United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia. The observers arrived last July 4.

Approximately 22,000 U.A.R. troops are reported in Yemen supporting the regime which ousted the royalists in a revolt in September 1962. The Saudi Arabians have been contributing to royalist forces seeking to regain power.

Gleason Suffers Wrist Fracture In Show "Stunt"

NEW YORK (UPI) — Comedian Jackie Gleason rode a bicycle into a simulated brick wall Tuesday night and fractured his wrist.

He said his only worry was that the injury might force him to cancel a golf date Dec. 19 with Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees.

The accident occurred while Gleason was taping his weekly television show. The script called for him to ride a bicycle down a ramp into a "brick" wall that was constructed of plastic blocks.

Morocco, Algeria Will Submit Border Differences To OAU

BAMAKO, Mali (AP) — King Hassan II of Morocco and President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria signed a cease-fire agreement Wednesday.

The chiefs of state pledged themselves to halt the shooting in their Sahara war at midnight Friday and submit to the Organization of African Unity their dispute about where the frontier should run.

Hassan and Ben Bella signed the agreement before more than 100 newsmen in the Bamako presidential palace.

Other signers were Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, who intervened personally in an effort to settle the month-old conflict, and the host of the little summit conference, President Modibo Keita of Mali.

By coincidence, about the time the truce agreement was reached the Moroccan government in Marrakech announced a flareup of fighting.

Defense Minister Mahjoubi Ahardane told newsmen in Morocco's summer capital that Moroccan troops captured 35 Algerians in an all-night battle around the outposts of Merkala and Oum el Achar, near ore-rich Tindouf.

Ahardane said further fighting broke out around Figuig, far to the northeast, near the end of the defined part of the border between the two nations. He gave no details.

The Bamako agreement calls for an immediate end to the campaigns of abuse in the press and radio of Algeria and Morocco against each other's leaders.

Moroccan troops are to withdraw from all the desert area they occupy which is claimed by Algeria and the area is to be a demilitarized zone under supervision of Ethiopian and Mali officers pending a final settlement.

Hassan and Ben Bella agreed to submit their dispute to a special meeting of the Organization of African Unity. This will try to establish responsibility for the outbreak of hostilities and will also seek an agreement on the border line.

Both leaders agreed to respect each other's territory. Each promised to refrain from any interference in the other's internal affairs and undertook to settle any future dispute by peaceful means.

Algeria Reports Violent Fighting

ALGIERS (UPI) — Violent fighting erupted between Algerian and Morocco in disputed territories of the Sahara Desert Wednesday after a cease-fire agreement was reached, the Algerian Defense Ministry reported Wednesday night.

The ministry said "The fighting is continuing at several points" along the desert border between the two North African nations.

A spokesman for the ministry said reports of the fighting came direct from Defense Minister Houari Boumedienne at Algerian command headquarters in Colomb Bechar.

"Under repeated attacks by our fighters, the enemy is beating a retreat, abandoning numerous dead on the ground, and wounded and important material," Boumedienne reported.

Critics Delay Aid Bill Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the face of lengthy Senate debate on the foreign aid bill, with critics showing no sign of a letup, majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., all but gave up hope Wednesday of calling up some 40 proposed amendments before next week.

Mansfield announced that he had failed to get unanimous consent for setting a timetable for voting on amendments to President Kennedy's $4.2-billion request. He advised delegations of senators planning to attend international conferences in Paris and Malaysia next week to stay home.

Mansfield cautioned all senators to hold themselves in readiness, since, he said, "a vote may come at any time."

Doctor's Dream Comes True As First Atomedics Hospital Dedicated In Ala.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A Canadian-born doctor saw his dream of a revolutionary new hospital concept come true in this Deep South city Wednesday as the world's first atomedics hospital was dedicated.

Industrial, business, medical and scientific leaders joined in the ceremonies which officially opened the 22-room facility designed to utilize space age equipment and reduce hospital costs significantly.

Dr. Hugh MacGuire, who originated the idea of an atomedic hospital, described the concept of atomedics as "nothing more than a glorious dream, a plan or a concept of how medicine would open its heart to industry and science."

"Today we dedicate the first prototype of an atomedic hospital in which after more than eight years we can actually organize our research efforts," he told the 30 guests.

He said his hope is to find a way of producing a system of hospitals that can circle the globe "at a cost that everyone can afford."

Atomedics is a term coined to describe atomic age medicine, and MacGuire says he hopes to utilize the most modern equipment available in the treatment of patients.

The present hospital will include computers which automatically will record such things as a patient's temperature which is relayed by tiny transducers which can be strapped on the patient.

Born in Vancouver, Canada, MacGuire is the son of a Presbyterian minister. He came to Montgomery in 1948 and eight years ago began working on his new hospital concept. He is president of the Atomedic Research Center, Inc.

MacGuire emphasizes that the revolutionary hospital is designed to relieve nurses and doctors of many routine duties which in turn will free them to devote more time to patients and their illnesses.

The circular, windowless structure has 22 wedge-shaped rooms which put nurses and doctors, operating from the center, within equal distance of all rooms.

The hospital is designed to reduce the personnel to patient ratio by more than half. Hospitals today generally must provide 2.3 to 2.8 persons to care for a single patient.

House Given Hot Potato In Form Of Pay Hike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was handed a hot potato Wednesday—a bill raising the pay of 1.8 million government workers, including $10,000 a year increases for members of Congress.

Similar increases for the vice president, Supreme Court justices and Cabinet officers are included in the bill, with the scale going down to an average $100 annual increase at the lowest-level jobs.

What members of the House have to decide is whether they want to vote themselves a nearly 50 per cent pay boost in order to give their colleagues higher salaries.

One member gave a quick answer. No sooner had the House Post Office Committee approved the bill than Rep. Eugene Siler, R-Ky., called it "unscrupulous and untimely."

Having promised to hold down spending when they passed a big tax-cut bill earlier this year, the congressmen hate the thought of being called on to vote to raise their own pay.

Yet, no one would expect Congress to raise the pay of other officials and not its own.

The bill would raise the pay of Supreme Court justices from $35,000 to $45,000; the vice president and speaker of the House from $35,000 to $45,000; Cabinet officers from $25,000 to $35,000, and members of Congress from $22,500 to $32,500.

At the management level in the various agencies, salaries would go up from about $19,000 to $28,000.

NASA said in a news release the step also would help it stay within the $5.35 billion authorized for the current fiscal year.

7 Escapees Still Sought

MAYS LANDING, N.J. (UPI) —Seven of the 14 prisoners who escaped from the 70-year-old Atlantic County Jail were back behind bars Wednesday, one of them surrendering because "I had no place to go and nothing to eat."

Five of them were captured on tips and clues and the others gave themselves up.

Haggard and hungry, Sanford Jarvis, 26, of Hunterdon, N.J. telephoned Atlantic City police and told Capt. James Dooney:

"I want to get back into jail. Come and get me."

Within an hour, another escapee, James Roary, 18, of Atlantic City, walked into the same police station with his parents. He also tipped off authorities that Frank Darrah, 20, of Philadelphia was holed up in an Atlantic City rooming house. Darrah was promptly seized and returned to jail.

Tremor Shakes Northeast Area

BOSTON (AP) — The second earth tremor in two weeks shook New England coastal areas Wednesday.

There were no reports of damage or injuries.

The Boston College seismograph station at suburban Weston described the tremor as "a slight earthquake lasting from 5 to 10 seconds at 5:38 p.m. (EST)."

Seismologists placed the center of the quake as 35 miles east of Weston—placing it in Boston harbor.

Residents as far as about 15 miles inland in northeastern Massachusetts and southeastern New Hampshire reported feeling the tremor.

Miners Disappointed As Rescue Delayed

PEINE, Germany (UPI) — Three miners, trapped 262-feet underground since last Thursday learned Wednesday they must spend at least another night in their subterranean prison.

"It's so we can get you out safe and well," rescue workers told the trapped men.

The miners spoke to rescuers on the surface from an air pocket at the end of the iron mine gallery where they were trapped by an underground flood. They spoke through a telephone line in a six-inch supply hole drilled Sunday.

Maine Reels Under 18 Inches Of Snow

Five Persons Lost In Near-Blizzard

PORTLAND, Maine (AP)—A second major storm in two days left Maine reeling Wednesday under as much as a foot and a half of snow.

Five persons were lost in northern wilderness areas in near-blizzard conditions. Two others walked out of the woods safely after being missing overnight.

The coastal storm swept in on the heels of Hurricane Ginny, which had battered the state with rain, snow, and gale force winds Tuesday.

The sudden switch from the Indian summer of last weekend caught hunters and mountain climbers unprepared.

A Massachusetts woman and a forest ranger who went searching for her were both reported lost on mile-high Mt. Katahdin.

Two young airmen stationed at Loring Air Force Base in Limestone were missing after leaving on a hunting trip. Two other hunters from the base spent Tuesday night in the woods but found their way out. A Bangor hunter who became lost Monday before the storms struck also was being sought.

Lost on gale-swept Mt. Katahdin—in an area of steep bluffs now coated with snow—were Margaret Ivusic, about 50, of Boston; and ranger Ralph Heath, 37, of Sherman.

Mrs. Ivusic and Ellen Moore of Concord, Mass., had begun climbing the peak in balmy weather over the weekend.

Heath began a search for Mrs. Ivusic after Mrs. Moore came to his station on the mountain late Monday and said her friend was exhausted.

Gleason Suffers Wrist Fracture In Show "Stunt"

He said his only worry was that the injury might force him to cancel a golf date Dec. 19 with Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees.

The accident occurred while Gleason was taping his weekly television show. The script called for him to ride a bicycle down a ramp into a "brick" wall that was constructed of plastic blocks.

Thant Reports Yemen Failure

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant reported failure of U.N. efforts to end outside intervention in Yemen's civil war and ordered withdrawal of the 200-man U.N. military observer mission by next Monday.

Thant informed the U.N. Security Council on Wednesday that he intends to maintain a U.N. civilian presence in Yemen with the hope that it might help achieve an early settlement.

He said the Yemen problem is primarily political and will require a political solution.

The council authorized dispatch of U.N. military observers to the restive Arab country in an effort to end intervention by both the United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia. The observers arrived last July 4.

Approximately 22,000 U.A.R. troops are reported in Yemen supporting the regime which ousted the royalists in a revolt in September 1962. The Saudi Arabians have been contributing to royalist forces seeking to regain power.

Critics Delay Aid Bill Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the face of lengthy Senate debate on the foreign aid bill, with critics showing no sign of a letup, majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., all but gave up hope Wednesday of calling up some 40 proposed amendments before next week.

Mansfield announced that he had failed to get unanimous consent for setting a timetable for voting on amendments to President Kennedy's $4.2-billion request. He advised delegations of senators planning to attend international conferences in Paris and Malaysia next week to stay home.

Mansfield cautioned all senators to hold themselves in readiness, since, he said, "a vote may come at any time."

Doctor's Dream Comes True As First Atomedics Hospital Dedicated In Ala.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A Canadian-born doctor saw his dream of a revolutionary new hospital concept come true in this Deep South city Wednesday as the world's first atomedics hospital was dedicated.

Industrial, business, medical and scientific leaders joined in the ceremonies which officially opened the 22-room facility designed to utilize space age equipment and reduce hospital costs significantly.

Dr. Hugh MacGuire, who originated the idea of an atomedic hospital, described the concept of atomedics as "nothing more than a glorious dream, a plan or a concept of how medicine would open its heart to industry and science."

"Today we dedicate the first prototype of an atomedic hospital in which after more than eight years we can actually organize our research efforts," he told the 30 guests.

He said his hope is to find a way of producing a system of hospitals that can circle the globe "at a cost that everyone can afford."

Atomedics is a term coined to describe atomic age medicine, and MacGuire says he hopes to utilize the most modern equipment available in the treatment of patients.

The present hospital will include computers which automatically will record such things as a patient's temperature which is relayed by tiny transducers which can be strapped on the patient.

Born in Vancouver, Canada, MacGuire is the son of a Presbyterian minister. He came to Montgomery in 1948 and eight years ago began working on his new hospital concept. He is president of the Atomedic Research Center, Inc.

MacGuire emphasizes that the revolutionary hospital is designed to relieve nurses and doctors of many routine duties which in turn will free them to devote more time to patients and their illnesses.

The circular, windowless structure has 22 wedge-shaped rooms which put nurses and doctors, operating from the center, within equal distance of all rooms.

The hospital is designed to reduce the personnel to patient ratio by more than half. Hospitals today generally must provide 2.3 to 2.8 persons to care for a single patient.

House Given Hot Potato In Form Of Pay Hike Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House was handed a hot potato Wednesday—a bill raising the pay of 1.8 million government workers, including $10,000 a year increases for members of Congress.

Similar increases for the vice president, Supreme Court justices and Cabinet officers are included in the bill, with the scale going down to an average $100 annual increase at the lowest-level jobs.

What members of the House have to decide is whether they want to vote themselves a nearly 50 per cent pay boost in order to give their colleagues higher salaries.

One member gave a quick answer. No sooner had the House Post Office Committee approved the bill than Rep. Eugene Siler, R-Ky., called it "unscrupulous and untimely."

Having promised to hold down spending when they passed a big tax-cut bill earlier this year, the congressmen hate the thought of being called on to vote to raise their own pay.

Yet, no one would expect Congress to raise the pay of other officials and not its own.

The bill would raise the pay of Supreme Court justices from $35,000 to $45,000; the vice president and speaker of the House from $35,000 to $45,000; Cabinet officers from $25,000 to $35,000, and members of Congress from $22,500 to $32,500.

At the management level in the various agencies, salaries would go up from about $19,000 to $28,000.

Testimony Set In Suits To Free Integrationists

AMERICUS, Ga. (AP)--Three federal judges are to hear testimony Thursday in suits aimed at freeing five young integration leaders from jail and barring interference with integration activities in this southwest Georgia town.

Attorneys for the youths, imprisoned for nearly three months, seek an injunction against state, county and city officials to prohibit further arrests and prosecution of demonstrators.

Heading the federal panel is Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of Atlanta, Ga., presiding judge of the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals. Sitting with him are District Judges Lewis R. Morgan of LaGrange, Ga., and J. Robert Elliott of Columbus, Ga.

Four of the youths are charged with attempting to incite insurrection, an offense punishable by death or imprisonment of 5 to 10 years under an 1871 law. They have been denied bail.

The fifth prisoner is held on lesser charges in bond of $12,000. The youths were among more than 200 persons, most of them Negroes, jailed last summer in street demonstrations protesting segregation.

Jailing of the leaders stalled the integration drive which originally aimed at breaking the color barrier at a movie theater ticket window in this rigidly segregated town of about 15,000—at least 50 per cent Negro.

The prisoners are Donald Harris, 24, New York; John Perdew, 21, Denver, Colo.; Ralph W. Allen, 22, Melrose, Mass.; Thomas McDaniel, 19, of Americus; and Zev Aelony, 25, Minneapolis, Minn.

Harris and McDaniel are Negroes; the others are white students who volunteered to work in the civil rights struggle in the South.

Castro Accepts Aid From U.N.

HAVANA (UPI) — The Castro regime announced today acceptance of United Nations offers of aid for victims of hurricane Flora in Cuba's eastern Oriente and Camaguey Provinces.

The government previously had rejected American Red Cross aid offers as "hypocritical" but expressed willingness to take it through International Red Cross auspices from Geneva.

(At High Point, N. C., the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers) said the Castro regime had granted it permission to fly in a plane load of food and drugs. The Quakers stressed their aid was "purely for humanitarian reasons.")

The Cuban Foreign Ministry said the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) had sent an official to Havana to distribute foods and medicines and to aid in reconstruction.

Jury Of 11 Men, Woman Chosen For Fraud Trial

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — A jury was selected Wednesday in Federal District Court to sit Monday at the opening of the trial of two financiers and an attorney in the Maryland savings and loan mail fraud case.

Eleven men and a woman, plus four alternate jurors, were selected quickly after the court turned down a last-minute defense effort to delay the final screening.

Attorney Edward P. Morgan, representing D. Spencer Grow, Provo, Utah, savings and loan operator, questioned the means by which the jury list had been drawn. He suggested the presence of only 10 women among the 110 called suggested that women were systematically excluded.

He asked that the entire group of prospective jurors remaining be thrown out or that the clerk and the jury commissioner be called to testify on the method of selecting the names. Counsel for the other defendants, Oran T. Mensik and Henry McGurren, both of Chicago, joined in the move.

Prompt objection came from Assistant U.S. Atty. Stephen H. Sachs, who fought against transfer of the trial here after a jury had been chosen last week in Baltimore.

"All counsel gave assurances (in Baltimore) that nothing would be done to impede the progress of the trial," Sachs said. "We are now faced with motions made in an attempt not to go to trial on the assumption if you don't go to trial you can't be convicted."

Judge John D. Butzner of Richmond sat in with Judge Roszel C. Thomsen of Baltimore while the issue was decided. He said the clerk had assured him the jury list had been drawn from a box and there was no exclusion of women. He turned down the motion and Thomsen concurred.

Thomsen added that he agreed to delay swearing of the jury and the start of proceedings until 1 p.m. Monday to accommodate defendants and counsel when assured the jury selection would be completed Wednesday.

Council Rules Bishops Share Power With Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The assembled bishops of the Roman Catholic Church approved by almost 6-1 Wednesday a concept that they share authority with the Pope.

It was the second day in a row that the Vatican Ecumenical Council had taken historic votes with possibly profound significance for Roman Catholic thinking and for efforts to promote Christian unity.

The 2,300 council fathers—cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops and bishops—voted Tuesday to write a chapter on the Virgin Mary into a general document on the Church, instead of giving her the emphasis of a separate schema.

Then Wednesday they adopted the view that the Church's bishops as a whole, and by divine right, possess in union with the Pope "full and supreme power over the universal Church," but that he retains his primacy.

Supporters of the action on Mary and the concept of shared authority had cited the promotion of Christian unity among their arguments. Non - Catholic Christians often have complained that Roman Catholicism over emphasizes Mary and insists too much on papal authority.

The council fathers also approved in principle the revival of permanent deacons, but did not go into the question whether the deacons might be married.

School Board Bans Religion

RED WING, Minn. (AP) — The Red Wing School Board has voted to take religion out of the public schools by doing away with baccalaureates and changing the character of Christmas and Easter concerts.

The board Tuesday night announced a policy decision, passed by a 5-1 vote.

The dissenting member, Wayne Loomis, accused the others of taking a "public-be-darned" attitude. He added that Red Wing has in no way violated the letter or intent of U.S. Supreme Court decisions, and therefore the policy statement was not necessary.

The board explained its action with this introduction: "Recent decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court have made it clear that it is not the province of a public school to support or discourage religious beliefs or practices."

Schools will not sponsor the traditional baccalaureate services for graduating classes. Easter and Christmas programs won't be called by those names, and music will be chosen on its merits, rather than for any religious connection.

Tawes To Ask Funds For Office Building

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Gov. Tawes said Wednesday he will include funds for construction of a new state office building in Annapolis in his capital improvements program to be submitted to the Legislature next February.

The building, for which preliminary plans have already been completed is expected to cost around $3 million. A site has not yet been determined.

bail. The prisoners must remain in Hudson County jail in Jersey City, N. J., pending federal grand jury action.

Romashin, 38, and Pavlov, 39, had been held briefly with them in Hudson County jail in Jersey City, N.J. When the two were freed, Romashin told reporters, "The conduct of the FBI agents was very rude." Pavlov said nothing.

The four were picked up Tuesday night in the parking lot of the Erie-Lackawanna's old stone railroad station in Englewood.

The Department of Justice, announcing the break in Washington on Tuesday night, said FBI agents had worked on the case 24 hours a day for seven months.

It said the agents watched Butenko hand a briefcase to Pavlov and Ivanov and return to his car, while they took the briefcase back to Pavlov's car.

In the latter automobile, the department said, were found a small document copier that worked from the car's cigarette lighter, and the briefcase with data inside on a "highly sensitive Air Force contract being handled" by Butenko's corporation, a subsidiary of the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Soviet Imports Slashed, West Sources Say

MOSCOW (AP) — Western businessmen in Moscow report a sharp reduction in Soviet orders for commercial products and industrial machinery.

There is always a lull in the weeks before the annual Soviet budget comes out in late November or December, for the budget gives purchasing agencies a line on how much they can spend. But the lull is more marked than usual this year.

Some representatives here have been told frankly that there is a shortage of funds due to the need to spend nearly a billion dollars for foreign wheat to make up for the poor harvest.

"The hold-down is about 50 per cent due to the budget and about half due to the need to buy wheat," a Western diplomat said Wednesday.

One exception is machinery to make chemical fertilizers. A demand persists for that, though there is pressure for long-term credit. Increased use of fertilizers is one point in Premier Khrushchev's program to boost agricultural production.

British, Italian, Japanese and West German firms are among those feeling the pressure. All are chary of mentioning figures.

West Germany, however, is not suffering greatly. It has been providing the Soviet Union about $330 million worth of equipment a year. Representatives here indicated much of that will continue because the machinery on order is so important to Soviet industry. But wherever possible the orders are being switched to fertilizer-making machinery.

Radio Telescope To Be Dedicated

WASHINGTON (AP)—A giant American device capable of probing billions of miles into the universe will be dedicated Friday in the mountains of Puerto Rico.

Defense Department experts hope the instrument will unlock some of the secrets of space that could be used in guarding against a missile attack.

It's the world's largest known fixed-reflector radar and radio telescope — a gigantic steel dish nearly a quarter of a mile in diameter set in a bowl formed by mountain peaks.

The telescope has been more than three years in the making at a cost of some $8 million.

Living Cost Unchanged; Food Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—Housewives paid less for groceries last month but more for other housekeeping items, the Labor Department said in a report Wednesday on September's cost of living.

Mild price fluctuations resulted in no change in living costs and the prospect for October is for little or no change, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

Food prices dropped six-tenths per cent from August to September, a saving of 6 cents on a $10.60 grocery purchase over the month.

Hopkins Announces Beirut Exchange

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Johns Hopkins Medical School has selected the American University of Beirut, Lebanon, as the second school for its faculty exchange and "talent scouting" program.

Launched last year by Hopkins, the program will operate through an exchange of faculty members between the two schools as well as selected young students and house officers from Beirut coming to Hopkins for advanced post-doctoral training.

The first stage of the program was an exchange between Hopkins and the medical school of University College, Ibadan, in Nigeria.

Soviet Imports Slashed, West Sources Say

MOSCOW (AP) — Western businessmen in Moscow report a sharp reduction in Soviet orders for commercial products and industrial machinery.

There is always a lull in the weeks before the annual Soviet budget comes out in late November or December, for the budget gives purchasing agencies a line on how much they can spend. But the lull is more marked than usual this year.

Some representatives here have been told frankly that there is a shortage of funds due to the need to spend nearly a billion dollars for foreign wheat to make up for the poor harvest.

"The hold-down is about 50 per cent due to the budget and about half due to the need to buy wheat," a Western diplomat said Wednesday.

One exception is machinery to make chemical fertilizers. A demand persists for that, though there is pressure for long-term credit. Increased use of fertilizers is one point in Premier Khrushchev's program to boost agricultural production.

British, Italian, Japanese and West German firms are among those feeling the pressure. All are chary of mentioning figures.

West Germany, however, is not suffering greatly. It has been providing the Soviet Union about $330 million worth of equipment a year. Representatives here indicated much of that will continue because the machinery on order is so important to Soviet industry. But wherever possible the orders are being switched to fertilizer-making machinery.

Radio Telescope To Be Dedicated

WASHINGTON (AP)—A giant American device capable of probing billions of miles into the universe will be dedicated Friday in the mountains of Puerto Rico.

Defense Department experts hope the instrument will unlock some of the secrets of space that could be used in guarding against a missile attack.

It's the world's largest known fixed-reflector radar and radio telescope — a gigantic steel dish nearly a quarter of a mile in diameter set in a bowl formed by mountain peaks.

The telescope has been more than three years in the making at a cost of some $8 million.

Living Cost Unchanged; Food Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—Housewives paid less for groceries last month but more for other housekeeping items, the Labor Department said in a report Wednesday on September's cost of living.

Mild price fluctuations resulted in no change in living costs and the prospect for October is for little or no change, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

Food prices dropped six-tenths per cent from August to September, a saving of 6 cents on a $10.60 grocery purchase over the month.

Hopkins Announces Beirut Exchange

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Johns Hopkins Medical School has selected the American University of Beirut, Lebanon, as the second school for its faculty exchange and "talent scouting" program.

Launched last year by Hopkins, the program will operate through an exchange of faculty members between the two schools as well as selected young students and house officers from Beirut coming to Hopkins for advanced post-doctoral training.

The first stage of the program was an exchange between Hopkins and the medical school of University College, Ibadan, in Nigeria.

Udall Predicts Assateague Acceptance

BALTIMORE (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Stewart L Udall predicted Wednesday that opposition in Worcester County to federal preservation of Assateague Island will disappear as benefits of the project become known.

"Once a long-range conservation plan is put into action under the wise guidance of the National Park Service," Udall said, "It will quickly win the support of those who live in the areas adjacent to Assateague. This has been the case over and over."

Udall, addressing the Advertising Club of Baltimore, said that as a result of establishing the Cape Hatteras National Seashore in North Carolina, tourist trade and bank deposits had doubled in one six-year period.

Worcester County officials oppose Udall's plan to make the island a national seashore, proposing instead that it be opened to private commercial and residential development.

Udall, however, said studies by the Interior Department and Maryland agencies disclosed that Assateague elevations are so low that the island is not suitable for residential or commercial development without substantial public subsidy for building protective dunes and stabilizing beaches.

"If large amounts of public funds are to be spent," the secretary said, "all the taxpayers should benefit by having available the use of the island."

Udall's plan for Assateague, which has been endorsed by the Maryland Board of Public Works and several other stage agencies, is embodied in legislation before Congress. Bills containing alternative proposals also have been introduced.

If Assateague is preserved as a national seashore, Udall said residents of the Baltimore and Washington areas would make three million visits to the island each year.

Conferees Approve Aberdeen Reactor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conferees agreed as expected Wednesday to an Army plan for construction of a $2,174,000 test reactor at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground.

New York had opposed the project but an expected floor fight against it failed to develop when the Senate approved its version of a military construction bill last week.

The reactor at Aberdeen would simulate the environment following a nuclear explosion to test weapons and electronics equipment.

The Daughters of the American Revolution presented 26,000 flags as gifts last year to new citizens, Scout groups, schools, churches and other organizations.

Del. Contractor Found Guilty

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — A jury deliberated 34 minutes late Wednesday before convicting Clell Arnold Davis of second-degree murder.

Davis, a 30-year-old Dover, Del. contractor, faces a prison sentence of 5 to 18 years. Circuit Court Judges Rex A. Taylor and E. McMaster Duer withheld sentencing pending an appeal notice.

Davis was accused of killing Russell E. Farmer, 38, manager of a home construction company. Farmer was found dead in his office June 10 across the street from the State Police barracks here.

Davis, who took the stand in his own defense Wednesday, testified that he had fought with Farmer over money he said Farmer owed him.

"But when I left the office," Davis said, "Farmer was still alive, sitting in a chair crying."

Dr. Stephen Tymkin, a pathologist, testified that Farmer died from strangulation.

Earlier Wednesday, Shirley Ann Hunt, 17, also of Dover, testified that Davis was drunk the night of Farmer's death.

The slim, dark haired girl, who said she had lived with Davis for a year and a half, said Davis told her he had fought with Farmer that night.

Maryland News In Brief

SALISBURY (AP) — A boy waiting for a school bus was fatally injured Wednesday when he darted in front of a car on Maryland 349, about two miles west of Salisbury.

State Police said Douglas Wayne Hipps, 7, had raced across the road to retrieve a lunchbag that had been carried away by the wind. He died in Peninsula General Hospital of head and internal injuries shortly after the accident.

CHESTERTOWN (AP) — The annual fee for tuition, room and board for Washington College students will be increased from 1,730 to $2,030, effective next September.

The action of the college's governing board was announced Wednesday by Dr. Daniel Z. Gibson, Washington College president.

He said that while the current tuition is $1,000 a year, the cost of educating a student is over $1,500.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The evidence against Willie Everette, 44, on a lottery charge has two $1 bills "with numbers written on them."

Municipal Judge I. Sewell Lamdin reached in his pocket Wednesday and pulled out a bill.

Mary Jane Deffenbaugh, Michael Hartman Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Deffenbaugh, Mt. Savage, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Jane Deffenbaugh, to Michael McCoy Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Hartman, Bedford Road.

Miss Deffenbaugh, a 1962 graduate of Mt. Savage High School, is employed at the Government Employes Insurance Company, Washington.

Mr. Hartman is a 1962 graduate of LaSalle High School. At present he is serving in the Navy at Norfolk, Va.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Bride-Elect Honored

A pre-nuptial shower in honor of Miss Rita Miller, fiancee of William Mower, was held at the home of Miss Joan Markwood, South Johnson Street. The marriage of Miss Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Miller, 628 Frederick Street, to Mr. Mower, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mower, Bedford Road, will be November 2 in First Baptist Church at 3 p. m.

Games were played and prizes were won by Miss Barbara Miller, Miss Arvella Alt, Miss Rebecca Miller, Mrs. Gilbert Markwood and Mrs. Mower. Others attending were Mrs. Miller, Mrs. James Huff, Mrs. John Reckley, Mrs. George Zimmerman, Miss Judy Brodbeck and Miss Joan Markwood.

Ladies Order of Owls, Nest 2180, will hold the regular meeting tomorrow at 8 o'clock at the Owls home, 121 Harrison Street.

Omicron Entertains Rushees

The rushee ritual and next meeting were discussed at the dessert bridge given by Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi in honor of its pledges. The party was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Anna Kurtz, Holly Avenue, with the Halloween theme carried out in the table appointments and pumpkin decorations. Candy to be sold for the Christmas project was distributed. Table prizes were awarded.

BSP rushee ritual will be November 7 at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club. The November 5 meeting will be held at the home of Miss Patricia Emerick, Oldtown Road, at which time a program on literature will be given by Mrs. Virgnia Shircliff.

Honor guests were Miss Barbara Henry, Mrs. Ruth Jane Watson and Mrs. Virginia Eyler. Others attending were Mrs. Helen Arthur, Mrs. Bette Adam, Mrs. Mary Chapman, Miss Josephine Dorn, Mrs. Vivian Dorn, Miss Barbara Haan, Miss Joan MacDonald, Mrs. Gladys May, Mrs. Shircliff, Mrs. Martha Van Horn and Mrs. Martha Webrecht.

OES To Meet

McKinley Chapter 12, Order of the Eastern Star, will meet in Masonic Temple, tomorrow evening, at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Mounsey Smoak, worthy matron, and John R. Earsom, worthy patron, will preside at the business session.

Miss Mildred Beck is chairman of the committee in charge of the social hour concluding the evening.

Touch Of Roman Glory

A touch of the glory that was Rome is re-created by the advent of modern step-down bathtub. The step-down bathtub is currently gaining popularity with architects and interior decorators as an unusual decorative touch to the modern bath. Highlights of many of these step-down tubs is their colorful surfaces of ceramic tile that carry out the color scheme of the whole room. Ceramic tile is an ideal surfacing material for these glamor baths, since it is both waterproof and easy to keep clean.

Animal Welfare Society Favors Distemper Shots

The Allegany County Animal Welfare Society voted to use the donation from Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi to give temporary distempter shots to all adoptable puppies. The material will be given to the dog warden. Mrs. Earl Cobey reported the project has been approved by both local veterinarians, who highly favor it, for they said many dogs adopted have bad cases of distemper and are hard to cure. It was noted the group hopes the program will become self-sustaining, so it may become a permanent program.

Also at the meeting, held Tuesday evening at the Antique Shop, North Centre Street, at the request of Merwin Hast, the shelter committee was authorized to visit the county pound. It is to report on the improvements there at the next meeting. Plans also were formulated to visit the pound in Westernport soon and see the improvements there.

It was decided to sell Christmas cookies from a central point, and through the membership.

Mrs. Edward Finan reported on investigations and court cases during August and September, and the animal pickup throughout the county.

The group decided to continue the 50 subscriptions of "Animal Life" by the Humane Society of Columbus, Ohio. But this year, instead of placing all at the Allegany County Library, Cumberland; to divide them between the Frostburg Library, LaVale Library, bookmobile and County Library.

November 26 was selected as the date for the next meeting, which will be at the Antique Shop.

A rummage sale will be held by the Women's Republican Club at 1 p.m. today at 100 North Centre Street.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Be Charming Of Speech

The charming woman is as discriminating in her choice of words and sentence structure as she is in her selection of clothing.

If you wish your words to shower you with distinction and show your finesse, keep a close guard over your negatives. They cause many an otherwise well-trained tongue to blunder in ways that are, to say the least, a lapse in taste.

Double negatives can muddle your statement, contract your intention — or be used adroitly to understate or emphaize a meaning. Of course, you'd never make the error of saying, "It couldn't be found nowhere," or "John would not do nothing about it." Such double negatives are only barbarisms.

To test your knowledge of the use of neither, nor, either and or, find the one incorrect sentence in the following four: 1. He neither reads nor writes. 2. He does not read or write. 3. He does not read or does he write. 4. He does not read nor does he write.

The slip occurs in the third sentence. The others are all correct. What's wrong with the third? Since "does" was repeated in the sentence, "nor" was required to complete the negative. When the negative is attached to an auxiliary verb (does, in this case) and the auxiliary is repeated, a second negative must be used. The second sentence was correct because the negative followed the auxiliary and therefore applies to both "read" and "write."

Would you say, "Neither John nor I were (or was) there?" You are right if "was" is your choice. Since both subjects are singular the verb must be, too. "Neither" tricks many into errors in agreement.

And to get "not only" out of its place in a sentence is a special affront to sensitive ears. "Not only were her cosmetics chosen to blend perfectly with her coloring, but applied skillfully," is a simple illustration. "Her cosmetics were not only applied skillfully, but chosen to blend perfectly with her natural coloring," is the logical, natural order and permits "not only" to perfom the service for which it was intended without strain.

The use of no, never, not, nor, none and neither frequently trip the unwary in many ways. A bit of reviewing now and then will prevent your ever saying yes, when no was your intent, and better still, it will help to definitely stamp your speech as that of a cultured person.

Study Group To Explore Branch Theme

The International Relations study group of Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch, American Association of University Women, called World Problems, now in the new AAUW structure, will meet Saturday at the home of Miss Mabel Meyers, Frostburg. Other members, who at the planning session, volunteered for the hospitality committee, are Miss Ruth Engle, Mrs. Charlotte Folk and Miss Gertrude Williams.

Quite unusual this year is the topical program, though a number of meetings, kinds of meetings, and general time-pattern are familiar. There are for example, three other meetings to follow the planning session, Dr. Hazel Ramsay, chairman, reports: the November one, one in February, and climaxing the year's program as usual in March will be the International Community banquet.

After consideration of various pressing international topics, and after more consideration as to whether this group could do as asked by Dr. Ramsay, at least one program, this year's transition in the new AAUW structure, on some international aspect of the overall branch theme, "The Challenge of the Sciences," bridging the gap between professionals and laymen, this group decided to do even more. It finally decided not to choose several topics as usual, but rather to explore trying this year to have all meetings connected with the branch theme.

Atomic testing and the test ban treaty, is a so-called natural topic for this meeting, Dr. Ramsay points out. On the material on which most know almost nothing, for example, some questions to be considered are, What is the problem? Is there anything scientifically accurate about real danger to people from atomic testing above ground or otherwise? This recently signed and ratified atomic ban treaty, what does it ban? Why? How? Is it safe, scientifically? Politically? To supplement the new paper reporting the group had one member secure material from the Senate hearing on the treaty.

These materials and some from books on the subject will be briefed for the group at the Saturday meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Several specialty books recently published on the subject of arms control and test ban are available in the college library. They are Melman's "Peace Race," "Arms Control and Disarmament," a collection of short articles by specialists edited by Brennan; "One World or None," by Masters and Way, a slightly older collection of articles, all by atomic scientists including Albert Einstein. The film, "Which Way the Wind" and magazine, "Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists," also are applicable.

Another question to be considered, the race to the moon, peaceful use of outer space, the United Nations has been working on this topic too, so from it material is available, especially in the UN Review; also, "Issues before the General Assembly" published each fall.

Also at the Saturday meeting, this group contributions will be received for CARE. Ten such parcels of surplus United States food have been sent this fall, where "most needed," Dr. Ramsay reports.

READY TO GO — "Holiday Fashions" is the theme for the style show to be presented by Peskin's in conjunction with a card party sponsored by the Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club. The benefit affair will be held November 5 at Ali Ghan Shrine Club, beginning at 8 p. m. The fashions will feature ski clothes, sportswear, formals, afternoon dresses, furs, and coats. Proceeds are for the nurses' scholarship fund. Left to right are Mrs. Ralph Sell Jr., Mrs. William D. Smith and Mrs. Rodney Pariser.

Ribbons To Be Given At Gymkhana

A Gymkhana for members of the Allegany Saddle Club members only will be held Sunday at the riding club's grounds, Eastman Road. It will begin at 12:30 p. m.

There will be 11 classes, including two new ones, "model gelding" and "model mare."

The first class will be western pleasure; second class, model gelding (horse in this class will be shown in a halter); third class, bareback; fourth class, walk and lead race; fifth, break and out; sixth class, trail horse class; seventh class, model mare (to be shown in halter); eighth class, rider pickup; ninth class, apple bobbing; 10th class, clover leaf barrel; and 11th class an egg throwing contest for pedestrians.

James Paddleford is chairman for the gymkhana, with Miss Reta M. Warner, cochairman. T. M. Rudy will be the judge; Mrs. Phyllis Reed, show secretary; Jerry Matlick, ring master; Robert Reed, grounds chairman; Mrs. Thomas Reinhart, refreshment chairman; Harry Jones and James Paddleford, announcers.

Ribbons will be given for all entries in the 11 classes.

The regular business session will be held November 4, at the Baltimore Pike fire hall, at which time officers for 1964 will be nominated. All members are urged to attend.

A Bit 'O Showmanship

Nearly every woman has a touch of showmanship in her—particularly when her home is involved. It may only be an unusual flower arrangement for a table center piece, or it may be a large-scale decorative scheme. That's one of the reasons ceramic tile is growing in popularity as a decorator's item in key areas throughout the home. Ceramic tile is now available in more than 250 colors and can be used in an infinite number of designs, thus making any room in the home a show piece.

County Lay Health Group To Make Hospital Favors

A letter from Mt. Wilson Hospital asking for 100 Christmas tray favors and gifts was read by Mrs. Pearl Blair at the luncheon meeting of the Allegany County Lay Health Group Tuesday at Maplehurst Country Club, Frostburg. A workshop will be held at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, Bedford Street, to make them.

Plans for the Christmas party for the county group also was discussed. It will be held December 17, and will be in Lonaconing.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Blair. Following the flag salute, prayer was offered by Mrs. Janet Aldridge. Miss Dorothy McKenty, representing the TB Association, was guest speaker. She explained the use of the mobile unit and discussed cases found. She said proceeds from the TB seal sale finance these projects. Mrs. Jean Lewis was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Ort. The Frostburg group was hostess, with Mrs. Albert Sittig chairman, assisted by Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Margaret Hanson. Fall flowers and leaves were used in the decorations, with the Frostburg, Midland, Lonaconing and Barton groups in charge. Sixty-one lay workers and nurses attended, including Mrs. Rose Lioble, Mrs. Margaret Morrissey and Mrs. Isabelle Laughlin, retired nurses; four representatives from Lonaconing; three from Mt. Savage; 16 from Frostburg; seven from Cumberland; five from South Cumberland; two from Ellerslie; six from Midland and 12 nurses.

Uses For Ceramic Tile

While real ceramic tile continues to be popular in bathrooms and kitchens, where it has long been a standard surfacing material, it is now being put to new uses throughout the modern home. Home designers, for example, are now applying ceramic tile to exterior surfaces, in addition to interior walls and floors. Ceramic tile not only offers unusual color opportunities, but its weatherproof surface requires no special maintenance.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR READERS: The following letter was forwarded to me by Mohammed Azhar Ali Khan, of the Morning News in Karachi, Pakistan. I am printing it because it demonstrates so pointedly the universality of man's problems.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read your column today in the Karachi Morning News and the letter that struck me was written by a 17-year-old boy named David.

You see, I am 17 years old, and my name is David, also. I have the same problem the American David wrote about. In fact, his description of himself fits me exactly.

I know how he feels when people mistake him on the telephone for his sister or his mother. It is horribly embarrassing, not only for me, but for the person who makes the error. Like the American David, I, too, hate to speak in the classroom because my voice is so high-pitched. When I make a contrived effort to speak in a lower voice I become tense and my voice becomes even higher.

Could you please send me the address of the American David, Miss Landers? Since we have the same problem perhaps we could help each other. Sincerely yours —ANOTHER DAVID

DEAR DAVID: Thank you for writing. I regret that I cannot do as you ask, but under no circumstances would I put one reader in touch with another through this column.

You sound like a fine boy, David, and the American David who wrote sounds like a fine boy, too, but I would not risk introducing people through the mails because sometimes people are not quite as fine as they sound on paper.

I hope you noticed my advice to the American David. It will work for you, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just wrote a letter to you describing my problem. Before sealing the envelope I re-read it and was dumbfounded. Why? Because I suddenly realized I have read dozens of letters exactly like it—in your column.

Strange how each of us has a blind spot and thinks "I am different. The rules don't apply to me."

Here is the same tired story: Middle-aged woman—attractive, hungry for the excitement of an affair. Rationalizes that her husband takes her for granted. The years are slipping away—she needs more affection. A middle-aged man, also married, and in their social crowd, confides that he has been smitten by her for years. His wife is cold and unfriendly If it weren't for the children he'd get a divorce. How unfortunate that they didn't meet 20 years ago!

After a few months of sneaking around, the Romeo becomes tired of her and suggests they'd better stop seeing each other "for awhile" because his wife is getting wise. So the lady gets the brushoff, plus heartache and humiliation.

I almost believed his lies until I suddenly recognized the familiar ring of my letter. I know now my affair was just like the others—cheap and meaningless. Perhaps this letter will awaken some other middle-aged women who feel the need for excitement.

—MY NAME IS LEGION

DEAR LEGION: Thanks for a frank and humble letter. I can add nothing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF: Who raised those vegetables? Your children are selfish and lazy because they have never been taught to accept responsibility. Your husband has been leaning pretty good, too. So long as you are willing to carry the whole load I can assure you they will be glad to let you do it.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Study Group To Explore Branch Theme

The International Relations study group of Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch, American Association of University Women, called World Problems, now in the new AAUW structure, will meet Saturday at the home of Miss Mabel Meyers, Frostburg. Other members, who at the planning session, volunteered for the hospitality committee, are Miss Ruth Engle, Mrs. Charlotte Folk and Miss Gertrude Williams.

Quite unusual this year is the topical program, though a number of meetings, kinds of meetings, and general time-pattern are familiar. There are for example, three other meetings to follow the planning session, Dr. Hazel Ramsay, chairman, reports: the November one, one in February, and climaxing the year's program as usual in March will be the International Community banquet.

After consideration of various pressing international topics, and after more consideration as to whether this group could do as asked by Dr. Ramsay, at least one program, this year's transition in the new AAUW structure, on some international aspect of the overall branch theme, "The Challenge of the Sciences," bridging the gap between professionals and laymen, this group decided to do even more. It finally decided not to choose several topics as usual, but rather to explore trying this year to have all meetings connected with the branch theme.

Atomic testing and the test ban treaty, is a so-called natural topic for this meeting, Dr. Ramsay points out. On the material on which most know almost nothing, for example, some questions to be considered are, What is the problem? Is there anything scientifically accurate about real danger to people from atomic testing above ground or otherwise? This recently signed and ratified atomic ban treaty, what does it ban? Why? How? Is it safe, scientifically? Politically? To supplement the new paper reporting the group had one member secure material from the Senate hearing on the treaty.

These materials and some from books on the subject will be briefed for the group at the Saturday meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Several specialty books recently published on the subject of arms control and test ban are available in the college library. They are Melman's "Peace Race," "Arms Control and Disarmament," a collection of short articles by specialists edited by Brennan; "One World Or None," by Masters and Way, a slightly older collection of articles, all by atomic scientists including Albert Einstein. The film, "Which Way the Wind" and magazine, "Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists," also are applicable.

Another question to be considered, the race to the moon, peaceful use of outer space, the United Nations has been working on this topic too, so from it material is available, especially in the UN Review; also, "Issues before the General Assembly" published each fall.

Also at the Saturday meeting, this group contributions will be received for CARE. Ten such parcels of surplus United States food have been sent this fall, where "most needed," Dr. Ramsay reports.

READY TO GO — "Holiday Fashions" is the theme for the style show to be presented by Peskin's in conjunction with a card party sponsored by the Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club. The benefit affair will be held November 5 at Ali Ghan Shrine Club, beginning at 8 p. m. The fashions will feature ski clothes, sportswear, formals, afternoon dresses, furs, and coats. Proceeds are for the nurses' scholarship fund. Left to right are Mrs. Ralph Sell Jr., Mrs. William D. Smith and Mrs. Rodney Pariser.

Ribbons To Be Given At Gymkhana

A Gymkhana for members of the Allegany Saddle Club members only will be held Sunday at the riding club's grounds, Eastman Road. It will begin at 12:30 p. m.

There will be 11 classes, including two new ones, "model gelding" and "model mare."

The first class will be western pleasure; second class, model gelding (horse in this class will be shown in a halter); third class, bareback; fourth class, walk and lead race; fifth, break and out; sixth class, trail horse class; seventh class, model mare (to be shown in halter); eighth class, rider pickup; ninth class, apple bobbing; 10th class, clover leaf barrel; and 11th class an egg throwing contest for pedestrians.

James Paddleford is chairman for the gymkhana, with Miss Reta M. Warner, cochairman. T. M. Rudy will be the judge; Mrs. Phyllis Reed, show secretary; Jerry Matlick, ring master; Robert Reed, grounds chairman; Mrs. Thomas Reinhart, refreshment chairman; Harry Jones and James Paddleford, announcers.

Ribbons will be given for all entries in the 11 classes.

The regular business session will be held November 4, at the Baltimore Pike fire hall, at which time officers for 1964 will be nominated. All members are urged to attend.

A Bit 'O Showmanship

Nearly every woman has a touch of showmanship in her—particularly when her home is involved. It may only be an unusual flower arrangement for a table center piece, or it may be a large-scale decorative scheme. That's one of the reasons ceramic tile is growing in popularity as a decorator's item in key areas throughout the home. Ceramic tile is now available in more than 250 colors and can be used in an infinite number of designs, thus making any room in the home a show piece.

County Lay Health Group To Make Hospital Favors

A letter from Mt. Wilson Hospital asking for 100 Christmas tray favors and gifts was read by Mrs. Pearl Blair at the luncheon meeting of the Allegany County Lay Health Group Tuesday at Maplehurst Country Club, Frostburg. A workshop will be held at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, Bedford Street, to make them.

Plans for the Christmas party for the county group also was discussed. It will be held December 17, and will be in Lonaconing.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Blair. Following the flag salute, prayer was offered by Mrs. Janet Aldridge. Miss Dorothy McKenty, representing the TB Association, was guest speaker. She explained the use of the mobile unit and discussed cases found. She said proceeds from the TB seal sale finance these projects. Mrs. Jean Lewis was soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Ort. The Frostburg group was hostess, with Mrs. Albert Sittig chairman, assisted by Mrs. Jackson and Mrs. Margaret Hanson. Fall flowers and leaves were used in the decorations, with the Frostburg, Midland, Lonaconing and Barton groups in charge. Sixty-one lay workers and nurses attended, including Mrs. Rose Lioble, Mrs. Margaret Morrissey and Mrs. Isabelle Laughlin, retired nurses; four representatives from Lonaconing; three from Mt. Savage; 16 from Frostburg; seven from Cumberland; five from South Cumberland; two from Ellerslie; six from Midland and 12 nurses.

Uses For Ceramic Tile

While real ceramic tile continues to be popular in bathrooms and kitchens, where it has long been a standard surfacing material, it is now being put to new uses throughout the modern home. Home designers, for example, are now applying ceramic tile to exterior surfaces, in addition to interior walls and floors. Ceramic tile not only offers unusual color opportunities, but its weatherproof surface requires no special maintenance.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR READERS: The following letter was forwarded to me by Mohammed Azhar Ali Khan, of the Morning News in Karachi, Pakistan. I am printing it because it demonstrates so pointedly the universality of man's problems.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read your column today in the Karachi Morning News and the letter that struck me was written by a 17-year-old boy named David.

You see, I am 17 years old, and my name is David, also. I have the same problem the American David wrote about. In fact, his description of himself fits me exactly.

I know how he feels when people mistake him on the telephone for his sister or his mother. It is horribly embarrassing, not only for me, but for the person who makes the error. Like the American David, I, too, hate to speak in the classroom because my voice is so high-pitched. When I make a contrived effort to speak in a lower voice I become tense and my voice becomes even higher.

Could you please send me the address of the American David, Miss Landers? Since we have the same problem perhaps we could help each other. Sincerely yours —ANOTHER DAVID

DEAR DAVID: Thank you for writing. I regret that I cannot do as you ask, but under no circumstances would I put one reader in touch with another through this column.

You sound like a fine boy, David, and the American David who wrote sounds like a fine boy, too, but I would not risk introducing people through the mails because sometimes people are not quite as fine as they sound on paper.

I hope you noticed my advice to the American David. It will work for you, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just wrote a letter to you describing my problem. Before sealing the envelope I re-read it and was dumbfounded. Why? Because I suddenly realized I have read dozens of letters exactly like it—in your column.

Strange how each of us has a blind spot and thinks "I am different. The rules don't apply to me."

Here is the same tired story: Middle-aged woman—attractive, hungry for the excitement of an affair. Rationalizes that her husband takes her for granted. The years are slipping away—she needs more affection. A middle-aged man, also married, and in their social crowd, confides that he has been smitten by her for years. His wife is cold and unfriendly. If it weren't for the children he'd get a divorce. How unfortunate that they didn't meet 20 years ago!

After a few months of sneaking around, the Romeo becomes tired of her and suggests they'd better stop seeing each other "for awhile" because his wife is getting wise. So the lady gets the brushoff, plus heartache and humiliation.

I almost believed his lies until I suddenly recognized the familiar ring of my letter. I know now my affair was just like the others—cheap and meaningless. Perhaps this letter will awaken some other middle-aged women who feel the need for excitement.

—MY NAME IS LEGION

DEAR LEGION: Thanks for a frank and humble letter. I can add nothing.

CONFIDENTIAL TO TAKEN ADVANTAGE OF: Who raised those vegetables? Your children are selfish and lazy because they have never been taught to accept responsibility. Your husband has been leaning pretty good, too. So long as you are willing to carry the whole load I can assure you they will be glad to let you do it.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Railroaders Of Bolivia Visit Local Industries

A delegation of railway workers from Bolivia was extended a civic welcome yesterday by Mayor Earl D. Chaney prior to touring the City Hall and visiting two local industries.

Participating in the civic welcome were City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, each of whom explained various aspects of their positions.

The local visit was arranged under the auspices of the Agency for International Development, U. S. Department of State, and programmed by the Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U. S. Department of Labor.

Following the City Hall program, the group was taken on a tour of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company plant, and after luncheon the delegation toured the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

The Bolivian group, all members of the Railway Workers Labor Union in that country, was composed of:

Rene Alarcon Montano, a loading section chief for the La Paz-Antofagasta Railway; Walter Alba Zapata, department chief for the installation of telephone lines; Roberto Arnez Cruz, secretary of the railway's technical inspection section; Jose A. Castellon Guevara, assistant ticket clerk.

Jose C. Fernandez Vallejo, chief of heavy equipment; Carlos Lopez Mundy, bookkeeper; Rene Mejia Clavijo, accounting clerk; Jesus Santiesteban Carreno, locomotive mechanic, and Antonio Trujillo Carpio, assistant paymaster.

Order For Computers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Control Data Corp. said it was readying 10 of its new 3200 series computers for delivery to Australia.

Dollar value of the order was not disclosed, but the 3200 series machines were said to range between $200,000 and $800,000 each, depending on size, with lease costs ranging between $5,000 and $15,000 monthly.

Store Branch Manager Named

Mrs. W. G. Lee, 932 Maryland Avenue, has been named to manage the Searstown Shopping Center branch store of Rosenbaum Brothers, Inc.

Stuart N. Rosenbaum, in making the announcement today, said Mrs. Lee is a veteran employe of the firm who has merchandised the ready-to-wear departments in the Baltimore Street store for many years.

Her replacement in the downtown facility will be announced in the near future, Rosenbaum said.

The shopping center site will be opened on Thursday, November 14, according to Rosenbaum, who said fixtures are being installed by the Store Kraft Manufacturing Company, one of the largest store fixture firms in the country.

The Searstown store is undergoing a number of structural changes, the most notable being a departure from the glass front style to that of brick enclosure—except for a central display window.

The Searstown branch store will occupy 17,000 square feet, part of which will include fitting rooms and lounges for the convenience of customers, Rosenbaum said.

Kite-Powered Carriage

The first "horseless carriage" was powered by kites. In 1827, George Pocock, an English schoolmaster, hitched a carriage to two large kites flown in tandem. By steering the lower kite with two cords, he navigated without any other power.

Of the nine major planets, all but Mercury, Venus and Pluto have satellites. The planet with the most is Jupiter with four large and eight small moons.

Overload Fine Levied

A West Virginia man was fined $1,500 by Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill Jr. in Garrett County Circuit Court last week in an appeal from a conviction in lower court on an overload on the public highways.

Originally scheduled to be heard before a jury, attorneys for James S. Jones, of Charleston, W. Va., decided to have the case heard before Judge Hamill, and changed the plea of their client to guilty.

In view of the change in plea, Judge Hamill reduced the fine from $3,610.

State's Attorney W. Dwight Stover said the case resulted when a West Virginia contracting firm was moving a power shovel over the highways enroute from a strip mine operation in the southeastern part of Garrett County.

Jones filed for an appeal after being found guilty of overload at a hearing before Magistrate Robert M. Maroney. The appeal was postponed at the March term of court and trial set for July 1.

However, Jones suffered a heart attack and the trial was postponed until he was able to appear for hearing.

New Section Of Industrial Boulevard Is Accepted By SRC

The newly-completed section of the Industrial Boulevard project from the Wineow Street underpass to West Third Street was accepted after a final inspection yesterday by officials of the State Roads Commission district office.

Taking part in the inspection were John D. Bushby, district SRC engineer; George Geary, assistant district engineer; Lewis Metz, chief inspector for Allegany and Garrett counties; Joseph Footen, inspector on the project for the SRC; James Dunn, representative of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads; Earl Robertson, president of the Cumberland Contracting Company, which did the work, and D. R. Williamson, superintendent for the contractor on the project.

The new dual-lane highway adds about half a mile to the existing Industrial Boulevard southward for a distance of several miles.

Railroaders Of Bolivia Visit Local Industries

A delegation of railway workers from Bolivia was extended a civic welcome yesterday by Mayor Earl D. Chaney prior to touring the City Hall and visiting two local industries.

Participating in the civic welcome were City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, each of whom explained various aspects of their positions.

The local visit was arranged under the auspices of the Agency for International Development, U. S. Department of State, and programmed by the Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U. S. Department of Labor.

Following the City Hall program, the group was taken on a tour of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company plant, and after luncheon the delegation toured the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant.

The Bolivian group, all members of the Railway Workers Labor Union in that country, was composed of:

Big Halloween Parade Tonight In South End

County Commissioner Russell Carder has been named grand marshal of the 16-division parade which will highlight the annual celebration this evening of the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association, Inc.

Quentin M. Rice, chairman, and Blair Ullery, sub-chairman, said the parade will begin forming at 7 p. m. and march at 8 p. m. Mummers will form at Arch and First streets; bicycles at Grand Avenue and First Street; and Girl Scouts at Race and First. Other units are asked to form at the White Oaks Shopping Center parking lot and should go to the formation center by way of the Industrial Boulevard to avoid traffic congestion on Oldtown Road.

Route will be Oldtown Road to Race Street; to First Street to Virginia Avenue; to Laing Avenue; to South Street and disband.

A total of $775 in prizes will be awarded participating units and mummers in this, the largest Halloween celebration ever held in Cumberland, Rice and Ullery said.

Rice announced that the Liberty Dairy float will be in the fifth division of the parade marshaled by Arnold (Rusty) Robertson. Additions to the 15th division include 15 travel machines of the Paradise Hunting Club; Baltimore Pike 'Firettes" marching unit; Brown's Transfer Company, City Transfer Company, Scout Pack 2 and the Allegany High School Junior Band.

Judges will be as follows: Bands — Vernon Hahn, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. John Dorn, Mr. and Mrs. 'Ike' Smith, John F. Vandegrift, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Saver; Saddle and Go-Cart Clubs, Marcus Naughton, John Conway, Jennings Milburn; Motorcycle Clubs, Military Units, Carl Winfield, Sam Dishong, Thomas Walbert; Scout Troops (Boy and Girl), George Millenson, James Scarpelli, Carl Amtower; Dancing and Floats, Philmore F. Fleming, George Hollar, Dr. L. L. McKenzie; mummers and bicycles, C. Glenn Watson Jr., Guy Smith.

Formation officers, who will assist in seeing various units are in their proper place in the line of march will be Blair Ullery and Joseph Footen, co-chairmen; C. R. Howdyshell, Glenn Ralston, Jack Bittner, Ann Bittner, Joe Andrews, Nick Nichols, Adrian Ralston, Frank Hausman, Bill Wolfington Sr., Joe Grimm, Jack Ray, Don Harden, Wendell Long, Charles Funk, 'Red' Bush, Kenneth Hummell, Wesley Taylor, James Garland, Ralph Potts, Kenneth VanMeter, Harley Neus and Leo Niland.

Cumberland Auxiliary Police, 25 to 30 strong, will donate their time to help with the crowds and traffic movement and the Mountain Radio Club will have 30 radio cars in operation to direct units and help ease traffic congestion, Rice said.

The prizes are $300, first prize for bands; $150, second prize for bands; $100, third prize for bands; $25, best horse and rider; $25, best motorcycle and rider; $50, best fire company; $25, best Boy Scout troop; $25, best Girl Scout troop; $25, best go cart club; $25, best military unit, and $25 for the best float not used for advertising purposes.

Pot Roast Diablo Is Spicy Treat

Here's a homespun treat with a clever flavor variation. It's Pot-Roast Diablo. The golden brown beef pot-roast is gently braised and served with a spicy sauce. Dinner vegetables garnish the meat dish.

One item that's popular with homemakers the nation over is beef pot-roast. Remember the tender, juicy, golden-brown pot-roasts grandma used to serve? Of course there was always that flavorful beef gravy on the side.

Today, as campared with grandma's day, we're eating a great deal more beef. In fact, the per capita consumption of beef last year was close to 90 pounds.

Arm and blade pot-roasts are the two most popular. Both are cut from the beef chuck or shoulder. You'll find the cuts of meat easily identified by the shape of the bone.

The blade pot-roast contains the long, thin blade bone and the arm bone pot-roast is distinguished by the small round bone. A 3 to 4 pound cut of beef will easily make 6 to 8 servings. A cut this size is about 1½ to 2 inches thick.

There's no secret formula to preparing the perfect pot-roast. Simply start with a heavy utensil that has a tight-fitting cover. Then brown the meat on both sides in its own or a small amount of added fat.

Browning gives it that attractive color and helps to develop flavor. Next pour off the drippings, season the pot-roast and add a small amount of water or other cooking liquid. Then cover the meat and simmer until tender.

Here's an excellent variation you'll want to treat your family to — Pot-Roast Diablo, meaning deviled pot-roast.

Pot-Roast Diablo

- 3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast
- ¼ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- ⅓ cup water
- 2 tablespoons prepared mustard
- ¼ cup chili sauce
- ⅔ cup water
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- Water

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat with seasoned flour. Brown meat in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add onion and ⅓ cup water. Cover tightly and simmer 2½ hours. Combine mustard, chili sauce, ⅔ cup water, Worcestershire sauce, vinegar and sugar. Pour sauce over meat and continue simmering 30 to 40 minutes or until meat is tender. Remove meat from pan. Add enough water to make 2 cups liquid and use remaining flour for thickening gravy.

Fresh Peach Milk Sherbet

- 2 cups crushed fresh peaches
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 cup light corn syrup
- 2 cups milk
- ¼ teaspoon almond extract
- 2 egg whites, unbeaten

Combine peaches, lemon juice, sugar, corn syrup, milk and almond extract. Turn into two ice cube trays and freeze until the mixture is a stiff mush. Remove from freezer, turn into a bowl, add egg whites and beat until the mixture is fluffy and has increased in volume. Return to freezing trays and freeze until firm. If sherbet is too hard to spoon out of trays, let it stand at room temperature 15 to 20 minutes to soften slightly.

YIELD: About 2 quarts.

Hot Doughnuts A Real Treat At Fall Party

At fall's evening gatherings one of the most favorite snacks is doughnuts and hot apple cider. They certainly hit the spot on a brisk night!

Even more well-received among your friends would be homemade potato doughnuts, still warm from deep-fat frying. Mmm, what a treat! You can make it an exciting production, too. Let everyone have fun watching the round morsels turn a golden brown in the sizzling fat.

Making doughnuts is not difficult. You'll mix the dough in advance and chill it in the refrigerator. When almost time to serve, just roll out the dough, cut with a doughnut cutter and fry. After draining, the doughnuts may be dipped in confectioners' or granulated sugar.

One home economist recommends lard for deep-fat frying. It's economical and easily workable over a wide range of temperatures. After each use, strain through a cloth and cool. Cover and store in the refrigerator.

Potato Doughnuts

- 6 cups sifted enriched flour
- 7 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 3 eggs
- 2 cups sugar
- 1½ cups warm mashed potatoes
- ¾ cup milk
- Lard for deep-fat frying

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and nutmeg. Beat eggs; add sugar, potatoes and lard and continue beating. Add milk and mix well. Add dry ingredients and mix only until flour disappears. Chill thoroughly. Place about one-third of the dough at a time on a lightly floured surface. Roll dough to ½ inch thickness. Cut with floured doughnut cutter. Fry until golden brown in hot deep lard (375° F.). Drain on absorbent paper. Yield: 4 to 4½ dozen doughnuts.

Tomato Sauce A La Portugaise

While locally-grown tomatoes are still in abundance in the markets, make a tomato sauce by simmering peeled, chopped tomatoes in Spanish olive oil, along with grated onion, salt, pepper, and sugar to taste, until tomato is thick and smooth. Beat to blend to a puree, thin to desired consistency with a little added vinegar and hot boullion (made with bullion cube and hot water). Excellent with any meat or fish.

Shrimp a la Plancha

Small shrimp can be cooked in their shells in olive oil, served heavily salted as an hors d'overes or a first course, the shells to be removed for eating. Use a generous amount of Spanish olive oil for cooking shrimp this way, put a large bowl in the center of the table to hold the discarded shells. a simple sauce of olive oil, vinegar, salt and minced parsley may be passed for those who wish to dribble a little sauce over the shelled shrimp.

Paella

- 4 tablespoons olive oil or salad oil
- 1 broiler-fryer chicken, cut in serving pieces.
- 1 teaspoon Ac'cent
- 2 teaspoons salt, divided
- 1 cup diced celery
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ½ pound ready-to-eat ham, diced or 2 cups diced left-over ham
- 1 can (3 or 4 ounces) mushrooms
- 1 can (1 pound) peas
- 1 can condensed bouillon
- ½ teaspoon saffron, optional
- ¼ teaspoon Tabasco
- 1 pound cooked shrimp
- 1½ pounds mussels or clams, optional
- 1 box (13 ounces) pre-cooked rice

Put olive oil in large skillet or deep kettle; heat. Sprinkle chicken with Ac'cent and half the salt. Brown chicken in the oil. Add celery and onion; cook about 5 minutes. Add ham. Drain liquid from mushrooms; add liquid to skillet; cover tightly and cook over low heat about 30 minutes. Drain liquid from peas into quart measure; add condensed soup and water to make 4 cups. Add remaining salt, saffron and Tabasco to liquid. Pour into skillet with shrimp, peas and mussels. Bring to a boil. Sprinkle rice into hot mixture; toss until rice is dampened; simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes.

Peppers As Vegetable

The Spanish often fry tiny green sweet peppers whole in olive oil, serve them, seeds and all, as a hot vegetable, sprinkled with lemon juice and salt.

Week's Food Economies

When you shop for food look for seasonal produce in good supply and you usually will find a best buy and at the same time find you have meals with appetite appeal, says Virginia L. McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore office of the Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

In the fall, fruits become more colorful. Apples, grapefruit and table grapes, the best buys, will make tasty eating. For eating, sweeter apples find wider use. Tart, firm apples that cook quickly are desired for pies, sauce and desserts. Choose a variety to suit the use you intend to make of the fruit. Make full use of apples while the harvest for fresh market is at its peak.

Florida grapefruit is the best fresh citrus buy. This year's crop is estimated to be about three-quarters of the average crop because of freeze damage to trees last winter. You will find both white and pink meat fruit of very good quality at attractive prices.

Table grapes, particularly Emperors, are the colorful fruit to enjoy with meals or for between-meal snacks. Thompson seedless and Ribiers are also available on the market.

At the vegetable counter, Maryland spinach and sweet potatoes and New York state cabbage are the best buys. The fall crop of spinach enables you to make use of top quality fresh greens. It is well to choose fresh, crisp, clean medium-sized leaves that are bright green. Store spinach in a film bag or hydrator until used.

Sweet potatoes are low-cost yellow vegetables. They are thin-skinned and do scar easily, however if the potato is solid this does not affect the eating quality. Cook the potatoes in the jackets to avoid paring waste and retain all the nutritive value possible.

Recommended meat selections are smoked shoulder of pork and special sales of beef steaks.

- 1½ pounds mussels or clams, optional
- 1 box (13 ounces) pre-cooked rice

Put olive oil in large skillet or deep kettle; heat. Sprinkle chicken with Ac'cent and half the salt. Brown chicken in the oil. Add celery and onion; cook about 5 minutes. Add ham. Drain liquid from mushrooms; add liquid to skillet; cover tightly and cook over low heat about 30 minutes. Drain liquid from peas into quart measure; add condensed soup and water to make 4 cups. Add remaining salt, saffron and Tabasco to liquid. Pour into skillet with shrimp, peas and mussels. Bring to a boil. Sprinkle rice into hot mixture; toss until rice is dampened; simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes.

Peppers As Vegetable

The Spanish often fry tiny green sweet peppers whole in olive oil, serve them, seeds and all, as a hot vegetable, sprinkled with lemon juice and salt.

Week's Food Economies

When you shop for food look for seasonal produce in good supply and you usually will find a best buy and at the same time find you have meals with appetite appeal, says Virginia L. McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore office of the Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

In the fall, fruits become more colorful. Apples, grapefruit and table grapes, the best buys, will make tasty eating. For eating, sweeter apples find wider use. Tart, firm apples that cook quickly are desired for pies, sauce and desserts. Choose a variety to suit the use you intend to make of the fruit. Make full use of apples while the harvest for fresh market is at its peak.

Florida grapefruit is the best fresh citrus buy. This year's crop is estimated to be about three-quarters of the average crop because of freeze damage to trees last winter. You will find both white and pink meat fruit of very good quality at attractive prices.

Table grapes, particularly Emperors, are the colorful fruit to enjoy with meals or for between-meal snacks. Thompson seedless and Ribiers are also available on the market.

At the vegetable counter, Maryland spinach and sweet potatoes and New York state cabbage are the best buys. The fall crop of spinach enables you to make use of top quality fresh greens. It is well to choose fresh, crisp, clean medium-sized leaves that are bright green. Store spinach in a film bag or hydrator until used.

Sweet potatoes are low-cost yellow vegetables. They are thin-skinned and do scar easily, however if the potato is solid this does not affect the eating quality. Cook the potatoes in the jackets to avoid paring waste and retain all the nutritive value possible.

Recommended meat selections are smoked shoulder of pork and special sales of beef steaks.

Glamour Treatment For Vegetables

A simple sauce you can mix in minutes is all it takes to turn vegetables into mealtime stars. Served with Olivedaise, asparagus or artichokes are truly elegant party fare. But what the sauce does for everyday vegetables such as carrots, broccoli, and cauliflower must be tasted to be believed.

Sauce Olivedaise takes its smooth texture from mayonnaise and its spirited flavor from sliced, stuffed olives. It's easy to mix at the last minute, but may be made in advance and stored in the refrigerator.

Unlike most sauces, Olivedaise is as good cold as hot. For a buffet supper or luncheon, it's delicious served chilled over white asparagus from a glass jar.

Sauce Olivedaise

1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons soft butter
⅓ cup stuffed green olives, sliced
2 to 4 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash of Worcestershire sauce

Mix all ingredients together. Just before serving, heat over low heat, stirring frequently. Or serve cold on cold vegetables. Yield: 2 cups of sauce.

Tuna Favorite

Serve tuna on cornbread when friends drop in after a football game. Combine 2 cups undiluted evaporated milk, 1½ cups (6 ounches) grated cheddar cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, and 1 tablespoon worchestershire sauce. Stir drained, and ¼ cup canned pimiento strips; stir and heat. Serve over hot cornbread made from a mix. Serves 6.

Egg And You

NEW YORK (UPI) — Omelette flamed with orange liqueur makes a delicious, impressive vrunch dish. Separate 2 eggs; beat yolks lightly with 2 teaspoons of water beat whites until they stand in stiff peaks. Fold whites into yolks Fold in 1 teaspoon of sugar.

Heat 2 tablespoons of butter in an omelette pan. Pour in eggs and cook until set and slightly brown. Turn and cook other side. Place in preheated dish. Sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar. Warm slightly 2 ounches of orange liqueur and 1 ounce of cognac. Ignite. Baste omelette with flaming liqueur. Serves 2.

Late Evening Snack, a hot open sandwich: Toast bread on one side under the broiler. Cover untoasted side with sharp cheddar cheese and canned apple slices. Top with bacon and grill until bacon is crisp and cheese is melted.

Canned Luncheon Meats Good For Emergencies

Canned meats offer the modern homemaker a great variety of meats and meat combinations. Canned meats, including ham and luncheon meat, are quite valuable to you during the summer months when so many activities are demanding your time. They mean meals in short order.

The 12-ounce can of luncheon meat is especially convenient. It's readily available and easily stored. These cans do not require refrigeration and may wait on your pantry shelf for those emergency, hurry-up meals.

Luncheon meat has many uses; it can be sliced and used as a sandwich filler or combined in a dinner-in-one casserole dish. Here's a tempting way of preparing it. Simply broil luncheon meat slices with a nippy topping of mustard, horseradish and brown sugar.

Broiled Luncheon Meat

1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon mustard
½ teaspoon horseradish

Remove the meat from the can. Cut into 8 slices. Place on broiler rack. Combine brown sugar, mustard and horseradish and brush over each slice. Broil 5 minutes. 4 servings.

Do-It-Yourself Salad

To fix salad, line a platter with Bibb or iceberg lettuce. On top of the lettuce arrange in rows: thinly sliced tomatoes, cucumber, radishes, celery, chopped green pepper, chopped ripe olives and all other crisp and colorful salad "fixin's." Top off your unique salad with crumbled zesty American blue cheese.

Honeydew Sparkle

1 package lime flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon curacao
½ cup heavy cream
3 tablespoons sugar
1 cup seedless grapes
½ cup chopped celery
1 cup honeydew balls

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Chill till semi-jelled. Whip cream and add sugar and curacao. Fold gelatin into the cream mixture. Add seedless grapes, finely chopped celery and melon balls. Put mixture in 1½ quart mold. Chill till firm, wrapped tightly in saran. Unmold on a cold plate lined with lettuce leaves. Garnish with sprigs of mint, chunks of melon. Makes 5-6 servings.

Serve with chicken, cold slices of ham and/or turkey.

NOTE: Plate may be prepared an hour in advance and overwrapped with saran. Refrigerate until time to use.

Marvelous Bologna Recipe Stops The Old Joke

Many a famous quip about food was created because the author was at the mercy of a poor cook. Take the one which goes "No matter how thin you slice it, it's still bologna." That one would never have been born if the author had tasted bologna prepared this imaginative way. Try it and see for yourself.

Bologna Barbecue

1 6-7 lb. wide bologna (for 20-24 servings; buy less for smaller party)
8 oz. Cheddar cheese, sliced
1 can prepared barbecue sauce
Package of potato chips

About 1½ hours before serving, remove casing from bologna; make 6 or 7 diagonal cuts, eacn about 4" long, and 1" deep across top. Lay bologna, diagonally on two large cookie sheets, placed end to end. Preheat oven to 350°, about 10 minutes before cooking.

In saucepan, heat barbecue sauce to boiling point. Brush top and sides of bologna with sauce. Bake 1 hr. or until tester inserted through meat feels warm, basting meat occasionally with sauce.

When bologna is ready, place 1 slice of cheese folded over 1 large potato chip in each slit. Return meat to oven for a minute or so. Then remove bologna with two large spatulas to large platter or board. Insert skewer as pictured. Reheat sauce and let guests serve themselves. Arrange a few slices of bologna on platter to start.

Fill packaged sponge cake shells with vanilla ice cream, top with cranberry sauce, beaten till "saucy." Pretty with a dollop of whipped cream for a lazy day dessert.

Glamour Treatment For Vegetables

A simple sauce you can mix in minutes is all it takes to turn vegetables into mealtime stars. Served with Olivedaise, asparagus or artichokes are truly elegant party fare. But what the sauce does for everyday vegetables such as carrots, broccoli, and cauliflower must be tasted to be believed.

Sauce Olivedaise takes its smooth texture from mayonnaise and its spirited flavor from sliced, stuffed olives. It's easy to mix at the last minute, but may be made in advance and stored in the refrigerator.

Unlike most sauces, Olivedaise is as good cold as hot. For a buffet supper or luncheon, it's delicious served chilled over white asparagus from a glass jar.

Sauce Olivedaise

1 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons soft butter
⅓ cup stuffed green olives, sliced
2 to 4 tablespoons lemon juice
Dash of Worcestershire sauce

Mix all ingredients together. Just before serving, heat over low heat, stirring frequently. Or serve cold on cold vegetables. Yield: 2 cups of sauce.

Tuna Favorite

Serve tuna on cornbread when friends drop in after a football game. Combine 2 cups undiluted evaporated milk, 1½ cups (6 ounches) grated cheddar cheese, 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, and 1 tablespoon worchestershire sauce. Stir drained, and ¼ cup canned pimiento strips; stir and heat. Serve over hot cornbread made from a mix. Serves 6.

Egg And You

NEW YORK (UPI) — Omelette flamed with orange liqueur makes a delicious, impressive vrunch dish. Separate 2 eggs; beat yolks lightly with 2 teaspoons of water beat whites until they stand in stiff peaks. Fold whites into yolks Fold in 1 teaspoon of sugar.

Heat 2 tablespoons of butter in an omelette pan. Pour in eggs and cook until set and slightly brown. Turn and cook other side. Place in preheated dish. Sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar. Warm slightly 2 ounches of orange liqueur and 1 ounce of cognac. Ignite. Baste omelette with flaming liqueur. Serves 2.

Canned Luncheon Meats Good For Emergencies

Canned meats offer the modern homemaker a great variety of meats and meat combinations. Canned meats, including ham and luncheon meat, are quite valuable to you during the summer months when so many activities are demanding your time. They mean meals in short order.

The 12-ounce can of luncheon meat is especially convenient. It's readily available and easily stored. These cans do not require refrigeration and may wait on your pantry shelf for those emergency, hurry-up meals.

Luncheon meat has many uses; it can be sliced and used as a sandwich filler or combined in a dinner-in-one casserole dish. Here's a tempting way of preparing it. Simply broil luncheon meat slices with a nippy topping of mustard, horseradish and brown sugar.

Broiled Luncheon Meat

1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon mustard
½ teaspoon horseradish

Remove the meat from the can. Cut into 8 slices. Place on broiler rack. Combine brown sugar, mustard and horseradish and brush over each slice. Broil 5 minutes. 4 servings.

Do-It-Yourself Salad

To fix salad, line a platter with Bibb or iceberg lettuce. On top of the lettuce arrange in rows: thinly sliced tomatoes, cucumber, radishes, celery, chopped green pepper, chopped ripe olives and all other crisp and colorful salad "fixin's." Top off your unique salad with crumbled zesty American blue cheese.

Honeydew Sparkle

1 package lime flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
1 tablespoon curacao
½ cup heavy cream
3 tablespoons sugar
1 cup seedless grapes
½ cup chopped celery
1 cup honeydew balls

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Chill till semi-jelled. Whip cream and add sugar and curacao. Fold gelatin into the cream mixture. Add seedless grapes, finely chopped celery and melon balls. Put mixture in 1½ quart mold. Chill till firm, wrapped tightly in saran. Unmold on a cold plate lined with lettuce leaves. Garnish with sprigs of mint, chunks of melon. Makes 5-6 servings.

Serve with chicken, cold slices of ham and/or turkey.

NOTE: Plate may be prepared an hour in advance and overwrapped with saran. Refrigerate until time to use.

VISITORS TO Puerto Rico tell us enthusiastic tales of the savory fried pastries — small pies or turnovers — offered all over that Island.

Tried in our kitchen, we found this rule produced a crisp but substantial pastry and a meat filling with interesting flavor.

These pastries are small: three-inch rounds of the dough are folded in half, edges are crimped to seal, and then the turnovers are made golden and crispy in hot deep fat. They're just the right size for party snacks, convenient to eat out of hand.

Make these pastelillos a head, if you like, and store them in the freezer to fry just before serving. We tried a batch this way, storing them for a couple of weeks, and found this method worked well.

This recipe produces dozens of pastries for a big party. If there are any leftover, reheat them in the oven to serve with a soup or salad for lunch or supper.

A last word. If you're generous with the "rounded teaspoon" of filling the recipe directions specify for each pastry, you may have a little dough leftover; if so, cover it tightly and refrigerate. Then when a preschooler is in the kitchen, give it to him "cook" with. The dough is non-to sticky and stretchy. A three-year-old visitor to our kitchen had an enchanting time pulling and shaping it!

PUERTO RICAN MEAT PASTRIES

1 pound ground chuch beef
½ cup ground salt pork
½ cup ground ham
1 cup chopped fresh tomatoes
1/3 cup chopped green olives
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
¼ teaspoon instant minced garlic
1 teaspoon salt
1¼ teaspoon oregano leaves
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1/16 teaspoon cayenne
1 tablespoon capers
2 hard-cooked large eggs chopped
Special pastry

In a 1½-quart saucepan, cook the beef, salt pork and ham. Stirring often. Add the tomatoes, olives, onion, garlic, salt, oregano, black pepper, cayenne and capers and cook 10 minutes. Remove from heat; add chopped eggs; mix well; cool. Roll out one-quarter of the pastry at a time so it is very thin. Using a 3-inch cookie cutter, cut into rounds. Place a rounded teaspoon of the cold meat filling on each. Fold the dough over to form a half circle. Crimp edges with a fork; prick the top. Fry in hot deep fat (365 to 375 degrees) until golden. Drain on paper toweling or brown paper. Serve hot. Makes 7 dozen.

SPECIAL PASTRY

4 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup shortening
1 large egg
1 cup water

Sift together the flour and salt into a mixing bowl. Cut in shortening until it is in fine particles. Beat egg enough to combine yolk and white; add water and beat to combine. Stir egg mixture into flour mixture. Turn out on a prepared pastry cloth and knead about half a minute or until the dough is smooth.

November Plentiful Foods

Like our forebearers who rested from their labors and gave thanks to the Lord, Americans this Thanksgiving have cause to rejoice for the year's good crops and food in abundance. As befits the post-harvest season, November will be a time of plenty, with the traditional festive foods in most ample supply, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Turkeys and cranberries, the old-time choice, will be the leading items at the food markets in November, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, which monthly lists the chief foods in plentiful supply. In addition, apple and grape crops have yielded well, assuring good variety for the month's fruit needs. Storage houses are again bulging with a bumper fall potato crop. And from the sea, Maine fishermen have garnered a fine catch of sardines.

As Thanksgiving nears, turkey flocks will come pouring into Northeast poultry farms, a sight to please the small fry. This year's crop of gobblers is a huge one—93 to 94 million birds, compared with 92-⅛ million in 1962. Turkeys of all sizes will be abundant for holiday needs, for turkey encore dishes afterward, and even for appetite-teasers in the prior weeks to help build up for the big event.

The third largest cranberry crop of record is forecast for 1963—1,317,600 barrels. Although Massachusetts and New Jersey have smaller harvests than a year ago, local markets will have plenty of both fresh and processed berries. Chilled cranberry juice or a bowlful of cranberry punch, homemade fresh cranberry garnish or convenient jellied or whole cranberry muffins, and cranberry pie or other dessert are all expected features of the Thanksgiving meal.

Fill your refrigerator with apples of all varieties—for eating out-of-hand, for cooking, baking, and for party dunking. It's a good year again for apples. The nation's orchards will yield some 122-¼ million bushels of apples for 1963, a slightly above average harvest. This excellent and versatile fruit will be as economical in the weeks ahead as in November a year ago, one of the best values at the fruit stands.

California table grapes continue in abundance, the result of this year's outstanding crop—620,000 tons compared with 578,000 tons last year. In heaviest supply in November will be the colorful Emperors, with some Tokays also available.

For all November meals and for some time to come, count on plenty of potatoes. The fall crop, the year's major crop that will supply us through the seasons ahead, is well above average—over 19 billion pounds—and almost equal to the big 1962 crop. Serve potatoes in a hundred—or even more—ways, in meals and snacks for both festive and everyday occasions.

Preparing a tray of hors d' oeuvres when company's coming? A sandwich lunch? A hearty main-dish salad or a tasty tossed green salad? Maine sardines are a "natural." And they're remarkable reasonably priced, too, for such a tempting and nutritious protein food. Supplies are now exceptionally bountiful. Current inventories come to some 1-⅛ million cases, almost 50 percent more than considered nomal at this time of year.

Cottage Cheese Peach Ice Cream

1 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1 cup milk
1 cup cottage cheese, sieved
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1 egg white, unbeaten
1 cup crushed peaches
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine sugar and salt in the top of a double boiler. Stir in egg yolks and milk. Place over hot water (not boiling). Stir and cook until custard coats a metal spoon. Cool over ice water or very cold water. Fold in sieved cottage cheese and pure vanilla and almond extracts. Turn into ice cube trays and freeze until mixture has frozen to a firm mush. Remove from freezer and turn into a mixing bowl. Add egg white and beat with an electric beater until fluffy and increased in volume. Mix crushed peaches with lemon juice and fold into the mixture along with whipped cream. Return to ice cube trays and freeze until firm.

YIELD: 2 quarts.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bananas can be used in everything from cakes to cabinets and from sherberts to shelving.

The sweet yellow fruit has been a North American favorite for eating and cooking since 1870, when a New England schooner master brought the first commercial shipment from er of Wellfleet, Mass., later became a founder of the United Fruit Co., now the world's largest producer and marketer of bananas.

A company spokesman says another Caribbean port was an important way-station on bananas' route to south and Central American tropics from its first known home in southern Asia. A Spanish priest, Father Tomas de Berlanga, took plants to Santo Domingo (now part of the Dominican Republic) from which other travelers carried them to Latin America.

Bananas had been reported in India as early as 327 B.C. by the armies of Alexander the Great. They were mentioned in Sanskrit and early Chinese literature, said the company.

An early antecedent of the banana split was described by an Arab poet in 927 A.D., as a honey, nut and oil-flavored banana confection sold in the bazaars of Cairo and Damascus.

A few bananas brought into this country during Puritan times were rejected by the stern sect, not because of the rich flavor, but because Puritan cooks boiled the unfamiliar fruit in its skin, a cooking method hardly calculated to achieve peak flavor and texture.

Benjamin Disraeli, the novelist who later became a British prime minister, was more enthusiastic when he tasted the fruit during a visit ttheL -eovant in 1839. He wrote his sister that it was "the most delicious thing in the world."

Meantime, Latin Americans had learned to bake, boil and fry both green and ripe bananas, to serve them as fruit or as a substitute for potatoes and other starchy vegetables.

Central and South Americans use up to 15 different varieties of bananas, most of them unknown here, said the fruit company.

Bananas for building are an experimental product of the space age, developed by a scientist looking for compact, multi-purpose emergency food for space flight. One national magazine said the scientist baked under hydraulic pressure a cereal blend containing banana flakes. He said that the resulting material, hard and strong enough for cabinets and shelving, was edible after several hours soaking in water. He added that it tasted like cereal with bananas.

Banana Surprise

Moulded cereal with banana surprise was one of the earliest recipes developed by United Fruit Co. home economists for its 1904 "receipe" booklet.

Turn any left-over breakfast cereal, while still hot, into cups rinsed in cold water, half filling the cups. When cold, scoop out the centers, and fill the open spaces with sliced bananas; turn from the cups onto a buttered agate pan, fruit downward, and set into a hot over to become very hot. Remove with a broad bladed knife to cereal dishes. Serve at once with sugar and cream or milk.

Capered Kid

1½ lbs. veal
¼ c. seasoned flour
¼ c. salad oil
1 clove garlic
1 c. port wine
¼ c. water
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 lge. sliced onion
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
3 whole cloves
½ c. crushed potato chips
1 can tomato paste plus
3 cans water
½ c. sliced mushrooms
4 tbsp. commercial sour cream

Slice veal into paper thin pieces, 1½" square. Brush with flour. Heat oil in heavy skillet, add veal and garlic. Brown, then remove garlic. Add wine, ¼ c. water, lemon juice, sliced onion, bay leaf, salt, pepper and cloves. Simmer gently 45 min. Remove cloves, add tomato paste, water and mushrooms, simmer 15 min. longer. Add potato chips. Stir, then cook another 10 min. Serve in individual casseroles, topped with sour cream (1 tbsp. per casserole). Serves 4.

Here's Special Dinner For Busy Career Girl

If you career girls have ever invited a date to your place for dinner, you know what a problem planning the meal can be. Everything has to be extra special, but you can't be in the kitchen fussing with the cooking when the doorbell rings.

This elegant recipe for Chicken Continental gives you the last hour free for other preparations while the main course finishes itself. Besides delicious flavor, this dish has a hidden bonus — the ingredients are inexpensive enough to fit in even with a working girl's budget.

To get to that man's heart through his stomach, Chicken Continental is baked in a delectable sauce made with sour cream, paprika, and a touch of dry white wine.

CHICKEN CONTINENTAL

Serves 2-3

Salt
3 tablespoon butter
1 small onion, minced
2 teaspoons paprika
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chicken stock
3 tablespoons dry white wine
½ cup dairy sour cream

Rinse chicken with water and pat dry. Sprinkle with salt. Melt butter in 19-inch chicken fryer. Saute chicken until golden brown; remove from pan.

Add onion and paprika to butter in fryer; cook until onion is tender. Blend in flour and salt. Gradually add chicken stock, stirring constantly, until thickened. Blend in wine and sour cream.

She's Given Up Guessing

It's always great cheddar . . . every single time . . . when you get the cheese marked Cracker Barrel. This is the natural cheese accurately marked for flavor: Mellow—Sharp—Extra Sharp. And it's always as fresh as though it had been cut before your very eyes: Cracker Barrel's double-strength aluminum foil takes good care of that.

Cracker Barrel is more than just good cheese—it's a real pleasure. Naturally it comes from Kraft.

Stir egg mixture into flour mixture. Turn out on a prepared pastry cloth and knead about half a minute or until the dough is smooth.

November Plentiful Foods

Like our forebearers who rested from their labors and gave thanks to the Lord, Americans this Thanksgiving have cause to rejoice for the year's good crops and food in abundance. As befits the post-harvest season, November will be a time of plenty, with the traditional festive foods in most ample supply, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Turkeys and cranberries, the old-time choice, will be the leading items at the food markets in November, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, which monthly lists the chief foods in plentiful supply. In addition, apple and grape crops have yielded well, assuring good variety for the month's fruit needs. Storage houses are again bulging with a bumper fall potato crop. And from the sea, Maine fishermen have garnered a fine catch of sardines.

As Thanksgiving nears, turkey flocks will come pouring into Northeast poultry farms, a sight to please the small fry. This year's crop of gobblers is a huge one—93 to 94 million birds, compared with 92-⅓ million in 1962. Turkeys of all sizes will be abundant for holiday needs, for turkey encore dishes afterward, and even for appetite-teasers in the prior weeks to help build up for the big event.

The third largest cranberry crop of record is forecast for 1963 —1,317,600 barrels. Although Massachusetts and New Jersey have smaller harvests than a year ago, local markets will have plenty of both fresh and processed berries. Chilled cranberry juice or a bowlful of cranberry punch, homemade fresh cranberry garnish or convenient jellied or whole cranberry muffins, and cranberry pie or other dessert are all expected features of the Thanksgiving meal.

Fill your refrigerator with apples of all varieties—for eating out-of-hand, for cooking, baking, and for party dunking. It's a good year again for apples. The nation's orchards will yield some 122-¼ million bushels of apples for 1963, a slightly above average harvest. This excellent and versatile fruit will be as economical in the weeks ahead as in November a year ago, one of the best values at the fruit stands.

California table grapes continue in abundance, the result of this year's outstanding crop—620,000 tons compared with 578,000 tons last year. In heaviest supply in November will be the colorful Emperors, with some Tokays also available.

For all November meals and for some time to come, count on plenty of potatoes. The fall crop, the year's major crop that will supply us through the seasons ahead, is well above average—over 19 billion pounds—and almost equal to the big 1962 crop. Serve potatoes in a hundred—or even more—ways, in meals and snacks for both festive and everyday occasions.

Preparing a tray of hors d' oeuvres when company's coming? A sandwich lunch? A hearty main-dish salad or a tasty tossed green salad? Maine sardines are a "natural." And they're remarkable reasonably priced, too, for such a tempting and nutritious protein food. Supplies are now exceptionally bountiful. Current inventories come to some 1-⅓ million cases, almost 50 percent more than considered nomal at this time of year.

Cottage Cheese Peach Ice Cream

1 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
1 cup milk
1 cup cottage cheese, sieved
2 teaspoons pure vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract
1 egg white, unbeaten
1 cup crushed peaches
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine sugar and salt in the top of a double boiler. Stir in egg yolks and milk. Place over hot water (not boiling). Stir and cook until custard coats a metal spoon. Cool over ice water or very cold water. Fold in sieved cottage cheese and pure vanilla and almond extracts. Turn into ice cube trays and freeze until mixture has frozen to a firm mush. Remove from freezer and turn into a mixing bowl. Add egg white and beat with an electric beater until fluffy and increased in volume. Mix crushed peaches with lemon juice and fold into the mixture along with whipped cream. Return to ice cube trays and freeze until firm.

YIELD: 2 quarts.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bananas can be used in everything from cakes to cabinets and from sherberts to shelving.

The sweet yellow fruit has been a North American favorite for eating and cooking since 1870, when a New England schooner master brought the first commercial shipment from er of Wellfleet, Mass., later became a founder of the United Fruit Co., now the world's largest producer and marketer of bananas.

A company spokesman says another Caribbean port was an important way-station on bananas' route to south and Central American tropics from its first known home in southern Asia. A Spanish priest, Father Tomas de Berlanga, took plants to Santo Domingo (now part of the Dominican Republic) from which other travelers carried them to Latin America.

Bananas had been reported in India as early as 327 B.C. by the armies of Alexander the Great. They were mentioned in Sanskrit and early Chinese literature, said the company.

An early antecedent of the banana split was described by an Arab poet in 927 A.D., as a honey, nut and oil-flavored banana confection sold in the bazaars of Cairo and Damascus.

A few bananas brought into this country during Puritan times were rejected by the stern sect, not because of the rich flavor, but because Puritan cooks boiled the unfamiliar fruit in its skin, a cooking method hardly calculated to achieve peak flavor and texture.

Benjamin Disraeli, the novelist who later became a British prime minister, was more enthusiastic when he tasted the fruit during a visit tthcL -eo vant in 1839. He wrote his sister that it was "the most delicious thing in the world."

Meantime, Latin Americans had learned to bake, boil and fry both green and ripe bananas, to serve them as fruit or as a substitute for potatoes and other starchy vegetables.

Central and South Americans use up to 15 different varieties of bananas, most of them unknown here, said the fruit company.

Bananas for building are an experimental product of the space age, developed by a scientist looking for compact, multi-purpose emergency food for space flight. One national magazine said the scientist baked under hydraulic pressure a cereal blend containing banana flakes. He said that the resulting material, hard and strong enough for cabinets and shelving, was edible after several hours soaking in water. He added that it tasted like cereal with bananas.

Banana Surprise

Moulded cereal with banana surprise was one of the earliest recipes developed by United Fruit Co. home economists for its 1904 "receipe" booklet.

Turn any left-over breakfast cereal, while still hot, into cups rinsed in cold water, half filling the cups. When cold, scoop out the centers, and fill the open spaces with sliced bananas; turn from the cups onto a buttered agate pan, fruit downward, and set into a hot over to become very hot. Remove with a broad bladed knife to cereal dishes. Serve at once with sugar and cream or milk.

Capered Kid

1½ lbs. veal
¼ c. seasoned flour
¼ c. salad oil
1 clove garlic
1 c. port wine
¼ c. water
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 lge. sliced onion
1 bay leaf
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
3 whole cloves
½ c. crushed potato chips
1 can tomato paste plus
3 cans water
½ c. sliced mushrooms

Slice veal into paper thin pieces, 1½" square. Brush with flour. Heat oil in heavy skillet, add veal and garlic. Brown, then remove garlic. Add wine, ¼ c. water, lemon juice, sliced onion, bay leaf, salt, pepper and cloves. Simmer gently 45 min. Remove cloves, add tomato paste, water and mushrooms, simmer 15 min. longer. Add potato chips. Stir, then cook another 10 min. Serve in individual casseroles, topped with sour cream (1 tbsp. per casserole). Serves 4.

Here's Special Dinner For Busy Career Girl

If you career girls have ever invited a date to your place for dinner, you know what a problem planning the meal can be. Everything has to be extra special, but you can't be in the kitchen fussing with the cooking when the doorbell rings.

This elegant recipe for Chicken Continental gives you the last hour free for other preparations while the main course finishes itself. Besides delicious flavor, this dish has a hidden bonus — the ingredients are inexpensive enough to fit in even with a working girl's budget.

To get to that man's heart through his stomach, Chicken Continental is baked in a delectable sauce made with sour cream, paprika, and a touch of dry white wine.

CHICKEN CONTINENTAL

Serves 2-3

Salt
3 tablespoon butter
1 small onion, minced
2 teaspoons paprika
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chicken stock
3 tablespoons dry white wine
½ cup dairy sour cream

Rinse chicken with water and pat dry. Sprinkle with salt. Melt butter in 19-inch chicken fryer. Saute chicken until golden brown; remove from pan.

Add onion and paprika to butter in fryer; cook until onion is tender. Blend in flour and salt. Gradually add chicken stock, stirring constantly, until thickened. Blend in wine and sour cream.

She's Given Up Guessing

It's always great cheddar . . . every single time . . . when you get the cheese marked Cracker Barrel. This is the natural cheese accurately marked for flavor: Mellow—Sharp—Extra Sharp. And it's always as fresh as though it had been cut before your very eyes: Cracker Barrel's double-strength aluminum foil takes good care of that.

Cracker Barrel is more than just good cheese—it's a real pleasure. Naturally it comes from Kraft.

For Appetite Round-Up Try Western Salad

Although the days of the Wild West are gone forever, the hearty appetites people had in those times haven't disappeared. Most families aren't out herding cattle all day, but even watching cowboys ride the range on T.V. can stir up hunger.

If the members of your family seem to have inherited their appetites from the rangers, you know that taking care of all the hungry "cowpokes" at your house means fixing plenty of good food, including hig, bountiful salads to round out those hearty meals.

Here's a special tossed salad that can fill the bill for all-season eating enjoyment. The recipe for this Westward Ho Salad and all the "fixin's" are easy to get any time of year.

A zesty sour cream dressing tops off the crisp combination of greens, colorful vegetables, and strips of cheddar cheese for a salad that will please the hungriest hand on your ranch.

Westward Ho Salad
(Serves 6-8)

½ medium head lettuce
¼ bunch curly endive
1 (10-ounce) package frozen peas, cooked
1 green pepper, cut into strips
½ cup sliced green onions
1 cup chopped celery
¼ cup pimiento strips
½ cup chopped dill pickle
2 tomatoes, cut into wedges
½ pound cheddar cheese, cut into strips
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon freshly-ground pepper
½ pint (1 cup) dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon horse-radish
½ teaspoon dry mustard

Break washed and drained greens into salad bowl. Add all but last three ingredients and toss lightly. Combine sour cream with horse-radish and dry mustard; spoon over salad and toss lightly.

How To Braise

Braising is a method of meat cookery used for less-tender cuts of meat. The meat is first browned in a heavy utensil in a small amount of fat. The drippings are then poured off and a small amount of liquid added. The utensil is covered tightly and the meat is cooked slowly until tender.

Celery 'Roses' Are Salad Triumph

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

American ingenuity has created some delightful salads with Roquefort cheese.

One of the most interesting of these is made by stuffing celery ribs with a cream cheese and Roquefort cheese mixture. The stuffed ribs are put back in place to re-form the celery bunch and then sliced to make "roses."

When you want a really interesting salad for a company meal, do try this. The stuffed celery may be prepared several hours ahead and stored in the refrigerator. At serving time, you have only to slice and arrange.

The amount of Roquefort called for in this celery stuffing makes a robust-flavored concoction, so two—or at the most three—of the rounds will suffice for each serving.

We offered this salad after a main course of roast beef because the Roquefort and the meat "marry" well. But the salad would also be good after veal or chicken.

Another popular salad: team romaine lettuce, sliced orange rounds and paper-thin onion rings and serve with Roquefort dressing.

The dressing may be made by adding crumbled Rouquefort to seasoned oil-and-vinegar, or to mayonnaise. If you use the latter, you may wish to thin the dressing with buttermilk. Or you can use a combination of mayonnaise and sour cream and then add the cheese.

CELERY ROSES—Even a bride can make them from celery and a Rouquefort and cream cheese stuffing. Serve this stuffed celery, if you like, with lettuce and tomatoes as a company-best salad.

Sherried Coffee Bavarian Cream

(Serves 4 or 5)

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1¼ cups hot, strong coffee
½ cup sugar
Dash of salt
¼ cup California Sherry
Dash of cinnamon
⅓ cup heavy cream, whipped

Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve in hot coffee. Add sugar and salt; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add Sherry and cinnamon; chill. When mixture begins to thicken, beat with a rotary or electric beater until foamy; fold in whipped cream. Pour into a mold that has been rinsed with cold water, or into sherbet glasses; chill until firm. Unmold (unless sherbet glasses are used) and serve with additional whipped cream.

Roquefort Celery Roses

1 large bunch of celery
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
¼ pound Roquefort cheese
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup minced parsley
Lettuce and tomatoes

Remove outer stalks from celery. Cut stem end from celery heart; separate stalks from heart. Cut tops from stalks. Wash celery in cold water; dry thoroughly — this is important — on paper toweling. Have cream cheese and Roquefort cheese at room temperature; beat with Worcestershire and parsley until smooth. Spread cavities of celery stalks with the cheese mixture, leveling off. Replace stuffed stalks as close as possible to re-form the original shape of the bunch. Wrap tightly in waxed paper or transparent plastic wrapping. Chill for several hours. At serving time arrange lettuce on plates and sliced tomatoes on lettuce. Cut celery into ¼-inch thick rounds and place on tomato slices. Makes 8 to 12 servings.

Green Goddess Dip Is Ideal Half-Time Snack

When the crowd comes to your house to watch football on television, why not provide them with some half-time snacks. Chips and dips are wecome additions to any party and Green Goddess Dip is a safe bet for scoring points.

Green Goddess is a delicious dip made with avocado and sour cream. This dip is even more tasty when prepared beforehand and the flavors have a chance to blend.

GREEN GODDESS DIP
(Yield: 2½ cups)

1 soft ripe avocado
1 cup sour cream
½ cup chopped parsley
¼ cup minced shallots (or bulbs of green onion)
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
¼ cup mayonnaise

Watermelon Pink Sherbet

1 cup water
2 cups watermelon pulp, pureed
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon fresh lime juice

Boil sugar and water together until it spins a fine thread. Cool syrup. Add salt, lemon and lime juice and cooled syrup to watermelon puree. Stir. Put in paper cup, or loaf pan for slices or for scooping into ice cream cones. Overwrap container with saran. Place in freezer section overnight. Makes 2-½cups sherbet.

Costly Friendship For A Senator

Doubtless the public by this time is inured to those $100 dinners which supply the oil for both party machines. Except for the victims, such shakedowns have been accepted with more or less resignation. They help finance party headquarters, their staffs, the buttons, banners and other staples of national, state and local campaigns.

But from Washington comes word of a new and personalized twist in fund raising. It was disclosed by Representative Bolton of Ohio, one of the more alert members of Congress. In consequence he has lodged a serious conflict-of-interest charge against a Cabinet officer, Secretary of Labor Wirtz, and the Democratic Senator from New Jersey, Harrison A. Williams Jr.

Briefly, Representative Bolton charges that lobbyists and trade associations, both with a substantial stake in legislation and government regulation, are being solicited for contributions — priced at $200 a couple — for a Washington cocktail party for Senator Williams. Secretary Wirtz is billed as the host.

Whether the "Friends of Senator Williams" show up for the reception seems to be immaterial for the invitation suggests that if they cannot come, they can just send the money.

What is Mr. Williams' answer? He says Bolton's accusations are "Republican politics." Of course, that is no answer—it's an evasion.

Either lobbyists and trade associations are being solicited or they are not. Either Williams intends to take the money or he does not.

And for what purpose is this fund, estimated by Representative Bolton at $50,000, being raised? Is it a personal fund, party fund, charitable fund, campaign fund or what?

Even in the prevailing ethical climate, a U.S. Senator owes a responsive explanation of this kind of business to his constituents.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Good Heart, No Brains

In 1958 and 1959 the Chinese Communist Party decreed that the fields of China could produce twice as much food if close-sowing of seed were made the rule. But the Communist Party, out of the depths of its abysmal ignorance of farming, failed to provide the fertilizer that is necessary to support close-sowing. When a plague of locusts came along to add to the Chinese peasant's troubles, the result was famine.

In 1960 and 1961, Chiang Kai-shek would have liked to dare an intensified guerrilla infiltration of the starving Chinese mainland from Formosa. But the U. S. State Department, out of its abysmal ignorance of good psycho-warfare and parliamentary opportunities, refused to encourage Chiang Kai-shek. Just recently the State Department has admitted that a good opportunity was muffed because of our unwillingness to take advantage of the Great Flop in China.

But do we ever really learn? Do we really want to stop Communism anywhere? We have opportunities now in eastern Europe and in Cuba that have been presented to us on a platter by crop failures deriving from bad agricultural practices complicated by natural calamities. Instead of intensifying the pressures on the Communists in eastern Europe and in Castroland, we feel sorry for our enemies. As was the case in 1960 and 1961 vis-a-vis a tottering Red China, we present a picture of "good heart, no brains."

In a letter to Senator Frank Lausche, Democrat of Ohio, Dr. Bela Fabian, the exiled Hungarian, has presented some extremely illuminating figures bearing on the failure of Khrushchev's attempt to turn desert into good wheatlands. Since 1954 more than ninety million acres of virgin land have been put under the plow in the Soviet Union. By deporting "volunteers" to the dry reaches of Soviet Asia, Khrushchev tripled his "new lands" farmers. He also provided them with plenty of mechanical harvesters and tractors. But the farm machinery has, in many instances, been sabotaged, and the farm "volunteers" have indulged in slow-downs. Not only is Khrushchev unable to feed the Russians, he is also unable to feed the crop-deficient satellites of Poland, Hungary, and Czechoslovakia.

In Cuba, Fidel Castro was having a hard time with his sugar, coffee and cocoa harvests. He had also managed to decimate Cuban cattle production. To get his sugar cane cut and his coffee beans picked, the bearded tyrant had to fall back on school children who were sent to the plantations on a "get out the harvest or else" basis. Then along came Hurricane Flora to play a disastrous role in Cuba comparable to the locust plague in China and the droughts in the Soviet Union.

From its network of Cuban sources, Daniel James's "Free Cuba News" has collected a mine of information bearing on what the hurricane has done to put Castro on the ropes. According to Mr. James, the three provinces affected most by the hurricane, Oriente, Camaguey, and Las Villas, contain 16,700,000 out of the total arable Cuban farmland of 22,400,000 acres. The winds of Flora, blowing at 120 and more miles per hour, brought rains and floods that ruined the standing crops on some 16,000,000 acres.

When Castro took stock of his farm situation after Flora had passed out to sea he found that his cocoa crop had been wiped out. Seventy per cent of the potential rice harvest had been ruined, sugar had been reduced fifty percent, coffee expectations had been cut sixty-five percent. In Oriente and Camaguey, sixty-one sugar mills had suffered heavy damage and, according to Dr. Tulio Diaz Rivera, president of the Cuban Economic Corporations in Exile, "may very well be beyond repair since the Soviets cannot replace the destroyed parts."

If the U.S. and the rest of the West had only been prepared, they might have used the Russian crop failures as a lever to pry many concessions from Khrushchev. The wheat-surplus nations might have said: "Knock holes in the Berlin Wall and we'll deliver our wheat through the gaps." And if the Cuban exiles had really been permitted to reorganize after the Bay of Pigs, they would have been in position to follow Hurrican Flora into the eastern provinces of Camaguey and Oriente.

Well, opportunity knocks but once. But even if it knocked twice we'd never be ready anyway. For better or worse, we're like a heavyweight champ without a killer instinct.

'Lady Bird–How About Another World Trip?'

Cuba Analysts Suffer From 'Keating Syndrome'

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

When Gov. Averell Harriman was in Moscow, Nikita S. Khrushchev twice assured him that all Russian troops would eventually be brought home from Cuba. "Why should we keep them there?" Khrushchev asked and added that the men of the Red Army did not like being there, either, because of the steamy Cuban climate.

Soviet Foreign Secretary Andrei Gromyko has made comparable statements to Secretary of State Dean Rusk. And these Soviet assertions are now worth recalling because there is considerable evidence that Khrushchev is still being as good—or almost as good—as his word to Harriman.

Whenever Cuba is the topic, to be sure, the American analysts suffer from what perhaps can be be called the Sen. Keating syndrome. In other words, the analysts are very timid in the face of good news for fear that they will later be accused of gullibility and over-optimism.

Thus no one is getting up on the roof to cheer because no less than 1,800 Soviet troops are known to have gone home from Cuba within the short space of one recent week. The conservative response to this rather massive re-deployment is explained on the ground that the troops sent home may later be replaced—which is entirely possible, of course.

All the same, despite the effect of the Keating syndrome on the analysts, their figure for the number of Soviet personnel in Cuba has been shrinking continuously and impressively. From an estimated peak of 21,000 Russians, the figure has now dropped to 5,000 to 8,000; and the reduction appears to be continuing.

Parallel with this reduction has gone another process. Cuban units have been trained to use the arms and other equipment of the Russian units formerly stationed in Cuba, and as the Russians have been phased out, they have handed over their material to the Cubans.

In the case of the most important remaining Russian equipment, the SAM-11 anti-aircraft rockets, the handover has been incomplete. The SAM-IIs themselves are still emplaced as before, but their most advanced electronic control mechanisms have been returned to the Soviet Union, presumably because the Soviets do not wish to leave behind such highly secret equipment.

This does not mean that the SAM-IIs have ceased to be capable of shooting down the U. S. reconnaissance aircraft that continue to fly over Cuba each week. But it does mean, presumably, that the SAM-IIs are eventually destined, like the rest of the Soviet military materiel, to be handed over to the Cubans.

The first question, therefore is how far this Russian redeployment out of Cuba is going to go. The cautious answer currently favored here is that the Russians will finally cut the number of their troops in Cuba down to the level of a smallish training mission, like an American MAAG.

The members of this training mission will then be described as "technicians." While promising to bring his troops home, Khrushchev has always reserved the right to leave "technicians" in Cuba; and thus he will fulfill the letter of his bargain.

There is another question, furthermore, which also deserves examination. Reports from Eastern Europe persist that the Soviets, Czechs, and other Cuban trading partners in the Communist bloc have decided to be much less generous in their future dealings with the Castro government. These reports are given some color of probability, by the niggardliness of the first Soviet offer of post-hurricane aid to Castro.

Khrushchev offered only the equivalent of $90,000 on the first round. When Mao Tse-tung then came through with an offer of $1 million, the Soviet offer was amplified with a grab-bag of extras. Yet the first offer does seem to indicate the drift of Soviet thinking about handouts to the Castro regime.

Meanwhile, Castro's need for handouts is mounting continuously, and not just because of the devastation wrought by the hurricane. The Cuban economy is in ruins. Misery is mounting. Under the prick of want, signs are beginning to appear that Cubans are far from ideal raw material for a Communist state. The possibility of a sudden change in Cuba used to be absolutely excluded, but now, although not exactly predicted, it is no longer ruled out.

All this is both deeply interesting in itself and full of domestic political interest, too. The Republicans, who have made such a play with Cuba, will suffer proportionately if there is an abrupt change there. And even if there is no change, they will not be able to make much further play with Cuba if the Russian contingent in Havana is finally reduced to a mere 2,000 to 3,000 advisory personnel.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PROGRESS NOTE — A look at today's youth is convincing evidence that a male version of the beauty shop can't be far away. But until a Washington barbers' convention, no one realized it was so close.

This particular barber we're talking about has developed something he calls a "sculptur-kut" hair-do for men. He spells it that way because it is the only way he can get the name trademarked.

He "cuts" men's hair with a comb and razor, rather than with a scissors and clippers. And, of course, the shaping is designed to project your personality, accentuate the better points of your facial features, and generally make you a more handsome and attractive male.

Toward the end of the rather complicated process he utilizes a hair trainer—it's a hair net, but that sounds too feminine. With the net in place the hair is dried with a specially designed device, brushed, combed, highlighted with a dash of coloring and, finally, treated with a hair spray. The charge is $4.50.

When the "patient" inevitably asks how he's going to keep his hair in place, a can of male hair spray is placed before him — at a slight $1.50 additional cost. And there you have it. What male in the years — or weeks — ahead will be able to resist this new movement toward putting his best foot, or head, forward?

Nearly all of 'em, we guess.

Cold, White Hands From Raynaud's Syndrome

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Cold hands usually mean poor circulation, not a warm heart, as the saying goes. The condition is more prevalent in women than men, and in the high-strung rather than the placid. Low metabolism also is associated with coldness of the skin and the same can be said of debility.

Most young people with cold hands and feet ought to forget it; the disorder is not serious and is difficult to correct. The caliber of the smaller arteries is governed by the nervous system and the flow of blood is sluggish because of an inherent tendency to be tense, nervous, and easily upset by trivialities. Many of these young people have other manifestations of jitteriness, but all this improves with maturity.

Raynaud's syndrome is a more distressing circulatory disturbance of the extremities. Skin coldness is associated with changes in color and these symptoms are brought on by chilly weather or by emotional upheavals. There is involvement of one or more fingers and toes.

Dr. Maurice Raynaud's first case was a Madame X who ". . . had been subject since childhood to an infirmity which makes her an object of curiosity to her acquaintances. Any sudden cooling of the atmosphere, even in summer, would cause her fingers to become bloodless, without feeling, and of a whitish-yellow color. She would wring them violently or soak them in lukewarm water; whereupon the vascular spasm would gradually relax, to be succeeded by a very painful reaction."

We have not improved too much on this treatment, except in the more serious forms of the disease. Many of the victims dread winter but learn, as the years pass, how wise it is to wear warmer clothing. Two pairs of gloves and hose will be useful in preventing the manifestations so long as the body is kept warm with long underwear and a warm coat. Going south is not the answer because the spasms may develop whenever the individual becomes excited, embarrassed, or angry. Smoking has little effect on this condition.

Many need counseling on how to live with Raynaud's and reassurance that they will not lose the affected digits. Sedatives, tranquilizers, and psychotherapy have proved helpful for those whose reactions are brought on by emotional disturbances. Surgery (sympathectomy) is done occasionally when the discomfort in the lower extremities is severe.

SMALLPOX IMMUNITY

L. S. writes: I had smallpox while in college in 1918. Am I immune? The immigration authorities question this.

REPLY

Ordinarily one attack gives life protection. But when in doubt, vaccinate. If you are immune there will be little or no reaction.

THE HIVES NUISANCE

F. H. writes: If red welts disappear after taking an antihistaminic product, is it worth while to find and eliminate the cause?

REPLY

Yes, if hives recur often enough to make life miserable.

TEMPORARY PARALYSIS

L. G. writes: How long does paralysis last after a bite by a man-of-war?

REPLY

Several days. It is more painful and alarming than serious.

NUT FATS

S. C. writes: Do nuts supply saturated or unsaturated fats?

REPLY

Mainly unsaturated (up to 97 per cent).

TOMORROW: Arthritis of the fingers.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Into the suggestion box maintained for employes of the Illinois Central Railroad was dropped one day the proposal that wages in one town be paid in cash because both local banks were closed early on payday. The suggestion was approved, but the very first day the new plan went into effect a bandit staged a holdup and made off with the cash.

The varmit was apprehended and you may have guessed who he turned out to be: the employe who had made the suggestion!

Vera Lawrence was elected to a high office in the Pun-American Conference as a result of her story of a father drop and a mother drop in the boundless ocean who were intent upon teaching their young offspring how to be a responsible part of the sea. After a month of intensive training the father observed his son's antics with satisfaction. He then announced to the mother drop, "I do believe we now have taught Junior everything he has to know. I hereby declare him fit to be tide."

Somebody once asked the late composer Jerome Kern, "What is Irving Berlin's place in American music?" Kern replied, "Irving Berlin has no place in American music. He IS American music."

JFK Faces Another Hot Issue In Forthcoming Report On Cigarettes

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — The tobacco tycoons are doing their best to delay and dilute the long-awaited Presidential report on cigarettes and cancer, which should be ready to release by December 15.

Though elaborate precautions have been taken to make sure the report doesn't leak out before it can be edited, this column can state that the individual studies contain overwhelming evidence that smoking can cause not only lung cancer but heart, stomach, bronchial, and other ailments.

These studies are now being boiled down by Dr. Peter Hamill of the National Library of Medicine into a report that should present a devastating case against the tobacco habit.

It will be submitted to pack-a-day smoker Anthony Celebrezze, the efficient, ebullient Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, who hasn't concealed his lack of enthusiasm for battling the tobacco interests.

He has made it plain that he doesn't consider it "the proper role of the federal government to tell citizens to stop smoking."

He puts smoking in the same category as over-eating and over-drinking, insisting privately: "I don't believe that the prohibition of smoking by the federal government would be any more effective than the prohibition of alcohol."

An HEW spokesman assured this column, however, that Celebrezze believes the government has a duty to warn citizens against health hazards.

Celebreeze will send the report up to President Kennedy, who is even less anxious to get his fingers burned by the cigarette controversy. Certainly, he has no desire to antagonize tobacco state Senators and Congressmen while his civil rights reforms and tax cuts are still pending.

When the cigarette subject was brought up at a May, 1962, press conference, the President handled it like a butt that had burned down to his fingers.

"That matter is sensitive enough and the stock market is in sufficient difficulty without my giving you an answer," he hedged. ". . . Perhaps I would be glad to respond to that question in more detail next week."

The following week, he turned the problem over to an advisory committee and announced happily that, "The survey would take some months or go into 1963."

Now the survey is finished, and the President is confronted with another hot issue on the eve of his re-election campaign.

The loudest howls about the Presidential report are coming from the Agriculture Department, which is more concerned about the tobacco crop than public health. If the report is made public on December 15, wail the marketing men, it might hurt the December tobacco auctions.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, who smokes sparingly, is fearful that the report will reduce cigarette sales and damage an important industry.

Apprehension over the forthcoming report is also high at the Federal Trade Commission, which is responsible for regulating dangerous and deceptive advertising.

Eighteen months ago, the commission acknowledged to Senator Maurine Neuberger, D.-Ore., that it has authority to crack down on tobacco advertising. The commission put off her demand action, however, by claiming it needed "competent probative scientific evidence."

This should be furnished by the Presidential committee, thus putting the commission on the spot. It may have no alternative but to require tobacco companies to include a warning of the cigarette hazards in all their newspaper-magazine ads and radio--TV commercials.

Thus the future TV announcer, after declaring sonorously that "thinking men smoke Viceroys," may be obliged to warn the thinking man that cigarettes can cause lung cancer and heart trouble.

The advertising abuses are hit by Senator Neuberger in a book, "Smokescreen," just off the Prentice Hall press.

She checked on commercials, for example, depicting baseball stars Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, and Whitey Ford as contented Camel smokers.

She found that Mantle had smoked Camels briefly, then had switched to Viceroys. But he was last reported using Bantron, an anti-smoking pill.

Maris also had smoked Camels, but had stopped smoking altogether a month before the commercial appeared. The only information the Senator could find on Ford's smoking habits was a sports story quoting him after a shutout victory:

"This was the best I've felt for nine innings since the first game of the World Series against Cincinnati," boasted Ford.

The reason for his improvement: "I quit smoking," said Ford.

The President's study committee on smoking and health has done little original research but has merely summed up the existing information on the tobacco problem. Several distinguished doctors contributed studies.

One of the most convincing reports was submitted by Harvard's noted statistician, Prof. William Cochran, who compiled staggering statistical evidence that cigarettes cause lung cancer, heart trouble, and other ailments.

Although the cancer-causing agents in cigarettes haven't been isolated Pittsburgh University's Dr. Emanuel Farber cited clinical evidence that smoking causes pre-cancer changes in the lung tissue.

Dr. Walter Burdette of the University of Utah contributed a sobering study of the harmful effects on babies of smoking by pregnant women.

It will be interesting to see how much of these studies gets into the final report that comes out of the White House.

Bring Back Flogging

By John Crosby

LONDON — "For my part I must own that I wish the country to be governed by law, but not by lawyers," said Edmund Burke, alas, a long time ago. British law, stiff with tradition, encrusted with robes and wigs and ancient and obsolete practices, is still much swifter and, I think, more sensible than ours.

The other day, to get a sniff of British law at work, I went to the Old Bailey and threaded my way through a chattering mass of witnesses, jurors, bewigged barristers, defendants out on bail, under the great vaulted dome up to the chambers of Judge John Maude. His "chambers" is merely a small oak-lined room with a fireplace, lined with prints of eighteenth century judges conducting trials in their own homes.

Judge Maude, who has a dry wit and the vinegary skepticism of a man with decades of murderers and rapists and other interesting scoundrels under his belt, was already in his robes and gray horsehair wig.

"You want to see something appalling, do you?" he said. Murder. Rape. Fraud. There's a bit of everything here. We sit from 10:30 until 1 p. m. when we recess for lunch. Then we sit from 2 o'clock to 4. It's a jolly tiring day."

It was just 10:30 and the corridors were alive with wigged, begowned, and costumed figures, some in red, some in black, some in what looked like military uniforms. Judge Maude introduced me to the High Sheriff, who is a sight to see in his wig and laces and gold chains: "He will probably one day be Lord Mayor of London," the Judge told me.

In the press room, I introduced myself to Charles Doherty, la white-thatched, courtly gentleman who has covered the Old Bailey for the Times of London for 20 years. "It's very pleasant here," he said. "But the caseload increases every year. When I first came to the Old Bailey there would be 85 cases on the calendar a month, 30 to 40 in slack months. In those days there were three courts sitting. Today we have 400 cases a month, 150 in slack months, and there are eight courts sitting. Crime has gone up in direct proportion to the increase in prosperity. It has skyrocketed since the abolition of flogging."

"Charlie is a relict of feudalism. Don't listen to him," said Ned Connally, the Daily Sketch reporter who is the baby of the press room. We used to think that poverty caused crime and that if we abolished poverty crime would disappear. Now we are beginning to think that prosperity causes crime — the rich countries have far greater crime than the poor ones and the poverty-stricken countries like Spain have almost no crime at all — but this is probably over-simplifying things, too.

In Court No. 1, a red-robed judge with gold-rimmed spectacles on the very tip of his nose, straight out of "Pickwick" he was, sat underneath the lion and the unicorn of Britain carved in oak, a great medieval sword thrusting out from the wall over his head. He was presiding over the murder trial of a stunned young man accused of that most routine of murders — his girl caught out with another man.

In the box was the murdered girl's roommate who told the court of finding the young man just after the murder in the corridor, gun in hand. "Horrified at what he'd done?" asked the defense counsel. "Oh, yes, sir," said the girl.

"His state might be described as extremely distraught?"

"Yes, sir."

"He was dazed?" asked the lawyer.

"He was dazed," agreed the girl.

Old Pickwick Papers on the bench stirred as the girl stepped down. "I'd rather — for your own sake — you didn't stay in those quarters any longer," he said to the girl gently. "Rather harrowing for you, isn't it? But do leave word with the bailiff where you'll be in case we want to call you back, won't you?"

This extreme courtesy and kindliness and humanity toward the innocent is everywhere in the Old Bailey, but it goes hand in hand with a great severity toward law-breaking and lawbreakers. The British are not inclined to weep over murderers as we did over Caryl Chessman, but rather over the victims. Their law is designed to protect society rather than — as ours seems to be — the criminals.

Costly Friendship For A Senator

Doubtless the public by this time is inured to those $100 dinners which supply the oil for both party machines. Except for the victims, such shakedowns have been accepted with more or less resignation. They help finance party headquarters, their staffs, the buttons, banners and other staples of national, state and local campaigns.

But from Washington comes word of a new and personalized twist in fund raising. It was disclosed by Representative Bolton of Ohio, one of the more alert members of Congress. In consequence he has lodged a serious conflict-of-interest charge against a Cabinet officer, Secretary of Labor Wirtz, and the Democratic Senator from New Jersey, Harrison A. Williams Jr.

Briefly, Representative Bolton charges that lobbyists and trade associations, both with a substantial stake in legislation and government regulation, are being solicited for contributions — priced at $200 a couple — for a Washington cocktail party for Senator Williams. Secretary Wirtz is billed as the host.

Whether the "Friends of Senator Williams" show up for the reception seems to be immaterial for the invitation suggests that if they cannot come, they can just send the money.

What is Mr. Williams' answer? He says Bolton's accusations are "Republican politics." Of course, that is no answer—it's an evasion.

Either lobbyists and trade associations are being solicited or they are not. Either Williams intends to take the money or he does not.

And for what purpose is this fund, estimated by Representative Bolton at $50,000, being raised? Is it a personal fund, party fund, charitable fund, campaign fund or what?

Even in the prevailing ethical climate, a U.S. Senator owes a responsive explanation of this kind of business to his constituents.

Apprehension over the forthcoming report is also high at the Federal Trade Commission, which is responsible for regulating dangerous and deceptive advertising.

Eighteen months ago, the commission acknowledged to Senator Maurine Neuberger, D.-Ore., that it has authority to crack down on tobacco advertising. The commission put off her demand action, however, by claiming it needed "competent probative scientific evidence."

This should be furnished by the Presidential committee, thus putting the commission on the spot. It may have no alternative but to require tobacco companies to include a warning of the cigarette hazards in all their newspaper-magazine ads and radio--TV commercials.

Thus the future TV announcer, after declaring sonorously that "thinking men smoke Viceroys," may be obliged to warn the thinking man that cigarettes can cause lung cancer and heart trouble.

The advertising abuses are hit by Senator Neuberger in a book, "Smokescreen," just off the Prentice Hall press.

She checked on commercials, for example, depicting baseball stars Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris, and Whitey Ford as contented Camel smokers.

She found that Mantle had smoked Camels briefly, then had switched to Viceroys. But he was last reported using Bantron, an anti-smoking pill.

Maris also had smoked Camels, but had stopped smoking altogether a month before the commercial appeared. The only information the Senator could find on Ford's smoking habits was a sports story quoting him after a shutout victory:

"This was the best I've felt for nine innings since the first game of the World Series against Cincinnati," boasted Ford.

The reason for his improvement: "I quit smoking," said Ford.

The President's study committee on smoking and health has done little original research but has merely summed up the existing information on the tobacco problem. Several distinguished doctors contributed studies.

One of the most convincing reports was submitted by Harvard's noted statistician, Prof. William Cochran, who compiled staggering statistical evidence that cigarettes cause lung cancer, heart trouble, and other ailments.

Although the cancer-causing agents in cigarettes haven't been isolated Pittsburgh University's Dr. Emanuel Farber cited clinical evidence that smoking causes pre-cancer changes in the lung tissue.

Dr. Walter Burdette of the University of Utah contributed a sobering study of the harmful effects on babies of smoking by pregnant women.

It will be interesting to see how much of these studies gets into the final report that comes out of the White House.

Cuba Analysts Suffer From 'Keating Syndrome'

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

When Gov. Averell Harriman was in Moscow, Nikita S. Khrushchev twice assured him that all Russian troops would eventually be brought home from Cuba. "Why should we keep them there?" Khrushchev asked and added that the men of the Red Army did not like being there, either, because of the steamy Cuban climate.

Soviet Foreign Secretary Andrei Gromyko has made comparable statements to Secretary of State Dean Rusk. And these Soviet assertions are now worth recalling because there is considerable evidence that Khrushchev is still being as good—or almost as good—as his word to Harriman.

Whenever Cuba is the topic, to be sure, the American analysts suffer from what perhaps can be be called the Sen. Keating syndrome. In other words, the analysts are very timid in the face of good news for fear that they will later be accused of gullibility and over-optimism.

Thus no one is getting up on the roof to cheer because no less than 1,800 Soviet troops are known to have gone home from Cuba within the short space of one recent week. The conservative response to this rather massive re-deployment is explained on the ground that the troops sent home may later be replaced—which is entirely possible, of course.

All the same, despite the effect of the Keating syndrome on the analysts, their figure for the number of Soviet personnel in Cuba has been shrinking continuously and impressively. From an estimated peak of 21,000 Russians, the figure has now dropped to 5,000 to 8,000; and the reduction appears to be continuing.

Parallel with this reduction has gone another process. Cuban units have been trained to use the arms and other equipment of the Russian units formerly stationed in Cuba, and as the Russians have been phased out, they have handed over their material to the Cubans.

In the case of the most important remaining Russian equipment, the SAM-11 anti-aircraft rockets, the handover has been incomplete. The SAM-IIs themselves are still emplaced as before, but their most advanced electronic control mechanisms have been returned to the Soviet Union, presumably because the Soviets do not wish to leave behind such highly secret equipment.

This does not mean that the SAM-IIs have ceased to be capable of shooting down the U. S. reconnaissance aircraft that continue to fly over Cuba each week. But it does mean, presumably, that the SAM-IIs are eventually destined, like the rest of the Soviet military materiel, to be handed over to the Cubans.

The first question, therefore is how far this Russian redeployment out of Cuba is going to go. The cautious answer currently favored here is that the Russians will finally cut the number of their troops in Cuba down to the level of a smallish training mission, like an American MAAG.

The members of this training mission will then be described as "technicians." While promising to bring his troops home, Khrushchev has always reserved the right to leave "technicians" in Cuba; and thus he will fulfill the letter of his bargain.

There is another question, furthermore, which also deserves examination. Reports from Eastern Europe persist that the Soviets, Czechs, and other Cuban trading partners in the Communist bloc have decided to be much less generous in their future dealings with the Castro government. These reports are given some color of probability, by the niggardliness of the first Soviet offer of post-hurricane aid to Castro.

Khrushchev offered only the equivalent of $90,000 on the first round. When Mao Tse-tung then came through with an offer of $1 million, the Soviet offer was amplified with a grab-bag of extras. Yet the first offer does seem to indicate the drift of Soviet thinking about handouts to the Castro regime.

Meanwhile, Castro's need for handouts is mounting continuously, and not just because of the devastation wrought by the hurricane. The Cuban economy is in ruins. Misery is mounting. Under the prick of want, signs are beginning to appear that Cubans are far from ideal raw material for a Communist state. The possibility of a sudden change in Cuba used to be absolutely excluded, but now, although not exactly predicted, it is no longer ruled out.

All this is both deeply interesting in itself and full of domestic political interest, too. The Republicans, who have made such a play with Cuba, will suffer proportionately if there is an abrupt change there. And even if there is no change, they will not be able to make much further play with Cuba if the Russian contingent in Havana is finally reduced to a mere 2,000 to 3,000 advisory personnel.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

PROGRESS NOTE — A look at today's youth is convincing evidence that a male version of the beauty shop can't be far away. But until a Washington barbers' convention, no one realized it was so close.

This particular barber we're talking about has developed something he calls a "sculptur-kut" hair-do for men. He spells it that way because it is the only way he can get the name trademarked.

He "cuts" men's hair with a comb and razor, rather than with a scissors and clippers. And, of course, the shaping is designed to project your personality, accentuate the better points of your facial features, and generally make you a more handsome and attractive male.

Toward the end of the rather complicated process he utilizes a hair trainer—it's a hair net, but that sounds too feminine. With the net in place the hair is dried with a specially designed device, brushed, combed, highlighted with a dash of coloring and, finally, treated with a hair spray. The charge is $4.50.

When the "patient" inevitably asks how he's going to keep his hair in place, a can of male hair spray is placed before him — at a slight $1.50 additional cost. And there you have it. What male in the years — or weeks — ahead will be able to resist this new movement toward putting his best foot, or head, forward?

Nearly all of 'em, we guess.

Bring Back Flogging

By John Crosby

LONDON — "For my part I must own that I wish the country to be governed by law, but not by lawyers," said Edmund Burke, alas, a long time ago. British law, stiff with tradition, encrusted with robes and wigs and ancient and obsolete practices, is still much swifter and, I think, more sensible than ours.

The other day, to get a sniff of British law at work, I went to the Old Bailey and threaded my way through a chattering mass of witnesses, jurors, bewigged barristers, defendants out on bail, under the great vaulted dome up to the chambers of Judge John Maude. His "chambers" is merely a small oak-lined room with a fireplace, lined with prints of eighteenth century judges conducting trials in their own homes.

Judge Maude, who has a dry wit and the vinegary skepticism of a man with decades of murderers and rapists and other interesting scoundrels under his belt, was already in his robes and gray horsehair wig.

"You want to see something appalling, do you?" he said. Murder. Rape. Fraud. There's a bit of everything here. We sit from 10:30 until 1 p. m. when we recess for lunch. Then we sit from 2 o'clock to 4. It's a jolly tiring day."

It was just 10:30 and the corridors were alive with wigged, begowned, and costumed figures, some in red, some in black, some in what looked like military uniforms. Judge Maude introduced me to the High Sheriff, who is a sight to see in his wig and laces and gold chains: "He will probably one day be Lord Mayor of London," the Judge told me.

In the press room, I introduced myself to Charles Doherty, la white-thatched, courtly gentleman who has covered the Old Bailey for the Times of London for 20 years. "It's very pleasant here," he said. "But the caseload increases every year. When I first came to the Old Bailey there would be 85 cases on the calendar a month, 30 to 40 in slack months. In those days there were three courts sitting. Today we have 400 cases a month, 150 in slack months, and there are eight courts sitting. Crime has gone up in direct proportion to the increase in prosperity. It has skyrocketed since the abolition of flogging."

"Charlie is a relict of feudalism. Don't listen to him," said Ned Connally, the Daily Sketch reporter who is the baby of the press room. We used to think that poverty caused crime and that if we abolished poverty crime would disappear. Now we are beginning to think that prosperity causes crime — the rich countries have far greater crime than the poor ones and the poverty-stricken countries like Spain have almost no crime at all — but this is probably over-simplifying things, too.

In Court No. 1, a red-robed judge with gold-rimmed spectacles on the very tip of his nose, straight out of "Pickwick" he was, sat underneath the lion and the unicorn of Britain carved in oak, a great medieval sword thrusting out from the wall over his head. He was presiding over the murder trial of a stunned young man accused of that most routine of murders — his girl caught out with another man.

In the box was the murdered girl's roommate who told the court of finding the young man just after the murder in the corridor, gun in hand. "Horrified at what he'd done?" asked the defense counsel. "Oh, yes, sir," said the girl.

"His state might be described as extremely distraught?"

"Yes, sir."

"He was dazed?" asked the lawyer.

"He was dazed," agreed the girl.

Old Pickwick Papers on the bench stirred as the girl stepped down. "I'd rather — for your own sake — you didn't stay in those quarters any longer," he said to the girl gently. "Rather harrowing for you, isn't it? But do leave word with the bailiff where you'll be in case we want to call you back, won't you?"

This extreme courtesy and kindliness and humanity toward the innocent is everywhere in the Old Bailey, but it goes hand in hand with a great severity toward law-breaking and lawbreakers. The British are not inclined to weep over murderers as we did over Caryl Chessman, but rather over the victims. Their law is designed to protect society rather than — as ours seems to be — the criminals.

Cold, White Hands From Raynaud's Syndrome

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Cold hands usually mean poor circulation, not a warm heart, as the saying goes. The condition is more prevalent in women than men, and in the high-strung rather than the placid. Low metabolism also is associated with coldness of the skin and the same can be said of debility.

Most young people with cold hands and feet ought to forget it; the disorder is not serious and is difficult to correct. The caliber of the smaller arteries is governed by the nervous system and the flow of blood is sluggish because of an inherent tendency to be tense, nervous, and easily upset by trivialities. Many of these young people have other manifestations of jitteriness, but all this improves with maturity.

Raynaud's syndrome is a more distressing circulatory disturbance of the extremities. Skin coldness is associated with changes in color and these symptoms are brought on by chilly weather or by emotional upheavals. There is involvement of one or more fingers and toes.

Dr. Maurice Raynaud's first case was a Madame X who ". . . had been subject since childhood to an infirmity which makes her an object of curiosity to her acquaintances. Any sudden cooling of the atmosphere, even in summer, would cause her fingers to become bloodless, without feeling, and of a whitish-yellow color. She would wring them violently or soak them in lukewarm water; whereupon the vascular spasm would gradually relax, to be succeeded by a very painful reaction."

We have not improved too much on this treatment, except in the more serious forms of the disease. Many of the victims dread winter but learn, as the years pass, how wise it is to wear warmer clothing. Two pairs of gloves and hose will be useful in preventing the manifestations so long as the body is kept warm with long underwear and a warm coat. Going south is not the answer because the spasms may develop whenever the individual becomes excited, embarrassed, or angry. Smoking has little effect on this condition.

Many need counseling on how to live with Raynaud's and reassurance that they will not lose the affected digits. Sedatives, tranquilizers, and psychotherapy have proved helpful for those whose reactions are brought on by emotional disturbances. Surgery (sympathectomy) is done occasionally when the discomfort in the lower extremities is severe.

SMALLPOX IMMUNITY

L. S. writes: I had smallpox while in college in 1918. Am I immune? The immigration authorities question this.

REPLY

Ordinarily one attack gives life protection. But when in doubt, vaccinate. If you are immune there will be little or no reaction.

THE HIVES NUISANCE

F. H. writes: If red welts disappear after taking an antihistaminic product, is it worth while to find and eliminate the cause?

REPLY

Yes, if hives recur often enough to make life miserable.

TEMPORARY PARALYSIS

L. G. writes: How long does paralysis last after a bite by a man-of-war?

REPLY

Several days. It is more painful and alarming than serious.

NUT FATS

S. C. writes: Do nuts supply saturated or unsaturated fats?

REPLY

Mainly unsaturated (up to 97 per cent).

TOMORROW: Arthritis of the fingers.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Into the suggestion box maintained for employes of the Illinois Central Railroad was dropped one day the proposal that wages in one town be paid in cash because both local banks were closed early on payday. The suggestion was approved, but the very first day the new plan went into effect a bandit staged a holdup and made off with the cash.

The varmit was apprehended and you may have guessed who he turned out to be: the employe who had made the suggestion!

Vera Lawrence was elected to a high office in the Pun-American Conference as a result of her story of a father drop and a mother drop in the boundless ocean who were intent upon teaching their young offspring how to be a responsible part of the sea. After a month of intensive training the father observed his son's antics with satisfaction. He then announced to the mother drop, "I do believe we now have taught Junior everything he has to know. I hereby declare him fit to be tide."

Somebody once asked the late composer Jerome Kern, "What is Irving Berlin's place in American music?" Kern replied, "Irving Berlin has no place in American music. He IS American music."

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Guess it's now official that Lord Home is Britain's new prime minister — his lordship's statue has been moved to the center of a stage in Madame Tussaud's famed London wax museum.

Meanwhile, William Rushton, a TV comedian, has filed as a candidate for Home's seat in Parliament. The P. M., no doubt, can't see any humor in this.

Bright Costumes Safety Device For 'Small Spooks'

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Medical Association (AMA) urges parents to make children's halloween costumes of bright colors as a traffic safety precaution.

"Make your small spooks' costumes of bright colors. You might even sew on some strips of reflective tape. In the excitement of the occasion they might dart into the street," the AMA said.

The AMA also urged:

—Giving children a flashlight rather than lighted candles or torches.

—Dipping costumes in a simple solution of seven ounces of borax and three ounces of boric acid in three quarts of warm water to flameproof them.

—Painting false faces with eyebrow pencil, grease paint or burnt cork rather than giving children paper or plastic masks which may "slip and block vision or breathing."

—Keep pets, especially dogs, in the house on Halloween night.

—Drive with extra caution.

Work On Motel Set Next Spring

Queen City Enterprises expects to demolish the old Maryland Theater and an adjoining building and to begin construction of a 100-unit motel on the site within six months, a spokesman for the firm announced yesterday.

Plans for the motel call for providing indoor parking for 100 cars. Street frontage will be used for a lobby and entrance.

The theater closed its doors early last month as the firm completed plans for opening a new theater in the Searstown shopping center.

Local Marines Given Medal

Seven members of the 43d Rifle Company, Marine Corps Reserve unit here, have been awarded the Organized Marine Corps Reserve medal by the Commandant of the Corps.

The medal is awarded to Marines who perform their duties in an exemplary manner while serving in a reserve unit.

Those who received the medal include LCpl. Melvin G. Cline Jr., 49 Humbird Street, LCpl. Rodney L. Hiett, 904 Kentucky Avenue, Pfc. Ronald L. M. Imes, 14 Clement Street, Cpl. Richard K. Kirchner, 503 Fayette Street.

Pfc. Louis L. Nies, RFD 5, Winchester Road, Cpl. Roy J. Reed Jr., RFD 5, Frederick, and Pfc. Donald E. Smith, Arlington, Va.

in its constitutional jurisdiction and with the responsibility to provide adequate democratic safeguards against abuse of its power.

"We feel that the use of pressure and fear on the part of the administration as intimidation devices violates these basic principles which we have enumerated.

Five Charges Cited

"Such misuse of pressure is clearly evident in recent dealings concerning members of the student body, partially shown in the following cases:

"1. Intimidation upon the office of Student Association president by the president of the college.

"2. Intimidation of the student body as a whole to follow administrative policies without question as shown in the letters mailed to the student body this past summer. These letters caused students to fear entering or returning to college because their attitudes and values were being dictated to them.

"3. Required acceptance by organization presidents to assume full responsibility for their actions as well as the actions of their group's individual members.

"4. The abuse of students rights to free assembly and the ex post facto punishment of the demonstrators.

"5. The expulsion of students exercising their basic rights to free and open speech.

"We realize that the president of the college possesses many responsibilities; however, we feel that the neglect of his main responsibility—the students — has caused the present fear and dissension, thus breaking the chain between the administration and the student body.

"We feel that the pressure exerted upon the student body and the faculty and the resulting fear have definitely hampered our learning process. Living in an atmosphere where a student may be placed on probation or expelled from college without notice or proper hearing, as has been done recently, curbs our initiative and progress. Thus the students placed in such an atmosphere are not able to develop their potential as members of a democratic society."

President's Rebuttal

Mr. Hardesty's statement follows:

"Even though communication in any organization can always be improved, communications are open at Frostburg State College.

"Each Monday morning a bulletin is issued throughout the campus and put on bulletin boards to carry important information from faculty and administration to 215 personnel and 1,600 students.

"Four assemblies per year are held in the auditorium to explain to students the total operation of the college, including curricula, building program, changes in policies, etc. At Frostburg State College only several hundred students normally attend; yet, students today complain about lack of communications.

"Each Monday a calendar of events, issued by the Social Director's office, is sent throughout campus to keep all population of the campus informed.

"On October 23, at the second of a series of administrative assemblies this year, the president elaborated at length to the students concerning policies of the administrators of the College. The agenda was made by the Student Congress Executive Committee. The president also referred to areas of the Student Handbook, developed by Student Government. He urged students to read their handbook more carefully and to begin observing several areas now being neglected by some students. The president also stressed the importance of Student Government facing up to reality and becoming businesslike in enforcing their policies. If Student Government makes a policy, it behooves that organization to enforce it with all students. On October 29, the President of the College and Dean of Students reviewed with all student government members word by word the philosophy of the College and also referred to the Student Handbook. This is exactly what administration urges; otherwise, students cannot develop into the kinds of adults so important to American society. A reply to the student assembly will be made tomorrow at noon. (Thursday)."

Bob Hope stars Friday nights on NBC-TV

Bob Hope (speaking for Uncle Sam) gives our newspaperboys an "Oscar"

If it were up to me to decide the Oscars (am I kidding?), I'd give one to America's newspaperboys for their performance.

I mean their day-after-day performance, fair weather or foul, delivering papers and good cheer to their customers. Learning how to be good neighbors and good businessmen, too.

But what I'm really here for is to tell you what a job newspaperboys have done for the Treasury Department—helping to promote U.S. Savings Bonds and Stamps, and buying plenty themselves out of their earnings.

They've found Bonds a great way to save for a college education—and as you and I know, they're a great way to keep our country strong, too.

So this is Bob (Uncle Sam) Hope saying thanks for all of us to all you newspaperboys—our Hope (if you'll pardon the expression) of the future.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- You can get your money anytime
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed, or stolen
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings where you work

Sewer System Charge Begins At Moorefield

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—Moorefield citizens will start paying for the new sewer system November 1 when they receive water bills for the month of October, according to the announcement of Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, recorder. Mayor W. D. Grafton said the new rates were authorized by the West Virginia Public Service Commission July 15 but that this was the first month the new schedule had been put into effect.

The new sewer rates are tied to the water rate and water users will pay $1.90 per thousand gallons of water used for the first 1,000 gallons, 35c per thousand gallons for the next 4,000 gallons and 30c per thousand gallons for the next 195,000 gallons used. An additional change in the rate is for multiple family units on the same water meter and the minimum is $1.90 per family, for as many families using the same meter.

Bonds in the amount of $145,000 have been authorized for the construction of the new sewer lines and disposal plant and a federal grant of over $83,000 was authorized to assist the town in the treatment of the sewage wastes which were polluting the South Branch of the Potomac. A penalty of 10 per cent of the bill will be charged for accounts past due 10 days or more.

An old car is traded in on about 85 per cent of the new car purchases.

Auto Insurance Rates To Jump In W. Virginia

Losses Exceeding Present Schedule

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — State Insurance Commissioner Harlan Justice has approved an increase in rates for liability automobile insurance sought by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters (NBCU) for its affiliated companies.

Justice said the rate boost, affecting drivers of private passenger cars carrying insurance with the NBCU companies granted the increase, was approved by him after he found "existing rates did not cover losses and expenses of the companies."

He said his findings were based on statutes allowing "a margin for underwriting profit and contingencies." The increases to policyholders will average 7.9 per cent statewide, Justice said.

"In some areas of the state where there have been large increases in the number and cost of claims paid by the bureau insurance companies, the rate increases are greater than the statewide average," Justice said.

"In those areas where the increases in the number and cost of claims have not been so great, the rate increases are less than the state average," he said.

NBCU originally sought a 10.4 average increase. Justice said the rate hike allowed "meet the requirements of the law, in that they are not excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory."

He noted that motorists who qualify will continue to receive the safe - driver reduction under the new rates. "Additional discounts for driver education, compact and second and third cars as well as for farmers will continue to apply," he said.

Last year, he said, West Virginia was one of the nation's 12 highest states in frequency of automobile deaths with 6.6 per 1 million miles of travel. "It was among the 24 highest states in frequency of property damage," he said.

The number of auto accidents, he said, increased 26 per cent from 5,821 in 1960 to 7,357 in 1962. The number of persons killed or injured climbed 19 per cent from 4,539 to 5,403.

Farm Agent Reports Turkey Egg-Laying Experiment In Tucker Co. Successful

PARSONS, W. Va. — Canaan Valley, here in Tucker County, with an elevation of 3250 feet and a cool summer climate is becoming well known as a favorite summer resort for tourists and vacationers, but some people are also discovering the climatic conditions are favorable for other summer residents too.

Ralph H. Dunkle, Tucker County extension agricultural agent, has been encouraging the development of tuckey farms in the area. He said the terrain, climate and other factors appear to be ideal for raising and developing breeder-type turkeys.

During the past summer, Heatwole Hatchery, Inc. of Harrisonburg, Va., Mr. Dunkle observed, brought to the Valley 600 Beltsville white turkey breeder hens to determine if the cool climate would help the egg laying of the hens and the hatching percentage of the eggs. According to James C. Kelley, general manager of the hatchery, the experiment was successful enough to warrent expansion of the project.

For the coming year, the hatchery plans to bring 6000 hens to the Valley for egg production. They will be Beltsville whites and Nicholas large whites. Hens will be distributed in flocks of 500 to various farmers in the Canaan area. These birds should bring in a cash income of approximately $7000, or more than $1 per hen. This does not sound very big in comparison with the million-dollar projects being considered for the Canaan Valley area; however, this is real and should increase in future years, Mr. Dunkle said.

This past summer the 600 turkeys were in two flocks at the farms of Ben F. Thompson and William Pennington. Mr. Thompson reports that the 297 turkey hens on his farm laid 24,510 eggs between May 9, 1963 and October 22, 1963 with an average hatching percentage of 60 per cent.

Va. — Canaan Valley, here in Tucker County, with an elevation of 3250 feet and a cool summer climate is becoming well known as a favorite summer resort for tourists and vacationers, but some people are also discovering the climatic conditions are favorable for other summer residents too.

Ralph H. Dunkle, Tucker County extension agricultural agent, has been encouraging the development of tuckey farms in the area. He said the terrain, climate and other factors appear to be ideal for raising and developing breeder-type turkeys.

During the past summer, Heatwole Hatchery, Inc. of Harrisonburg, Va., Mr. Dunkle observed, brought to the Valley 600 Beltsville white turkey breeder hens to determine if the cool climate would help the egg laying of the hens and the hatching percentage of the eggs. According to James C. Kelley, general manager of the hatchery, the experiment was successful enough to warrent expansion of the project.

For the coming year, the hatchery plans to bring 6000 hens to the Valley for egg production. They will be Beltsville whites and Nicholas large whites. Hens will be distributed in flocks of 500 to various farmers in the Canaan area. These birds should bring in a cash income of approximately $7000, or more than $1 per hen. This does not sound very big in comparison with the million-dollar projects being considered for the Canaan Valley area; however, this is real and should increase in future years, Mr. Dunkle said.

This past summer the 600 turkeys were in two flocks at the farms of Ben F. Thompson and William Pennington. Mr. Thompson reports that the 297 turkey hens on his farm laid 24,510 eggs between May 9, 1963 and October 22, 1963 with an average hatching percentage of 60 per cent.

We dug into our archives for today's contribution which has baffled a great number of bridge's top luminaries since it first came to light in a major championship event not long ago. The problem is to fulfill a small slam contract in spades with the North-South cards, a by no means routine task even when given benefit of a peek at all four hands.

The bidding, tho aggressive, is characteristic of modern tournament tactics. North lacked the 19 points usually associated with a jump shift response, but he felt that the readily establishable club suit, his fit in spades and the heart void provided an adequate measure of compensation.

South rebid his suit and North, having made his move, was content to offer a simple raise. South now cue bid the ace of diamonds and, when his partner reciprocated in hearts, South proceeded to six spades.

Observe that North's cue bid with a void is looked upon as a highly dangerous practice. There is too much risk that a highly aggressive South might expect to find North with the ace and be induced to reach for a final no trump contract.

West opens the king of hearts, and declarer has available a choice of various plays most of which hinge on finding either two-two division of the adverse spades or the king of diamonds favorably located. Since neither of these possibilities comes to pass, South appears destined to fail.

There is one winning line of play, however, which allows for the unfavorable spade break and requires only a reasonable division in clubs. The heart opening is ruffed in dummy and the two top clubs are cashed as South discards the jack of hearts. A third club is ruffed with the ace of trumps, establishing the dummy's suit. A spade is led over to the queen, and a fourth club is played on which declarer disposes of his last heart. West ruffs this trick but is powerless to proceed profitably. If he returns a heart, South ruffs in his hand, draws the last trump with North's king of spades and discards his diamond losers on the remaining clubs.

The supermarket's share of the country's total retail food business increased from 43 to 70 per cent between 1950 and 1962.

Federal Bill Tightens Laws Against Fixes

Approved By Senate, Awaits House Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Wednesday approved legislation to tighten federal laws against the fixing of college or professional sporting events through bribery.

An outgrowth of the college basketball fixing scandals, the bill makes it a federal offense to use interstate facilities—such as the telephone or the mails—in attempts to influence by bribery the result of sporting contests. It goes to the House for action.

It provides stiff new penalties ranging from 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine, or both, for anyone caught violating the law. The bill applies to players, coaches and game officials as well as those who offer a bribe.

Under present law, federal bribery statutes apply only when the bribe occurs in a state which has laws dealing with sports bribery. The new legislation permits federal law enforcement agents to step in whether or not the states have bribery laws.

The bill is strongly endorsed by the administration as a needed tool in combatting gambling and racketeering.

SIDE BY SIDE AGAIN—A dozen years ago these two athletes were playing alongside each other on the Duke University baseball team. The one on the right is still doing a bit of ball playing. He's Dick Groat, star shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals who was honored last night at a testimonial dinner at the Cumberland Country Club. The gentleman on the left, hardly a stranger to local sports fans, is Tommy Powers, former all-round athlete at Allegany High School and presently deputy solicitor for the U. S. Department of Labor. Powers was the featured speaker at the affair attended by 100 Cumberland admirers of National League great. Third baseman Powers and shortstop Groat formed the right side of Duke's infield. Dodgers' Ace Piles Up 237 Points; Ron Perranoski Fourth

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Los Angeles left-hander Sandy Koufax — the comeback Dodger who made the difference—was named the National League's Most Valuable Player for 1963 Wednesday.

The 27-year-old strikeout king decisively beat Dick Groat, the St. Louis Cardinals' sparkplug, 237 points to 190. Results of the annual poll of a 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America were announced by BBWAA secretary Hy Hurwitz. Koufax was named on all but one ballot.

Struck Out 306

The Brooklyn-born bachelor registered a National League record 306 strikeouts en route to a 25-5 mark and a brilliant 1.88 earned run average. He pitched his second major league no-hitter early in the season against San Francisco and personally accounted for two victories in the four-game World Series sweep of the New York Yankees.

The American League MVP will be announced for afternoon papers of Thursday, Nov. 7.

Previously chosen the Cy Young Award winner as the year's finest pitcher, Koufax completed his double by capturing 14 first place votes. Shortstop Groat was named first by four voters while Milwaukee outfielder Hank Aaron and Los Angeles infielder Jim Gilliam split the other two.

Groat Won In 1960

Groat was 1960 MVP for the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates and Aaron, third with 135 points to 130 for Dodger relief ace Ron Perranoski, was honored in 1957. Groat and Aaron were the only players listed on all 20 ballots. Willie Mays of San Francisco was fifth.

Los Angeles placed four men in the first eight with batting champion Tommy Davis eighth with 41 points. Injury-slowed Maury Wills of the Dodgers who was MVP last year, finished in a 17th place tie with Willie McCovey of San Francisco.

First Hurler Since 1956

Koufax is the first pitcher to be voted the National League's top prize since Brooklyn Dodger Don Newcombe in 1956 and only the seventh in 33 years.

Celtics Win 4th In Row

Defeat Detroit Pistons, 108-102

DETROIT (UPI) — The defending world champion Boston Celtics boosted their record to 4-0 this season in the National Basketball Association, knocking off the Detroit Pistons Wednesday night for the 10th consecutive time, 108-102.

The Pistons, who haven't beaten the Celtics in almost two years, scored the first eight points of the second period to forge into a 31-29 lead after trailing 29-33 at the end of the first period.

But the Celtics quickly regained the lead and boosted it to 55-44 at halftime. Boston led throughout the second half with Detroit never getting any closer than three points.

While Boston leads the Eastern Division with a 4-0 record, despite the retirement of Bob Cousey, Detroit is in the basement of the Western Division with a 1-4 record.

John Havlicek, who didn't play in the first period, came off the bench to lead the Celtics with 22 points. Tom Heinsohn had 19 while the Jones boys, Sam and K. C., added 16 and 15.

Bailey Howell had 21 for Detroit's high, while Bob Ferry had 20.

Buffalo Bills' Kemp Is Voted Player Of Week

Sparkled In Win Over Patriots

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Kemp, a $100 waiver steal from San Diego by the Buffalo Bills a year ago, has been named the Player of the Week in the American Football League by The Associated Press.

Kemp was grabbed by the Bills last season when waivers were asked after he had suffered a finger injury. Although he still has trouble with the second finger on his right hand, Kemp had himself a big night Saturday in Buffalo's 28-21 victory over Boston.

The Bills' quarterback ran for three touchdowns and also threw 72 yards to Charlie Ferguson for the winning score with 28 seconds to go. It was the first time Ferguson, formerly with Minnesota Vikings, had played for Buffalo.

Kemp's performance was extra important for Buffalo because it kept them in the race in the Eastern Division. It also was the first victory for Lou Saban, Buffalo coach, over his old team.

Clem Daniels, the star of a week ago, turned in another fine job for the Oakland Raiders by carrying 19 times for 125 yards on the ground. He took over the rushing lead from San Diego's Paul Lowe as the Raiders beat the Chargers 34-33. Cotton Davidson's passing also was a most important factor for the Raiders as he came off the bench after Tommy Flores was injured and led them to victory.

SICK STICK

BOSTON (UPI) — Bobby Doerr was a terrific second baseman with the Red Sox, but in 1949 he set a major league record for grounding into double plays, 31.

Miss Orcutt Leads Seniors Tourney; Mrs. Glick Fourth

Miss Orcutt, playing in the 55-to-59 age group, had two 38s for a one-par 76 over the Country Club of Florida course at the "Village of Golf" here.

Four strokes in back of the red-haired New Jersey amateur was Mrs. Allison Choate of Rye, N. Y., who had a pair of 40s for an 80.

Mrs. W. R. Kirkland of Jericho, N. Y., had an 81 and Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore had an 82.

Philadelphia Tops Bullets

Hal Greer Sparkles In 111 To 108 Win

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Hal Greer scored 39 points, five in the last 27 seconds, to pace the Philadelphia 76ers to a 111-108 National Basketball Association victory over the Baltimore Bullets Wednesday night.

When the Bullets pulled to within 106-104 on a basket by Don Kojis with 48 seconds remaining, the 76ers called time out. Philadelphia then set up Greer for one of his deadly one-hand jumpers and he scored with 27 seconds remaining for a 108-104 lead.

Gene Shue, newly acquired Bullet backcourt man, scored again for Baltimore with 20 seconds left. But Greer, on a pass from John Kerr, sank a driving left-handed hook. He was fouled on the play and converted the free throw for a 111-106 advantage to clinch the victory.

Greer, a 6-foot-2 backcourt playmaker, connected on 17 shots from the floor and added five of six from the foul line to maintain his lead among Philadelphia scorers. Teammate Chet Walker scored 16 points, three on foul shots in the last three minutes.

Terry Dischinger led Baltimore with 29 points, while Walt Bellamy added 23 and Gus Johnson 22

New York Rangers Edge Boston, 4-3

NEW YORK (UPI) — Phil Goyette, a former Montreal player who has given the New York Rangers' attack a much-needed boost, scored three goals and set up the winning tally by Vic Hadfield with 50 seconds left in a 4-3 triumph over the Boston Bruins Wednesday night.

Jacques Plante, the Ranger goalie who is still shaking off the effects of a recent asthma attack, totalled 26 saves. Ed Johnston put in a busier night in the Boston cage, turning aside 35 shots, including 17 in the third period.

Dick Groat Paid Tribute By Hundred Cumberland Admirers At Testimonial

Cards' Shortstop Presented $500 U.S. Savings Bond

By TED TROXELL

Third in the batting race, second in the pennant race and first in the hearts of Cumberland sports fans.

That's the story of Dick Groat, St. Louis Cardinal shortstop who was toasted by 100 of his local admirers at a testimonial dinner last night at the Cumberland Country Club.

A small committee of his Cumberland friends decided several months ago to pay tribute to Groat, who was contacted before the season ended and replied simply, "Name the date and I'll be there."

Yesterday was the date, and it was kept by Dick and the hundred guests in whose book he bats 1.000.

Story Began In '54

The testimonial is actually another chapter in a story that dates back to a snowy night in January, 1954, when Groat and a group of soldier-athletes from Fort Belvoir, Va., came to Cumberland to play the semi-pro Old Germans in a basketball game to help supplement their meager private's pay.

Dick has come a long way since that memorable evening, during which he escaped injury in what could have been a tragic automobile accident on Martin Mountain, but his rise to fame has not changed his relationship with the people of Cumberland one whit.

One of this city's authentic and prominent native sons who played college baseball alongside Groat at Duke University was guest speaker at the testimonial.

Tommy Powers, looking scarcely older than when he was burning up local gridirons for Allegany High School shortly after World War II, made note of two extra qualities possessed by Dick Groat — "a great desire to excel and a warm, friendly personality."

Foresees Baseball Future

Powers, doing well in his own right as deputy solicitor for the U. S. Department of Labor, foresees a future for Groat in baseball after his playing days end. "He has the stuff coaches, managers and general managers are made of," declared the former teammate.

Clifton Van Roby, local sportscaster who along with J. Suter Kegg laid the groundwork for the dinner, served as toastmaster.

Kegg, sports editor of the Cumberland Evening and Sunday Times, presented Groat with a $500 U. S. Savings Bond as a token of Cumberland's appreciation for many wonderful favors.

The framed original of a caricature drawing by Times-News staff artist Joe Delaney was also given to Groat, who remarked it's the first such work of him in a Cardinal uniform.

"Dandy Dick" began his major league career in Pittsburgh flannels and stayed with the Pirates from 1952 until 1962 when he was traded to the St. Louis organization.

Led Bucs To Pennant

All he did while with the Pirates was bat .300 or better during four different seasons and lead them to their first National League pennant in 33 years. That was in 1960, the year the Bucs beat the New York Yankees for the World championship and Groat was voted Most Valuable Player.

In the course of his remarks, Dick said the Pittsburgh organization was wonderful, but he is happy in St. Louis.

Of the testimonial, Groat's innate modesty showed through when he said, "I didn't expect this, but I am deeply gratified . . . . I have enjoyed my ten-year association with the people of Cumberland and I always look forward to coming here."

A lively question-and-answer session followed the more formal phase of the speaking program and the questioners, to a man, showed they know what this game of baseball is all about. And, of course, the articulate Groat rapped his answers right up the middle.

Sidesteps One Question

There was, however, one instance in which he was a little evasive. Someone inquired about the score of yesterday afternoon's golf match on the CCC links in which Groat and his "golfing buddy" Carl Curry (of Pittsburgh) took on Roby and club champion George Petras in a foursome.

The invocation was given by Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and Earl M. Nonnenmann delivered the benediction.

Word was received at the Country Club after the dinner ended that Groat was second behind Sandy Koufax in the balloting for the Most Valuable Player of 1963.

As far as people in these parts are concerned, he is, was, and always will be an MVP.

Federal Bill Tightens Laws Against Fixes

Approved By Senate, Awaits House Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Wednesday approved legislation to tighten federal laws against the fixing of college or professional sporting events through bribery.

An outgrowth of the college basketball fixing scandals, the bill makes it a federal offense to use interstate facilities—such as the telephone or the mails—in attempts to influence by bribery the result of sporting contests. It goes to the House for action.

It provides stiff new penalties ranging from 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine, or both, for anyone caught violating the law. The bill applies to players, coaches and game officials as well as those who offer a bribe.

Under present law, federal bribery statutes apply only when the bribe occurs in a state which has laws dealing with sports bribery. The new legislation permits federal law enforcement agents to step in whether or not the states have bribery laws.

Dodgers' Ace Piles Up 237 Points; Ron Perranoski Fourth

By BOB HOOBING
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — Los Angeles left-hander Sandy Koufax — the comeback Dodger who made the difference—was named the National League's Most Valuable Player for 1963 Wednesday.

The 27-year-old strikeout king decisively beat Dick Groat, the St. Louis Cardinals' sparkplug, 237 points to 190. Results of the annual poll of a 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America were announced by BBWAA secretary Hy Hurwitz. Koufax was named on all but one ballot.

Struck Out 306

The Brooklyn-born bachelor registered a National League record 306 strikeouts en route to a 25-5 mark and a brilliant 1.88 earned run average. He pitched his second major league no-hitter early in the season against San Francisco and personally accounted for two victories in the four-game World Series sweep of the New York Yankees.

The American League MVP will be announced for afternoon papers of Thursday, Nov. 7.

Previously chosen the Cy Young Award winner as the year's finest pitcher, Koufax completed his double by capturing 14 first place votes. Shortstop Groat was named first by four voters while Milwaukee outfielder Hank Aaron and Los Angeles infielder Jim Gilliam split the other two.

Groat Won In 1960

Groat was 1960 MVP for the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates and Aaron, third with 135 points to 130 for Dodger relief ace Ron Perranoski, was honored in 1957. Groat and Aaron were the only players listed on all 20 ballots. Willie Mays of San Francisco was fifth.

Los Angeles placed four men in the first eight with batting champion Tommy Davis eighth with 41 points. Injury-slowed Maury Wills of the Dodgers who was MVP last year, finished in a 17th place tie with Willie McCovey of San Francisco.

First Hurler Since 1956

Koufax is the first pitcher to be voted the National League's top prize since Brooklyn Dodger Don Newcombe in 1956 and only the seventh in 33 years.

Celtics Win 4th In Row

Defeat Detroit Pistons, 108-102

DETROIT (UPI) — The defending world champion Boston Celtics boosted their record to 4-0 this season in the National Basketball Association, knocking off the Detroit Pistons Wednesday night for the 10th consecutive time, 108-102.

The Pistons, who haven't beaten the Celtics in almost two years, scored the first eight points of the second period to forge into a 31-29 lead after trailing 29-33 at the end of the first period.

But the Celtics quickly regained the lead and boosted it to 55-44 at halftime. Boston led throughout the second half with Detroit never getting any closer than three points.

While Boston leads the Eastern Division with a 4-0 record, despite the retirement of Bob Cousey, Detroit is in the basement of the Western Division with a 1-4 record.

John Havlicek, who didn't play in the first period, came off the bench to lead the Celtics with 22 points. Tom Heinsohn had 19 while the Jones boys, Sam and K. C., added 16 and 15.

Bailey Howell had 21 for Detroit's high, while Bob Ferry had 20.

Buffalo Bills' Kemp Is Voted Player Of Week

Sparkled In Win Over Patriots

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Kemp, a $100 waiver steal from San Diego by the Buffalo Bills a year ago, has been named the Player of the Week in the American Football League by The Associated Press.

Kemp was grabbed by the Bills last season when waivers were asked after he had suffered a finger injury. Although he still has trouble with the second finger on his right hand, Kemp had himself a big night Saturday in Buffalo's 28-21 victory over Boston.

The Bills' quarterback ran for three touchdowns and also threw 72 yards to Charlie Ferguson for the winning score with 28 seconds to go. It was the first time Ferguson, formerly with Minnesota Vikings, had played for Buffalo.

Kemp's performance was extra important for Buffalo because it kept them in the race in the Eastern Division. It also was the first victory for Lou Saban, Buffalo coach, over his old team.

Clem Daniels, the star of a week ago, turned in another fine job for the Oakland Raiders by carrying 19 times for 125 yards on the ground. He took over the rushing lead from San Diego's Paul Lowe as the Raiders beat the Chargers 34-33. Cotton Davidson's passing also was a most important factor for the Raiders as he came off the bench after Tommy Flores was injured and led them to victory.

SICK STICK

BOSTON (UPI) — Bobby Doerr was a terrific second baseman with the Red Sox, but in 1949 he set a major league record for grounding into double plays, 31.

Miss Orcutt Leads Seniors Tourney; Mrs. Glick Fourth

Miss Orcutt, playing in the 55-to-59 age group, had two 38s for a one-par 76 over the Country Club of Florida course at the "Village of Golf" here.

Four strokes in back of the red-haired New Jersey amateur was Mrs. Allison Choate of Rye, N. Y., who had a pair of 40s for an 80.

Mrs. W. R. Kirkland of Jericho, N. Y., had an 81 and Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore had an 82.

ROBLEE

Where fashion and value meet...

There is a fast growing fraternity of college men whose insignia is the crest of ROBLEE. Adhering to the "comfortable feel", they refuse to believe that good taste must carry a high price tag. This is why they have chosen ROBLEE. For the updated look of today's youth, without the high price.

Keyser Must Hurdle Beall Friday To Get Shot At Grid Crown

Tornado Loss Would Crown Romney Champ

Clarkmen Must Win Two To Tie Pioneers For Championship

The race for the 27th football championship of the Potomac Valley Conference has narrowed to two contenders, namely, Romney (6-0) and Keyser (4-1), and Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Golden Tornado must win the "big one" Friday with Beall High School before tackling Roger Parker's Pioneers in the finale on November 8 at Romney.

If Beall can knock off Keyser on the latter's field tomorrow afternoon the race will be over and Romney will walk off with the marbles regardless of the outcome of the Keyser-Romney contest. Tomorrow's game at Keyser is set for 1:30 p. m.

Keyser could tie Romney for the championship by winning its last two games from Beall and the Pioneers.

Romney has beaten Franklin 48-7, Moorefield 28-0, Bruce 26-13, Beall 19-13, Ridgeley 38-7 and Petersburg 31-6, and meets Farmington at home Saturday before tackling Keyser the following week.

Keyser's only PVC setback came at the hands of LaSalle, 18-6. The Clarkmen have whipped Ridgeley 14-7, Moorefield 25-0, Southern 8-6 and Petersburg 9-6.

Beall is 2-1 in the P.V.C., with victories over Petersburg 6-0, Southern 7-0 and a loss at the hands of Romney, 19-13, and winds up with LaSalle on Thanksgiving Day. If Beall should sweep its two remaining conference games it can't overcome Romney even though the Pioneers would drop their final contest.

Keyser won the P.V.C. crown with a 7-0 record last season and went on to take the West Virginia Class AA championship by defeating Summersville at Weston, 35-20.

Andy Seminick Named Manager At Chattanooga

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Andy Seminick, catcher for the Philadelphia Phillies championship whiz kids of 1950, was named manager of the Phils Chattanooga farm team of the South Atlantic League Wednesday.

Seminick, in the Phil farms since he left the team as a coach in 1958, replaces Jack Phillips at Chattanooga. The Phils made no announcement on any new assignment for Phillips.

He managed previously at Elmira, N. Y., Des Moines, Iowa, and Williamsport, Pa.

Nugent Picks Stem As Kick-Off Man

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Coach Tom Nugent of Maryland had his kickers working late Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's game against Penn State.

Nugent had his punters and place kickers practicing under the lights on the Terps' practice field after the rest of the squad had been sent to the locker room.

At the end of the drill, Nugent announced he would have a new kick-off man for Saturday's game. He's George Stem, the shortest man on the squad.

Never Bend Enters Saturday's $100,000 Man O' War Stakes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cain Hoy Stable Wednesday announced that Never Bend definitely will start in the $100,000 added Man O'War stakes at Aqueduct Saturday.

Never Bend, a dark bay son of Nasrullah, is a leading contender for the 3-year-old championship of 1963 and can boost his stock tremendously with another big victory. His last time out he beat Kentucky Derby and Belmont winner Chateaugay in the Suffolk Downs Handicap.

Also at stake for the winner of the Man O'War is a possible bid to the Laurel International Nov. 11.

Other probable starters for the mile and five-eighth grass test are The Axe II, Guadalcanal, David K., Sunrise Flight, Cedar Key, Will I Rule, Bronze Babu, Hellenic Hero and Thygold.

Football Officials Dinner On Nov. 18

The Potomac Valley Chapter of the West Virginia Football Officials' Association will hold its annual dinner at the Old Homestead Hotel, Burlington, W. Va, Monday, November 18 at 6:30 p. m.

Invitations have been sent to all active football officials, football coaches, representatives of area radio stations and newspapers.

Russian Horses To Arrive Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two Russian-bred horses and the national horse racing champion of Hungary were scheduled to arrive in New York Thursday en route to Laurel Race Track in Maryland for the $150,000 Washington, D.C., International to be run Nov. 11.

The two Russian entries are Bryansk and Ivory Tower. Imperial is the Hungarian horse.

Kelso, who finished second in the past two internationals, arrived at Laurel Wednesday representing the United States.

Rocky Colavito Put On Trading Block By Tigers

Braves Are Reported Interested In Trade

By VITO STELLINO
United Press International

DETROIT (UPI) — Home run slugger Rocky Colavito may be headed for a change of leagues as well as baseball clubs.

Colavito, who has spent his nine-year major league career in the American League, five with the Cleveland Indians and the last four with the Detroit Tigers, is on the trading block and at least one National League club, the Milwaukee Braves, is interested.

James Campbell, president of the Detroit Tigers, made it clear that Rocky is sailing in the trade winds Wednesday when he said "the possibility of trading Colavito with the aim of acquiring pitchers and strengthening our infield has been discussed with several clubs."

McHale Interested

And the Milwaukee Sentinel has quoted Braves President John McHale as saying Colavito has been offered to his club, and that he's interested.

Colavito's probable departure from the Tigers was not secret anyway. The predictions that Colavito was spending his last year in a Tiger uniform started early last season while Colavito was batting an anemic .230. He improved during Detroit's famous "salary drive" in late August and September, but his average still was only .271, although he had 91 runs batted in. His home run total was 22, his weakest in the circuit-clout department in six years.

Pitcher Jim Bunning and first baseman Norm Cash also are rumored to be available for trading by the Tigers and it could be that the Tiger management is figuring on a combination of deals to fix their pitching and infield woes.

Pitchers Failed

Ken Smith Is Named Keener's Successor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ken Smith, a New York baseball writer for 38 years, Wednesday was named new director of the National Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., effective Dec. 1.

Smith succeeds Sid Keener, who retires Thursday after 11 years as director. The announcement was made by Paul S. Kerr, president of the Hall of Fame.

Smith was secretary of the Baseball Writers Association of America from 1939 to 1957. He was a baseball writer for the New York Mirror until its recent demise, and prior to that worked for the New York Graphic.

Smith attended the inaugural of the Cooperstown Hall of Fame on June 12, 1939. He will move to Cooperstown and live in the director's cottage.

Buck Fiorita Bags 18-Pound Turkey

"I've been hunting almost 40 years," Fiorita declared, "but this was my first turkey."

Fiorita is best known in baseball circles as manager of Barrelville teams in the Pen-Mar League for 15 years.

Auto Club Hears Foyt Case Today

Charged With Slugging Driver

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —National driving king A. J. Foyt, 1961 winner of the Indianapolis "500" will go before the board of directors of the U.S. Auto Club Thursday to answer charges that he allegedly slugged a fellow driver.

Foyt, the hard-driving Texan, has denied the charges. He offered to take a lie detector test, if necessary, but was told he would have to make his own arrangements.

Foyt was suspended last month by Henry Banks, USAC's director of competition, in connection with the incident at the Williams Grove, Pa., Speedway. He was penalized on the strength of a report by a USAC official.

The suspension was lifted 48 hours later on the basis of "conflicting reports," Banks said at the time. The move permitted Foyt to continue racing, but he was told he would have to face the board.

If found guilty, Foyt could be fined $1,000 and suspended for one year.

Champs Of 19 PGA Meets Vie In Coast Golf

"Big Three" Missing In $25,000 Tourney

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

ALMADEN, Calif. (UPI) — Champions of 19 PGA tournaments this year, plus most of the other touring pros, tee off Thursday in the $25,000 Almaden Open golf tournament.

Conspicious by their absence, however, will be golf's "big three," Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player. They are tied up with foreign commitments.

Defending champion is Al Geiberger, who is running hot these days. He lost on the last few holes to Nicklaus in the rich $70,000 Sahara tourney at Las Vegas two weeks ago, tieing for second. And he tied for second again last week at Fresno in the Fig Garden Open, behind Mason Rudolph.

While the three big names won't be competing at this course on the outskirts of San Jose, there are three former National Open champions — Ed Furgol, Jack Fleck and Bill Casper—in the strong field.

There also are five ex-PGA kings: Jerry Barber, Jay and Lionel Hebert, Jim Ferrier and Dow Finsterwald.

Among the other big winners are Don Fairfield, who won the Oklahoma City Open; and Phil Rodgers, who won the Texas Open and tied with Bob Charles for the British Open, only to lose in a play off.

Tony Lema, the third-leading money-winner on the tour this year, is on hand. So are such regular tourists as Tommy Aaron, Fred Hawkins, George Bayer, Johnny Pott, Bobby Nichols, Dan Sikes, Doug Sanders, Mike Souchak, Davey Hill, Charley Sifford, Joe Campbell, and Ken Venturi.

Colts Place Pyle On Reserve List

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts announced Wednesday that guard Palmer Pyle has been placed on the reserve list, and will not play any more this season.

Pyle, in his fourth National Football League season, missed part of the 1962 season after suffering a head injury.

A spokesman for the Colts said Pyle had undergone periodic tests, and doctors thought it best that he be sidelined for the rest of the year as a preventative measure rather than risk further injury.

Pyle has been playing as a swing guard behind first stringers Jim Parker and Alex Sandusky. With Pyle off the roster, the Colts are one below the 37-player limit. Another player is expected to be activated in time for Sunday's game here against the Chicago Bears.

Navy's Soccer Team Posts 5th Shutout

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Navy's undefeated, unscored-on soccer team kept its record perfect Wednesday with a 3-0 victory over Gettysburg.

Steelers At Top Strength For Game With Green Bay

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers will be at top physical strength Sunday when they meet the defending National Football League champion Green Bay Packers.

Coach Buddy Parker said the Steelers came out of last Sunday's victory over Dallas with Clendon Thomas the only casualty. But Thomas worked out Wednesday and is expected to be ready Sunday.

Lou Michaels, who suffered a reaction from a penicillin shot last week, was off the first two days of this week but returned to practice Wednesday and also will see action.

The Steelers are in fourth place in the NFL's Eastern Division with a 4-2-1 record. Green Bay is tied for first in the Western Division with a 6-1 mark.

Billport Franchise Taken Over By Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets completed arrangements Wednesday to take over the Williamsport, Pa., baseball franchise in the Class A Eastern League.

Williamsport did not operate last season. It will replace the Mets' former farm club at Quincy, Ill., in the Midwest League. Williamsport is the first Mets' farm club to be owned outright.

The Mets also announced that Gerry Waring, 39, a native of Columbus, Ohio, would be general manager of the Williamsport Mets.

Rubenstein Takes Sock At Boxing

Calls It "Racket" And Dangerous

BALTIMORE (AP) — City Councilman Leon Rubenstein announced Wednesday he is calling a special meeting of the council's Health Committee Nov. 12 to discuss professional boxing.

"I think boxing is a racket," said the chairman of the Health Committee, adding the sport "is now dangerous."

The City Council will be the second body to review boxing since the death of Ernie Knox after a heavyweight fight in Baltimore's Coliseum. Knox, of Baltimore, died 32 hours after he was counted out in a fight Oct. 14 with Wayne Bethea of New York.

A grand jury has been investigating the death since a medical examiner reported the body weighed only 153 pounds. Knox had been listed at 178 for the fight and Bethea 205.

The Maryland Athletic Commission, which approves and regulates boxing, said it would not review the fight until after the grand jury reports.

Rubenstein said he was prompted to air the boxing situation because of contrasting statements by Gov. Millard Tawes and Mayor Theodore McKeldin of Baltimore.

"The governor says boxing is all right and the mayor says it should be eliminated," Rubenstein said.

The governor said Tuesday he does not favor banning boxing in the state. McKeldin said he will use his influence to keep it out of the city's Civic Center.

Tornado Loss Would Crown Romney Champ

Clarkmen Must Win Two To Tie Pioneers For Championship

The race for the 27th football championship of the Potomac Valley Conference has narrowed to two contenders, namely, Romney (6-0) and Keyser (4-1), and Coach Frederick "Tack" Clark's Golden Tornado must win the "big one" Friday with Beall High School before tackling Roger Parker's Pioneers in the finale on November 8 at Romney.

If Beall can knock off Keyser on the latter's field tomorrow afternoon the race will be over and Romney will walk off with the marbles regardless of the outcome of the Keyser-Romney contest. Tomorrow's game at Keyser is set for 1:30 p. m.

Keyser could tie Romney for the championship by winning its last two games from Beall and the Pioneers.

Romney has beaten Franklin 48-7, Moorefield 28-0, Bruce 26-13, Beall 19-13, Ridgeley 38-7 and Petersburg 31-6, and meets Farmington at home Saturday before tackling Keyser the following week.

Keyser's only PVC setback came at the hands of LaSalle, 18-6. The Clarkmen have whipped Ridgeley 14-7, Moorefield 25-0, Southern 8-6 and Petersburg 9-6.

Beall is 2-1 in the P.V.C., with victories over Petersburg 6-0, Southern 7-0 and a loss at the hands of Romney, 19-13, and winds up with LaSalle on Thanksgiving Day. If Beall should sweep its two remaining conference games it can't overcome Romney even though the Pioneers would drop their final contest.

Keyser won the P.V.C. crown with a 7-0 record last season and went on to take the West Virginia Class AA championship by defeating Summersville at Weston, 35-20.

Andy Seminick Named Manager At Chattanooga

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Andy Seminick, catcher for the Philadelphia Phillies championship whiz kids of 1950, was named manager of the Phils Chattanooga farm team of the South Atlantic League Wednesday.

Seminick, in the Phil farms since he left the team as a coach in 1958, replaces Jack Phillips at Chattanooga. The Phils made no announcement on any new assignment for Phillips.

He managed previously at Elmira, N. Y., Des Moines, Iowa, and Williamsport, Pa.

Nugent Picks Stem As Kick-Off Man

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Coach Tom Nugent of Maryland had his kickers working late Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's game against Penn State.

Nugent had his punters and place kickers practicing under the lights on the Terps' practice field after the rest of the squad had been sent to the locker room.

At the end of the drill, Nugent announced he would have a new kick-off man for Saturday's game. He's George Stem, the shortest man on the squad.

Never Bend Enters Saturday's $100,000 Man O' War Stakes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cain Hoy Stable Wednesday announced that Never Bend definitely will start in the $100,000 added Man O'War stakes at Aqueduct Saturday.

Never Bend, a dark bay son of Nasrullah, is a leading contender for the 3-year-old championship of 1963 and can boost his stock tremendously with another big victory. His last time out he beat Kentucky Derby and Belmont winner Chateaugay in the Suffolk Downs Handicap.

Also at stake for the winner of the Man O'War is a possible bid to the Laurel International Nov. 11.

Other probable starters for the mile and five-eighth grass test are The Axe II, Guadalcanal, David K., Sunrise Flight, Cedar Key, Will I Rule, Bronze Babu, Hellenic Hero and Thygold.

The deadline for making reservations is Friday, November 15.

Russian Horses To Arrive Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—Two Russian-bred horses and the national horse racing champion of Hungary were scheduled to arrive in New York Thursday en route to Laurel Race Track in Maryland for the $150,000 Washington, D.C., International to be run Nov. 11.

The two Russian entries are Bryansk and Ivory Tower. Imperial is the Hungarian horse.

Kelso, who finished second in the past two internationals, arrived at Laurel Wednesday representing the United States.

Rocky Colavito Put On Trading Block By Tigers

Braves Are Reported Interested In Trade

By VITO STELLINO
United Press International

DETROIT (UPI) — Home run slugger Rocky Colavito may be headed for a change of leagues as well as baseball clubs.

Colavito, who has spent his nine-year major league career in the American League, five with the Cleveland Indians and the last four with the Detroit Tigers, is on the trading block and at least one National League club, the Milwaukee Braves, is interested.

James Campbell, president of the Detroit Tigers, made it clear that Rocky is sailing in the trade winds Wednesday when he said "the possibility of trading Colavito with the aim of acquiring pitchers and strengthening our infield has been discussed with several clubs."

McHale Interested

And the Milwaukee Sentinel has quoted Braves President John McHale as saying Colavito has been offered to his club, and that he's interested.

Colavito's probable departure from the Tigers was not secret anyway. The predictions that Colavito was spending his last year in a Tiger uniform started early last season while Colavito was batting an anemic .230. He improved during Detroit's famous "salary drive" in late August and September, but his average still was only .271, although he had 91 runs batted in. His home run total was 22, his weakest in the circuit-clout department in six years.

Pitcher Jim Bunning and first baseman Norm Cash also are rumored to be available for trading by the Tigers and it could be that the Tiger management is figuring on a combination of deals to fix their pitching and infield woes.

Pitchers Failed

Ken Smith Is Named Keener's Successor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ken Smith, a New York baseball writer for 38 years, Wednesday was named new director of the National Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., effective Dec. 1.

Smith succeeds Sid Keener, who retires Thursday after 11 years as director. The announcement was made by Paul S. Kerr, president of the Hall of Fame.

Smith was secretary of the Baseball Writers Association of America from 1939 to 1957. He was a baseball writer for the New York Mirror until its recent demise, and prior to that worked for the New York Graphic.

Smith attended the inaugural of the Cooperstown Hall of Fame on June 12, 1939. He will move to Cooperstown and live in the director's cottage.

Buck Fiorita Bags 18-Pound Turkey

Fiorita is best known in baseball circles as manager of Barrelville teams in the Pen-Mar League for 15 years.

Auto Club Hears Foyt Case Today

Charged With Slugging Driver

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) —National driving king A. J. Foyt, 1961 winner of the Indianapolis "500" will go before the board of directors of the U.S. Auto Club Thursday to answer charges that he allegedly slugged a fellow driver.

Foyt, the hard-driving Texan, has denied the charges. He offered to take a lie detector test, if necessary, but was told he would have to make his own arrangements.

Foyt was suspended last month by Henry Banks, USAC's director of competition, in connection with the incident at the Williams Grove, Pa., Speedway. He was penalized on the strength of a report by a USAC official.

The suspension was lifted 48 hours later on the basis of "conflicting reports," Banks said at the time. The move permitted Foyt to continue racing, but he was told he would have to face the board.

If found guilty, Foyt could be fined $1,000 and suspended for one year.

"Big Three" Missing In $25,000 Tourney

By HAL WOOD
UPI Sports Writer

ALMADEN, Calif. (UPI) — Champions of 19 PGA tournaments this year, plus most of the other touring pros, tee off Thursday in the $25,000 Almaden Open golf tournament.

Conspicious by their absence, however, will be golf's "big three," Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player. They are tied up with foreign commitments.

Defending champion is Al Geiberger, who is running hot these days. He lost on the last few holes to Nicklaus in the rich $70,000 Sahara tourney at Las Vegas two weeks ago, tieing for second. And he tied for second again last week at Fresno in the Fig Garden Open, behind Mason Rudolph.

While the three big names won't be competing at this course on the outskirts of San Jose, there are three former National Open champions — Ed Furgol, Jack Fleck and Bill Casper—in the strong field.

There also are five ex-PGA kings: Jerry Barber, Jay and Lionel Hebert, Jim Ferrier and Dow Finsterwald.

Among the other big winners are Don Fairfield, who won the Oklahoma City Open; and Phil Rodgers, who won the Texas Open and tied with Bob Charles for the British Open, only to lose in a play off.

Colts Place Pyle On Reserve List

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts announced Wednesday that guard Palmer Pyle has been placed on the reserve list, and will not play any more this season.

A spokesman for the Colts said Pyle had undergone periodic tests, and doctors thought it best that he be sidelined for the rest of the year as a preventative measure rather than risk further injury.

Navy's Soccer Team Posts 5th Shutout

Steelers At Top Strength For Game With Green Bay

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers will be at top physical strength Sunday when they meet the defending National Football League champion Green Bay Packers.

Coach Buddy Parker said the Steelers came out of last Sunday's victory over Dallas with Clendon Thomas the only casualty. But Thomas worked out Wednesday and is expected to be ready Sunday.

Lou Michaels, who suffered a reaction from a penicillin shot last week, was off the first two days of this week but returned to practice Wednesday and also will see action.

The Steelers are in fourth place in the NFL's Eastern Division with a 4-2-1 record. Green Bay is tied for first in the Western Division with a 6-1 mark.

Billport Franchise Taken Over By Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets completed arrangements Wednesday to take over the Williamsport, Pa., baseball franchise in the Class A Eastern League.

Williamsport did not operate last season. It will replace the Mets' former farm club at Quincy, Ill., in the Midwest League. Williamsport is the first Mets' farm club to be owned outright.

Rubenstein Takes Sock At Boxing

Calls It "Racket" And Dangerous

BALTIMORE (AP) — City Councilman Leon Rubenstein announced Wednesday he is calling a special meeting of the council's Health Committee Nov. 12 to discuss professional boxing.

"I think boxing is a racket," said the chairman of the Health Committee, adding the sport "is now dangerous."

The City Council will be the second body to review boxing since the death of Ernie Knox after a heavyweight fight in Baltimore's Coliseum. Knox, of Baltimore, died 32 hours after he was counted out in a fight Oct. 14 with Wayne Bethea of New York.

A grand jury has been investigating the death since a medical examiner reported the body weighed only 153 pounds. Knox had been listed at 178 for the fight and Bethea 205.

The Maryland Athletic Commission, which approves and regulates boxing, said it would not review the fight until after the grand jury reports.

Rubenstein said he was prompted to air the boxing situation because of contrasting statements by Gov. Millard Tawes and Mayor Theodore McKeldin of Baltimore.

PVC And CVAL Cross Country Titles At Stake In Meets Today

Elk Garden, Beall Test Romney Here

Fort Hill, Campers Vie At Martinsburg, Rebels Are Favored

Championship cross country action takes place today on two fronts, with the Potomac Valley Conference meet set for Fort Cumberland Golf Course and the Cumberland Valley Athletic League title test at Martinsburg. Both meets will get under way at 4 p.m.

Unbeaten Romney defends its PVC title against Beall and Elk Garden here. The Pioneer harriers are paced by Allen Hott, holder of the Fort Cumberland course record who last year led his team to a narrow victory over Beall for the conference crown.

South Hagerstown is the team to beat at Martinsburg, where Allegany and Fort Hill will find themselves in underdog roles. The host school, and Frederick and North Hagerstown round out the CVAL field.

Rebels Unbeaten

South's Rebels are unbeaten in five 1963 meets, coasting over Mercersburg (Pa.) Academy, 18-39, last Saturday. Co-captains James Ebberts and Steve Costion, and Wayne Vaughn are South's outstanding runners.

This will be the fourth straight year for the PVC meet. Beall won in 1960 and 1961, and ran second to Romney (34-38) in last year's close battle.

Hott's time of 10:46 in that meet was his best to date, but he has been under 11 minutes several times this season and has finished first in all four of the Hampshire Countians' starts. Lionel Pepper always finished strong behind Hott to give the Pioneers a formidable one-two punch.

"B" Meets Scheduled

Two Class B meets will supplement the main attraction at Fort Cumberland today. The varsity teams of Paw Paw and Capon Bridge will vie with "B" squads from Romney and Elk Garden. A five-way affair brings together "B" units from Oldtown, Valley, Allegany, Fort Hill and Beall.

In addition to deciding two championships, today's meets will serve as tune-ups for the area meet next Thursday at Fort Cumberland.

PVC And CVAL Cross Country Titles At Stake In Meets Today

Elk Garden, Beall Test Romney Here

Fort Hill, Campers Vie At Martinsburg, Rebels Are Favored

Championship cross country action takes place today on two fronts, with the Potomac Valley Conference meet set for Fort Cumberland Golf Course and the Cumberland Valley Athletic League title test at Martinsburg. Both meets will get under way at 4 p.m.

Unbeaten Romney defends its PVC title against Beall and Elk Garden here. The Pioneer harriers are paced by Allen Hott, holder of the Fort Cumberland course record who last year led his team to a narrow victory over Beall for the conference crown.

South Hagerstown is the team to beat at Martinsburg, where Allegany and Fort Hill will find themselves in underdog roles. The host school, and Frederick and North Hagerstown round out the CVAL field.

Rebels Unbeaten

South's Rebels are unbeaten in five 1963 meets, coasting over Mercersburg (Pa.) Academy, 18-39, last Saturday. Co-captains James Ebberts and Steve Costion, and Wayne Vaughn are South's outstanding runners.

This will be the fourth straight year for the PVC meet. Beall won in 1960 and 1961, and ran second to Romney (34-38) in last year's close battle.

Hott's time of 10:46 in that meet was his best to date, but he has been under 11 minutes several times this season and has finished first in all four of the Hampshire Countians' starts. Lionel Pepper always finished strong behind Hott to give the Pioneers a formidable one-two punch.

"B" Meets Scheduled

Two Class B meets will supplement the main attraction at Fort Cumberland today. The varsity teams of Paw Paw and Capon Bridge will vie with "B" squads from Romney and Elk Garden. A five-way affair brings together "B" units from Oldtown, Valley, Allegany, Fort Hill and Beall.

In addition to deciding two championships, today's meets will serve as tune-ups for the area meet next Thursday at Fort Cumberland.

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Birds And Rodents Do Record Damage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal official said Tuesday birds and rodents have done a record amount of damage this year in Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia.

Nelson Swink Jr., district agent of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said starlings, groundhogs and other farm pests have been building up in number in the last few years.

Swink was among those attending a meeting of state officials and farm organization representatives from the three states to consider control measures.

The meeting was organized by Rep. John O. Marsh Jr., D-Va., who said he had received reports of "tremendous damage" to farm crops from the pests.

Market Drops Sharply

NEW YORK (UPI) — Profit taking in electronics, lower earnings in motors and some bad news in the drug industry helped break a string of four successive advances Wednesday giving the stock market its worst setback in over a month.

Dow-Jones industrial average finished at 755.19, off 5.31 from Tuesday's historic high and the sharpest break since the 6.74 of Sept. 26. Rails were off 1.07 but utilites moved up 0.48.

Weakness in the drugs reflected new evidence of price fixing in the drug industry termed "so rapacious as to make the infamous international cartels of the 1930's blushing novices by comparison." Merck dropped 3, Johnson & Johnson 2, Peoples Drug 1, Sterling ⅞ and Colgate ½. No specific companies have been mentioned in the price fixing charge as yet.

Birds And Rodents Do Record Damage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal official said Tuesday birds and rodents have done a record amount of damage this year in Virginia, Maryland and West Virginia.

Nelson Swink Jr., district agent of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said starlings, groundhogs and other farm pests have been building up in number in the last few years.

Swink was among those attending a meeting of state officials and farm organization representatives from the three states to consider control measures.

The meeting was organized by Rep. John O. Marsh Jr., D-Va., who said he had received reports of "tremendous damage" to farm crops from the pests.

Market Drops Sharply

NEW YORK (UPI) — Profit taking in electronics, lower earnings in motors and some bad news in the drug industry helped break a string of four successive advances Wednesday giving the stock market its worst setback in over a month.

Trading ran somewhat behind its recent hectic pace but still managed to pile up 5,170,000 shares—830,000 behind Tuesday.

Dow-Jones industrial average finished at 755.19, off 5.31 from Tuesday's historic high and the sharpest break since the 6.74 of Sept. 26. Rails were off 1.07 but utilites moved up 0.48.

Weakness in the drugs reflected new evidence of price fixing in the drug industry termed "so rapacious as to make the infamous international cartels of the 1930's blushing novices by comparison." Merck dropped 3, Johnson & Johnson 2, Peoples Drug 1, Sterling ⅞ and Colgate ½. No specific companies have been mentioned in the price fixing charge as yet.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Thomas W. Gray who passed away six years ago today, October 31, 1957.
Do not ask me if I miss him,
There's such a vacant place.
Oft I think I hear his footsteps
and see his smiling face.
Days of sadness still come o'er me
Tears in silence often flow
Memory keeps him ever near me,
Though he left me 6 years ago.
Sadly missed by

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Thomas W. Gray who passed away six years ago today, October 31, 1957.
Do not ask me if I miss him,
There's such a vacant place.
Oft I think I hear his footsteps
and see his smiling face.
Days of sadness still come o'er me
Tears in silence often flow
Memory keeps him ever near me,
Though he left me 6 years ago.
Sadly missed by
Cleona (Gray) McMillan & family

Hardesty Probe Plan Rejected

Students Hit Selection Method

Wilbur Berry, acting president of Student Government at Frostburg State College, said late last night the executive council of the student group has rejected a proposal by R. Bowen Hardesty, president, to name a committee to study complaints of tension and fear at the college.

Earlier yesterday students overwhelmingly voted on a statement to be sent to Mr. Hardesty which contained numerous charges against the administration.

Student Government representatives took the statement to Mr. Hardesty and it was proposed that a committee made up of one-third administration members, one-third faculty members and one-third students be named.

Mr. Hardesty said the administration committee members would be named by himself, the faculty members by Dean Ivan C. Diehl and the students by Dean Alice R. Manicur. However, the executive council rejected this proposal.

Will Vote Tonight

Mr. Berry said a special meeting of the Student Association (all students) will be held tonight to vote on two methods of selecting this committee to study the statement.

The first method would be that the students select their own members of the committee, the faculty members named by secret vote of the faculty and the administration members nominated by the administrators.

The other method would be that an outside neutral group come on campus and observe and study the existing conditions and then consider the statement.

Copies of the statement reportedly were sent to Gov. Tawes, the state's new College Board of Trustees and the Maryland General Assembly. However, no requests were made to these groups for any action in the FSC matter.

Vote Is 1,045 To 6

Students attending yesterday's meeting of the Student Association, which is made up of all 1,600 students at the college, voted 1,045 to 6 in favor of the statement, which included five cases which they said involved misuse of pressure by the administration.

The statement said the students think the pressure exerted on them and the faculty and the resulting fear have definitely hampered the students' learning process. It also said the students agree with the stated philosophy of Frostburg State College, but not with the manner it was being interpreted by the college administration.

Mr. Berry conducted yesterday's meeting and told the group much preparation had gone into the statement and that it had been carefully checked and rechecked. He also pointed out 670 man hours were spent in research and 14 hours were spent preparing the statement.

AAUP Wants Probe

Yesterday, the Frostburg Chapter of the American Association of University Professors prepared a letter to William L. Wilson, president of the state's new College Board of Trustees, requesting "an immediate investigation of the tensions" at the college.

Mr. Wilson said he had not received the letter as of last night, but that he would take immediate action on the formal request once he receives it.

The Frostburg Chapter of AAUP, which represents about half the faculty at the college, said "members have been disturbed about the relations between the faculty and administration of Frostburg State College during the past few months."

The statement also claimed the college administration is attempting to stifle criticism of its policies and procedures and is bypassing the faculty in reorganizing the college and in adopting educational policy.

The Frostburg AAUP group offered its assistance to the College Board of Trustees to help "improve the unfortunate conditions at Frostburg State College."

Hardesty Cites Standards

Earlier in the day Mr. Hardesty said "the administration of Frostburg State College, dedicated to uphold high standards, does not intend relinquishing its reins to a small dissenting group of students and faculty."

The college president said there are problems in the transition to a state college and cooperation is needed from both the faculty and the students. He said the college does not sidestep its responsibilities for "a few students and a few faculty members who are unwilling to accept state college status."

All of the four classes at the college yesterday issued statements which cited fear and tension at the college and protested the behavior of Mr. Hardesty on several matters, especially the case in which Jerry Howie resigned as president of Student Government because of what he claimed was pressure exerted on him by Mr. Hardesty.

Students Air Grievances In Statement

President Denies Communication Void

The students' statement is as follows:

"It is with sincere regret that the Student Association accepts the resignation of Jerry Howie from the office of President of the Student Association. We believe that Mr. Howie has given extensive consideration concerning his resignation, and it is because we realize this that we respect his decision. Furthermore, we most firmly believe that Mr. Howie is not only an able statesman, but one whose forced self-removal will be a great loss to all the students as well as to the governing body.

"Here the Student Association wishes to state that although the personal dispute between an individual and the president has been resolved there still exists a very definite ethical problem to be dealt with. The principles of the student administration are clearly pointed out in the philosophy of the Student Association for 1963. It states, in effect, the necessity for students to develop skills of citizenship in a democratic society—skills which must be experienced in all institutions of higher learning. The Student Association must possess the right to aid in the development of policy, goals, and programs in action rather than in name only. Students must, in reality, have the right to participate effectively in the functions of the college which directly affect their social, economic, physical, and intellectual welfare. We feel some of the rights contained in this philosophy have been suppressed.

Interpretation Disputed

"Since the student is a vital part of the educational community, he has definite responsibilities. However, in order to fulfill these responsibilities, he must enjoy certain rights. We, as a student body, fully understand and agree with the stated philosophy of Frostburg State College, but not with the manner in which this philosophy is being interpreted. Thus, we believe that the following responsibilities and rights as exemplified by the National Student Association are essential to the preservation of this philosophy and are indispensible to the development of the educational community.

"We recognize the responsibility of every student to devote himself to increasing his knowledge and understanding of the world around him, in preparation for the fulfillment of his potential as a human being.

"We recognize the responsibility of every student to uphold the academic integrity of his educational institution.

"We recognize the right of every student to clear and consise written statements of regulations and responsibilities pertaining to educational policies and curricular and extra-curricular activities, we further recognize the allied rights of students to be informed through proper channels of any change, such changes not to be effective until after such notification, no punishment or restrictions to be ex post facto.

"We recognize the right of every student to protection against any unreasonable, arbituary actions by members of the administration and/or the faculty.

"We recognize the right of students to establish democratic student government with the authority to administer, legislate, and adjudicate in all areas with-

Jury Returns Verdict For Defendant

Damage Suit Heard In Circuit Court

A verdict for the defendant was returned yesterday afternoon by an Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury which heard testimony in a damage suit involving a two-car collison on December 13, 1957 on U. S. Route 40 near the Hinkle Road intersection east of Cumberland.

The 11-member jury with Mrs. Marguerite B. Deetz, of 848 Camden Avenue, as foreman, deliberated less than 10 minutes. Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey was on the bench at yesterday's trial.

The damage suit was brought against Ernest R. Smith of Martinsburg by Gary S. Barker of Ridgeley.

At the outset of the trial one member of the jury was unable to appear in court and counsel for both the plaintiff and defendant agreed to have the case heard by the other 11 members of the petit jury.

Yesterday morning two local surgeons testified they did an operation on Barker's throat to insert a tube in order that he could breathe. One of the doctors said Barker was "drowning in his own blood" and this necessitated the surgery.

They also described head injuries in which brain damage affected Barker's eyesight. He was unconscious for about a week after the crash, one of the surgeons said.

Aside from the two surgeons, two other men besides the plaintiff testified. Five persons including the former trooper and the defendant testified for the defense.

Paul Barnett, city, and Samuel Barrick of Frederick represented the plaintiff and William A. Geppert and Hugh A. McMullen were counsel for the defendant.

Three Dwelling Permits Issued

Permits for four construction projects with a total estimated value of $43,800 were issued by the City of Cumberland. They included three dwellings and a carport.

Presley Mauk, Bedford Road, secured a permit to build a one-story dwelling at 10 Beechwood Drive in the White Oaks addition. It will be about 56 by 30 feet and of brick veneer construction.

Carl E. Mosser, LaVale, was issued a permit to build a one-story dwelling at 1424 Dogwood Court, also in the White Oaks addition. It will be about 49 by 29 feet and of frame and brick construction.

Marvin Kaplon, 637 Shriver Avenue, secured a permit to build a 1½ story, split level home at 1404 Holland Street. It will be about 35 by 54 feet and of brick veneer construction.

The Allegany County Library secured a permit to build a 15 by 24 foot carport at the rear of the library on Prospect Square. It will be of white corrugated plastic construction and will be used to shelter the bookmobile.

Jailed For Assault

Matthew Edwards, 223 Humbird Street, was sentenced to 90 days in Allegany County jail on a charge of assaulting his wife at a hearing before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt yesterday in Magistrates Court.

League Presented Check

The Cumberland Lions Club yesterday presented a check for $1,000 to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children during a weekly dinner meeting at Central YMCA. Charles Wilt, president of the local service club, is shown presenting the check to Miss Henrietta Lippold, executive secretary of the league. The local service club also supports programs including the CUF, Boy Scouts and is primarily interested in furthering its sight conservation program.

It's Just Bigger

Bolivian Workers Amazed At Degree Of Automation

He was advised the last census listed the city's population at 33,415.

"Well, if Cumberland is like this, what is New York like?" one of the visitors asked.

Most of the visitors are residents of LaPaz, seat of the Bolivian government, which has a population of about 247,000.

According to the World Almanac, LaPaz is located in a gigantic canyon at an altitude of about 11,800 feet and is framed by high Andean peaks.

Once part of the ancient Incan empire, the country is primarily agricultural. The most important industry is mining, and about 15 per cent of the world's output of tin comes from Bolivia.

Woman Gets Fine For Shoplifting

A Keyser, W. Va., woman yesterday was fined $25 and court costs when she was given a hearing on a charge of shoplifting before Trial Magistrate Edward Flanigan in Frostburg, police said.

Tfc. Charles T. Snow said Mrs. Charlotte Ann Smith took merchandise valued at $53 from the Miracle Mart and Grant's Store in LaVale.

He said the store detective at the Miracle Mart observed the woman carrying merchandise from the store and saw her leave the premises without paying for the goods.

Maryland State Police were called and an investigation disclosed she had other merchandise in a car which was parked near the Miracle Mart.

About $37 in merchandise had been taken by the woman from the Miracle Mart and $16 worth of goods taken from Grant's Store, said Trooper Snow.

Lanterns Stolen From City Projects

Street Department workers are being plagued by the theft of lanterns and torches from street projects, Commissioner Lucile Roeder said yesterday.

She said the lanterns and torches are placed with barricades around holes dug in the streets, and that accidents and possible injuries may result when the warning signals are missing.

New Facility At Sugar Grove Seems Likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The transfer of the naval radio receiving station from Cheltenham, Md., to West Virginia and a deficiency authorization for the West Virginia National Guard at Pt. Pleasant were approved Wednesday by Senate-House conferees.

Both items were for the military construction bill. Both cover only authorization and actual money must be included in separate appropriation bills.

The Guard item calls for an $84,000 deficiency for a combined field and maintenance shop at Pt. Pleasant, it was announced by Sens. Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph and Rep. Ken Hechler, all D-W. Va.

Hechler said the deficiency is needed because the previous authorization and appropriation of $?10,000 which Congress approved in the fiscal year 1961-62 was not enough to meet the construction costs. Previous bids have exceeded the amount available.

The House had cut out the $3.8 million authorization requested by the Navy but the Senate restored the amount, Byrd said. Conferees meeting to iron out differences agreed to accept the Senate's decision.

Masonic Craftsmen Committees Named

Committee appointments for Cumberland Council 53, Universal Craftsmen Council of Engineers, were announced yesterday by George W. Lucas, worthy chief.

Frank Kelley has been named chairman of the Journal promotion committee; Walter Henry, employment; Robert Ewing, membership; Austin Ward, attendance; Albert Kalbaugh, civic interest; Lynn Walker, educational, and Kenneth Crowe, publicity.

The council will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Business will include plans for the visit of the grand chief.

Fire Uncontrolled On Big Savage

Other Blazes Still Being Watched

A forest fire, described as a "bad one" was burning out of control atop Big Savage Mountain in Garrett County, according to a Forestry Department employe, who said another fire which burned a large area on Tuesday on Dan's Mountain was being watered down last night.

The fire on Big Savage Mountain was reported at 8:48 p.m., and approximately 14 boys from the forestry camp near Lonaconing were being moved into the area to fight the fire under the direction of W. A. C. Irwin, district forester.

Volunteer firemen from Frostburg were called to the area but could not get their equipment into the remote area where the fire was burning and returned to their station in Frostburg.

Other available personnel of the Forestry Department were being sent into the area with fire fighting equipment. The Dan's Rock fire tower reported that the reflection of the fire was visible and it appeared to be a "bad one."

Boys Watch Fire Line

Some 16 boys from the forestry camp at Meadow Mountain were reported watching the fire line on Dan's Mountain where at least eight acres of land in the vicinity of Danville were scorched on Tuesday.

J. A. Porter, district forester at Romney, W. Va., reported that there were no new forest fires in that area, although the forest fire danger is great.

He said two fires in Mineral County were brought under control yesterday. Mr. Porter said one of the fires had been set and the other originated from a lighted cigarette which had been tossed into a parking area.

Volunteers Called

Fire Chief Brownie Strawderman of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company said the unit received a call about 11:30 p. m. Tuesday concerning a blaze on the south side of the mountain in the area which overlooks the Cumberland Fairgrounds.

The Wiley Ford unit called in Ridgeley, Patterson Creek and Short Gap firemen to help battle the blaze on the south side of the mountain as well as a fire on the west side of the mountain which was reported by guards at the Amcelle plant.

Approximately 60 firemen battled the flames until about 5 a. m. yesterday. Standby crews were left on the scene to patrol the smoldering fires and some were still on the scene yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Porter said the burning index is back up again and the fire situation is bad.

Water Line Repairs Set

The Cumberland Water Department will shut off the 20-inch water line to Cresaptown this morning for repairs.

The water will be shut off about 9:30 a. m. and should be turned on again in about an hour, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

Affected will be all users along McMullen Highway from Circle Inn to Cresaptown.

The line must be shut down to replace a broken corporation cock at McMullen Highway and Division Avenue.

The jobs included the repacking of a 12-inch valve at the subway, the installation of a new gate valve in a six-inch line and cutting out an abandoned line located where one of the piers of the new Wineow Street Bridge will be placed.

Tawes Is Asked To Intervene Against Carport

Six Prospect Square property owners last night sent a night letter to Gov. Tawes asking him to urge the Allegany County Library Board to delay construction of a "modern carport and private parking lot" on the County Library lawn.

The message, which called the library "one of Cumberland's oldest and most cherished properties," asked the governor to urge a delay "until all possible alternatives have been explored."

Signers were Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Catherman, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ponton, Mrs. Leonie Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Reinhard Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Pariser and Mrs. Ada Warwick, all of whom live on the square.

Copies were sent to Attorney General Thomas B. Finan and to James Alfred Avirett, member of the Library Board.

Barbershop Choruses Will Meet Friday

The Queen City Kings Barbershop Chorus, sponsored by the City Recreation Department, will hold its first fall meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall Auditorium, according to John E. Sell, president.

A meeting of the Queen City Girls Barbershop Chorus will follow at 8:30 p.m., said Mrs. Shirley Tindal, president.

Fire Damages Home On Old Route 51

Flames Confined To One Room

Fire Chief L. J. Shoemaker of District 16 Volunteer Fire Company said neighbors of George Evans, whose bungalow was damaged by the fire, kept the flames confined to a section of one of the rooms.

They used water from a cistern near the Evans home, according to the fire chief, who said the water placed in the cistern had been drawn earlier this month by the fire company from a hydrant in the 1800-block of East Oldtown Road, resulting in an arrest by city police.

After getting a call about 10 a. m. yesterday the volunteers of District 16 traveled four miles and when they arrived on the scene learned the neighbors had the fire under control. Firemen from Oldtown were also summoned.

Chief Shoemaker said the fire was believed to have originated in a cold air return in the hot air heating system.

Chief Shoemaker also reported that his company assisted local firemen who were called Tuesday evening to the city dump where a small shed was destroyed by fire.

Teachers Hear Science Talk At Beall High

Approximately 40 science teachers of public high schools in Allegany and Garrett counties last night heard a talk by Dr. Charles R. Phillips, chief of the physical defense division of the U. S. Army Biological Laboratories at Fort Detrick, who spoke at Beall High School.

He discussed the prevention of biological contamination on an inter-planetary, scale, according to Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools in Allegany County who said the meeting is one of a series of sessions with scientists.

The sessions are co-sponsored by the Maryland Academy of Science and the State Department of Education. Last night's speaker, who is a former instructor of chemistry at Penn State University served as an industrial rehabilitation specialist with the United Nations in Germany.

He received his bachelor's degree in chemistry from Clemson and his master's degree from Penn State where he did his doctorate's work.

Mr. Petry said the next session will be held November 6. Matthew Wargovich, of the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, will speak on the phenomena of meteorology.

Man Sentenced On Three Counts

A local man was sentenced to a total of 20 days in the Allegany County jail and given a six months sentence in the Maryland House of Correction on three separate charges at hearings yesterday in Police Court.

James Flanagan, 10 State Street, was given 10 days each in the county jail on a charge of disturbing the peace and another violation, by Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt.

In another case he was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction after he was found guilty of assaulting Donald Bennett, 316 Park Street.

Brief meetings will be held at the bolt and forge shop and Diesel shop, at which time James W. Stein, president of United Rubber Workers Local No. 26 and co-chairman of the Big Seven Division of the CUF campaign, will outline the CUF story to the railroad employes.

Hardesty Probe Plan Rejected

Students Hit Selection Method

Wilbur Berry, acting president of Student Government at Frostburg State College, said late last night the executive council of the student group has rejected a proposal by R. Bowen Hardesty, president, to name a committee to study complaints of tension and fear at the college.

Earlier yesterday students overwhelmingly voted on a statement to be sent to Mr. Hardesty which contained numerous charges against the administration.

Student Government representatives took the statement to Mr. Hardesty and it was proposed that a committee made up of one-third administration members, one-third faculty members and one-third students be named.

Mr. Hardesty said the administration committee members would be named by himself, the faculty members by Dean Ivan C. Diehl and the students by Dean Alice R. Manicur. However, the executive council rejected this proposal.

Will Vote Tonight

Mr. Berry said a special meeting of the Student Association (all students) will be held tonight to vote on two methods of selecting this committee to study the statement.

The first method would be that the students select their own members of the committee, the faculty members named by secret vote of the faculty and the administration members nominated by the administrators.

The other method would be that an outside neutral group come on campus and observe and study the existing conditions and then consider the statement.

Copies of the statement reportedly were sent to Gov. Tawes, the state's new College Board of Trustees and the Maryland General Assembly. However, no requests were made to these groups for any action in the FSC matter.

Vote Is 1,045 To 6

Students attending yesterday's meeting of the Student Association, which is made up of all 1,600 students at the college, voted 1,045 to 6 in favor of the statement, which included five cases which they said involved misuse of pressure by the administration.

The statement said the students think the pressure exerted on them and the faculty and the resulting fear have definitely hampered the students' learning process. It also said the students agree with the stated philosophy of Frostburg State College, but not with the manner it was being interpreted by the college administration.

Mr. Berry conducted yesterday's meeting and told the group much preparation had gone into the statement and that it had been carefully checked and rechecked. He also pointed out 670 man hours were spent in research and 14 hours were spent preparing the statement.

AAUP Wants Probe

Yesterday, the Frostburg Chapter of the American Association of University Professors prepared a letter to William L. Wilson, president of the state's new College Board of Trustees, requesting "an immediate investigation of the tensions" at the college.

Mr. Wilson said he had not received the letter as of last night, but that he would take immediate action on the formal request once he receives it.

The Frostburg Chapter of AAUP, which represents about half the faculty at the college, said "members have been disturbed about the relations between the faculty and administration of Frostburg State College during the past few months."

The statement also claimed the college administration is attempting to stifle criticism of its policies and procedures and is bypassing the faculty in reorganizing the college and in adopting educational policy.

The Frostburg AAUP group offered its assistance to the College Board of Trustees to help "improve the unfortunate conditions at Frostburg State College."

Hardesty Cites Standards

Earlier in the day Mr. Hardesty said "the administration of Frostburg State College, dedicated to uphold high standards, does not intend relinquishing its reins to a small dissenting group of students and faculty."

The college president said there are problems in the transition to a state college and cooperation is needed from both the faculty and the students. He said the college does not sidestep its responsibilities for "a few students and a few faculty members who are unwilling to accept state college status."

All of the four classes at the college yesterday issued statements which cited fear and tension at the college and protested the behavior of Mr. Hardesty on several matters, especially the case in which Jerry Howie resigned as president of Student Government because of what he claimed was pressure exerted on him by Mr. Hardesty.

Students Air Grievances In Statement

President Denies Communication Void

Following are the statements approved yesterday by a majority of the students concerning the tensions at Frostburg State College, and a statement by R. Bowen Hardesty, president, on communication at the college.

"It is with sincere regret that the Student Association accepts the resignation of Jerry Howie from the office of President of the Student Association. We believe that Mr. Howie has given extensive consideration concerning his resignation, and it is because we realize this that we respect his decision. Furthermore, we most firmly believe that Mr. Howie is not only an able statesman, but one whose forced self-removal will be a great loss to all the students as well as to the governing body.

"Here the Student Association wishes to state that although the personal dispute between an individual and the president has been resolved there still exists a very definite ethical problem to be dealt with. The principles of the student administration are clearly pointed out in the philosophy of the Student Association for 1963. It states, in effect, the necessity for students to develop skills of citizenship in a democratic society—skills which must be experienced in all institutions of higher learning. The Student Association must possess the right to aid in the development of policy, goals, and programs in action rather than in name only. Students must, in reality, have the right to participate effectively in the functions of the college which directly affect their social, economic, physical, and intellectual welfare. We feel some of the rights contained in this philosophy have been suppressed.

Interpretation Disputed

"Since the student is a vital part of the educational community, he has definite responsibilities. However, in order to fulfill these responsibilities, he must enjoy certain rights. We, as a student body, fully understand and agree with the stated philosophy of Frostburg State College, but not with the manner in which this philosophy is being interpreted. Thus, we believe that the following responsibilities and rights as exemplified by the National Student Association are essential to the preservation of this philosophy and are indispensible to the development of the educational community.

"We recognize the responsibility of every student to devote himself to increasing his knowledge and understanding of the world around him, in preparation for the fulfillment of his potential as a human being.

"We recognize the responsibility of every student to seek, discuss, and publish the truth.

"We recognize the responsibility of every student to uphold the academic integrity of his educational institution.

"We recognize the right of every student to clear and consise written statements of regulations and responsibilities pertaining to educational policies and curricular and extra-curricular activities, we further recognize the allied rights of students to be informed through proper channels of any change, such changes not to be effective until after such notification, no punishment or restrictions to be ex post facto.

"We recognize the right of every student to protection against any unreasonable, arbituary actions by members of the administration and/or the faculty.

"We recognize the right of students to establish democratic student government with the authority to administer, legislate, and adjudicate in all areas with-

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Damage Suit Heard In Circuit Court

A verdict for the defendant was returned yesterday afternoon by an Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury which heard testimony in a damage suit involving a two-car collison on December 13, 1957 on U. S. Route 40 near the Hinkle Road intersection east of Cumberland.

The 11-member jury with Mrs. Marguerite B. Deetz, of 848 Camden Avenue, as foreman, deliberated less than 10 minutes. Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey was on the bench at yesterday's trial.

The damage suit was brought against Ernest R. Smith of Martinsburg by Gary S. Barker of Ridgeley.

Among the witnesses was former state trooper George R. Robinette, who is now employed as a guard at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory.

At the outset of the trial one member of the jury was unable to appear in court and counsel for both the plaintiff and defendant agreed to have the case heard by the other 11 members of the petit jury.

Yesterday morning two local surgeons testified they did an operation on Barker's throat to insert a tube in order that he could breathe. One of the doctors said Barker was "drowning in his own blood" and this necessitated the surgery.

They also described head injuries in which brain damage affected Barker's eyesight. He was unconscious for about a week after the crash, one of the surgeons said.

Aside from the two surgeons, two other men besides the plaintiff testified. Five persons including the former trooper and the defendant testified for the defense.

Paul Barnett, city, and Samuel Barrick of Frederick represented the plaintiff and William A. Geppert and Hugh A. McMullen were counsel for the defendant.

Three Dwelling Permits Issued

Permits for four construction projects with a total estimated value of $43,800 were issued by the City of Cumberland. They included three dwellings and a carport.

Presley Mauk, Bedford Road, secured a permit to build a one-story dwelling at 10 Beechwood Drive in the White Oaks addition. It will be about 56 by 30 feet and of brick veneer construction.

Carl E. Mosser, LaVale, was issued a permit to build a one-story dwelling at 1424 Dogwood Court, also in the White Oaks addition. It will be about 49 by 29 feet and of frame and brick construction.

Marvin Kaplon, 637 Shriver Avenue, secured a permit to build a 1½ story, split level home at 1404 Holland Street. It will be about 35 by 54 feet and of brick veneer construction.

The Allegany County Library secured a permit to build a 15 by 24 foot carport at the rear of the library on Prospect Square. It will be of white corrugated plastic construction and will be used to shelter the bookmobile.

Jailed For Assault

Matthew Edwards, 223 Humbird Street, was sentenced to 90 days in Allegany County jail on a charge of assaulting his wife at a hearing before Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt yesterday in Magistrates Court.

League Presented Check

The Cumberland Lions Club yesterday presented a check for $1,000 to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children during a weekly dinner meeting at Central YMCA. Charles Wilt, president of the local service club, is shown presenting the check to Miss Henrietta Lippold, executive secretary of the league. The local service club also supports programs including the CUF, Boy Scouts and is primarily interested in furthering its sight conservation program.

It's Just Bigger

Bolivian Workers Amazed At Degree Of Automation

He was advised the last census listed the city's population at 33,415.

"Well, if Cumberland is like this, what is New York like?" one of the visitors asked.

Most of the visitors are residents of LaPaz, seat of the Bolivian government, which has a population of about 247,000.

According to the World Almanac, LaPaz is located in a gigantic canyon at an altitude of about 11,800 feet and is framed by high Andean peaks.

Once part of the ancient Incan empire, the country is primarily agricultural. The most important industry is mining, and about 15 per cent of the world's output of tin comes from Bolivia.

Woman Gets Fine For Shoplifting

A Keyser, W. Va., woman yesterday was fined $25 and court costs when she was given a hearing on a charge of shoplifting before Trial Magistrate Edward Flanigan in Frostburg, police said.

Tfc. Charles T. Snow said Mrs. Charlotte Ann Smith took merchandise valued at $53 from the Miracle Mart and Grant's Store in LaVale.

He said the store detective at the Miracle Mart observed the woman carrying merchandise from the store and saw her leave the premises without paying for the goods.

Maryland State Police were called and an investigation disclosed she had other merchandise in a car which was parked near the Miracle Mart.

About $37 in merchandise had been taken by the woman from the Miracle Mart and $16 worth of goods taken from Grant's Store, said Trooper Snow.

Lanterns Stolen From City Projects

Street Department workers are being plagued by the theft of lanterns and torches from street projects, Commissioner Lucile Roeder said yesterday.

She said the lanterns and torches are placed with barricades around holes dug in the streets, and that accidents and possible injuries may result when the warning signals are missing.

New Facility At Sugar Grove Seems Likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The transfer of the naval radio receiving station from Cheltenham, Md., to West Virginia and a deficiency authorization for the West Virginia National Guard at Pt. Pleasant were approved Wednesday by Senate-House conferees.

Both items were for the military construction bill. Both cover only authorization and actual money must be included in separate appropriation bills.

The Guard item calls for an $84,000 deficiency for a combined field and maintenance shop at Pt. Pleasant, it was announced by Sens. Robert C. Byrd and Jennings Randolph and Rep. Ken Hechler, all D-W. Va.

Hechler said the deficiency is needed because the previous authorization and appropriation of $10,000 which Congress approved in the fiscal year 1961-62 was not enough to meet the construction costs. Previous bids have exceeded the amount available.

The House had cut out the $3.8 million authorization requested by the Navy but the Senate restored the amount, Byrd said. Conferees meeting to iron out differences agreed to accept the Senate's decision.

Masonic Craftsmen Committees Named

Committee appointments for Cumberland Council 53, Universal Craftsmen Council of Engineers, were announced yesterday by George W. Lucas, worthy chief

Frank Kelley has been named chairman of the Journal promotion committee; Walter Henry, employment; Robert Ewing, membership; Austin Ward, attendance; Albert Kalbaugh, civic interest; Lynn Walker, educational, and Kenneth Crowe, publicity.

The council will meet Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Business will include plans for the visit of the grand chief.

Fire Uncontrolled On Big Savage

Other Blazes Still Being Watched

A forest fire, described as a "bad one" was burning out of control atop Big Savage Mountain in Garrett County, according to a Forestry Department employe, who said another fire which burned a large area on Tuesday on Dan's Mountain was being watered down last night.

The fire on Big Savage Mountain was reported at 8:48 p.m., and approximately 14 boys from the forestry camp near Lonaconing were being moved into the area to fight the fire under the direction of W. A. C. Irwin, district forester.

Volunteer firemen from Frostburg were called to the area but could not get their equipment into the remote area where the fire was burning and returned to their station in Frostburg.

Other available personnel of the Forestry Department were being sent into the area with fire fighting equipment. The Dan's Rock fire tower reported that the reflection of the fire was visible and it appeared to be a "bad one."

Boys Watch Fire Line

Some 16 boys from the forestry camp at Meadow Mountain were reported watching the fire line on Dan's Mountain where at least eight acres of land in the vicinity of Danville were scorched on Tuesday.

J. A. Porter, district forester at Romney, W. Va., reported that there were no new forest fires in that area, although the forest fire danger is great.

He said two fires in Mineral County were brought under control yesterday. Mr. Porter said one of the fires had been set and the other originated from a lighted cigarette which had been tossed into a parking area.

Volunteers Called

Fire Chief Brownie Strawderman of the Wiley Ford Volunteer Fire Company said the unit received a call about 11:30 p. m. Tuesday concerning a blaze on the south side of the mountain in the area which overlooks the Cumberland Fairgrounds.

The Wiley Ford unit called in Ridgeley, Patterson Creek and Short Gap firemen to help battle the blaze on the south side of the mountain as well as a fire on the west side of the mountain which was reported by guards at the Amcelle plant.

Approximately 60 firemen battled the flames until about 5 a. m. yesterday. Standby crews were left on the scene to patrol the smoldering fires and some were still on the scene yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Porter said the burning index is back up again and the fire situation is bad.

Water Line Repairs Set

The Cumberland Water Department will shut off the 20-inch water line to Cresaptown this morning for repairs.

The water will be shut off about 9:30 a. m. and should be turned on again in about an hour, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

Affected will be all users along McMullen Highway from Circle Inn to Cresaptown.

The jobs included the repacking of a 12-inch valve at the subway, the installation of a new gate valve in a six-inch line and cutting out an abandoned line located where one of the piers of the new Wineow Street Bridge will be placed.

Tawes Is Asked To Intervene Against Carport

Six Prospect Square property owners last night sent a night letter to Gov. Tawes asking him to urge the Allegany County Library Board to delay construction of a "modern carport and private parking lot" on the County Library lawn.

The message, which called the library "one of Cumberland's oldest and most cherished properties," asked the governor to urge a delay "until all possible alternatives have been explored."

Signers were Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Catherman, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ponton, Mrs. Leonie Miller, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Reinhard Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Pariser and Mrs. Ada Warwick, all of whom live on the square.

Barbershop Choruses Will Meet Friday

The Queen City Kings Barbershop Chorus, sponsored by the City Recreation Department, will hold its first fall meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m. in City Hall Auditorium, according to John E. Sell, president.

A meeting of the Queen City Girls Barbershop Chorus will follow at 8:30 p.m., said Mrs. Shirley Tindal, president.

Flames Confined To One Room

A four-room brick bungalow on old Route 51 to the rear of Mill Stone Inn was damaged by fire yesterday morning.

Fire Chief L. J. Shoemaker of District 16 Volunteer Fire Company said neighbors of George Evans, whose bungalow was damaged by the fire, kept the flames confined to a section of one of the rooms.

They used water from a cistern near the Evans home, according to the fire chief, who said the water placed in the cistern had been drawn earlier this month by the fire company from a hydrant in the 1800-block of East Oldtown Road, resulting in an arrest by city police.

After getting a call about 10 a. m. yesterday the volunteers of District 16 traveled four miles and when they arrived on the scene learned the neighbors had the fire under control. Firemen from Oldtown were also summoned.

No one was home at the time the fire broke out. Neighbors noticing the smoke from the dwelling, investigated and brought the fire under control.

Chief Shoemaker also reported that his company assisted local firemen who were called Tuesday evening to the city dump where a small shed was destroyed by fire.
